HAPPY BIRTHDAY LIONS!

This Sunday Brisbane Lions Soccer Club celebrates its 25th anniversary and the celebrations will be done in style with a big local derby clash against Brisbane City and another home appearance of star guest player Alan Sunderland.

Lions could well lay claim to the title of the greatest club in Queensland as in recent years they have consolidated their place in the national competition, won the prestigious Philips Cup, dominated this year's State League and provided many youngsters to state under age teams.

In 25 years the club has come a long way and the work its progressive committee is now doing augers well for the club's future. Lions were one of only three Philips League clubs to show a profit last season and the 12 acres at Richlands stadium and the nearby Coconut Grove complex are completely owned by the club.

Lions were founded in 1957 under the name Hollandia-Inala. The club started in fifth division and won promotion to the first division in 1965. It was relegated in 1966 but won promotion the following year.

It was in 1967 that the club won its first major honour, the Brisbane first division grand final. The following year, 1968, was to be even more successful and the club won the premiership and Ampol Cup. The victories were to herald an even more prosperous period five years later when the club, then with the name Lions, won three consecutive premierships and took the Ampol Cup again in 1973.

Many fine players have passed through the club and others equal of their ability are still there. Probably the most famous is former Socceroo Ray Richards, who the club sold in the 1960's for a then amazing 3,500 pounds. The money was to provide Lions with a sound financial grounding which now sees them having more than $750,000 in assets.

Two of Brisbane Lions' success stories in recent years — the Philips Cup and guest player Alan Sunderland.

The biggest transfer in which Lions have been involved, in monetary terms, is the $40,000 over four years the club paid Grange Thistle for Scottish sweeper Jim Hermiston. Hermiston was sold this season to Brisbane City.

The most money the club has ever received for selling a player was the deal involving Tony Brennan three years ago. Canberra Arrows paid $15,000 and the contract of midfielder Steve Hogg, valued at $7,500 by the Queensland Soccer Federation, for Brennan. Arrows also paid $15,000 this season for fullback Paul Ontong, which is Lions' highest cash-only sale.

And with the talent the club is producing it appears likely they will have some of the country's most valuable players on their books within a few years. Already in Danny Wright and Steve Jackson they have two of the most promising talents in Australia.

The club also has pioneered guest player appearances in Queensland and they look like repeating the success of Bob Latchford last year with Alan Sunderland this season.

It has been 25 years of hard work for Lions but work that appears to be paying off.

GO SOCCER SAYS — CONGRATULATIONS AND HAPPY BIRTHDAY LIONS!

REMEMBER BRISBANE UNITED?

Remember Brisbane United, one of Queensland's original Philips League aspirants? . . . No team ever existed, but the name is still alive and waiting safely in the hands of the Queensland Soccer Federation management committee.

The QSF has "reserved" (whatever that means) the name Brisbane United "if and when a team representing the QSF is needed to be nominated for the national competition."

And that situation could well arise if Brisbane City finishes in the bottom two places of the Philips League this season and are relegated. The Gladiators are currently deep in that relegation zone.

Management committee members no doubt would be the first to deny they want Brisbane City out of the national competition, but if the situation arose that it looked as if another interstate team would be admitted at the expense of a relegated Queensland side, it is certain the Brisbane United proposal would again be pushed to the fore.

And it is easy to see the benefits of the QSF having a side in the national competition.

Apart from the modest crowd Valley Tridents attract to soccer headquarters once a fortnight, the biggest crowd Perry Park entertains is when local schools play their weekly fixtures. The lack of use of Perry Park has become a talking point among officials of other codes and an embarrassing problem for the QSF.

The QSF bitterly opposed the move by Brisbane City and Lions back to their home grounds and it would be foolhardy to believe the rifts that the moves caused have been closed. A temporary truce was called earlier this year when the two PSL clubs were admitted to the State League, but that was a management committee-oriented decision designed to get the federation out of a difficult position.

If it came to the crunch, the QSF undoubtedly would be committed to look after its own interests. And that crunch may not be too far off.

The Queensland Soccer Club registered a loss last year and there are strong rumours around Brisbane that Perry Park and its rising interest rates is becoming a worrying problem for the Trust.

A management committee member revealed the Trust in fact talked only last year on the Brisbane United proposal as a solution to the Perry Park problem. With Brisbane City finishing third and Lions winning the Philips Cup last season, Brisbane United was seen as a third Queensland team in the national competition.

Irrespective of whether the QSF uses that as an excuse for pursuing the proposal or not, the fact that it has been recently discussed is reason to believe there are people within the federation who think the Brisbane United proposal is a workable one.

With the possible exception of Townsville, there is not one club in Queensland at the moment which could viably make a go of PSL alone. But it is possible with the combined strength and support of a number of clubs. This was the original Brisbane United proposal with St. George (now defunct), Grange Thistle and ironically Brisbane City being the intending member clubs and later when the proposal was raised again, involving clubs like Eastern Suburbs (then Merton East) and Mount Gravatt.

A team could be selected from players with current State League and Brisbane first division sides with a dual registration system operating, similar to what is used by many of the State League clubs.

The incentive of having players in a national competition team would provide the QSF with a handy bargaining package to console Townsville who almost certainly look to be the club which will suffer most from any State League regionalisation.

For any such proposal to be adopted it would take massive structural changes to the federation and adjustments to the constitution, but then, isn't that what is to happen at the end of this year? Yes, it is obvious we have not heard the last of Brisbane United and the non-existent side could well prove to be City and Lions' greatest rival.

WHEELS ARE MOVING

The wheels of the Queensland Soccer Federation re-structuring have begun to turn and all member clubs should receive this week a copy of the vital questionnaire which was recently formulated by the management committee.

The nine-page questionnaire is probably one of the most important documents many clubs will complete as the answers they provide could well decide their divisional positioning next season. It will also decide the direction Queensland soccer will take in relation to the use of Perry Park, the federation structure and marketing and promotion.

A separate committee will be set up to process the information clubs include in the questionnaires. It is expected to take many weeks before firm plans can be formulated. Many clubs who indicate they want to pursue a professional type of set-up are likely to be interviewed by the committee to ensure they can offer the stability required. Other clubs will also be interviewed so as to discuss what they want from an amateur competition.

It is pleasing to see the QSF acting this early on the re-structuring and not leaving it to the end of the season, as has happened with several problems in the past.

The re-structuring of the federation and the re-organisation of the Brisbane divisions is something which has to be deliberating. Questions are asked on each club's opinions on the ownership of the Perry Park ground and club complex, the use of Perry Park, the adequateness of the right of appeal and to comment on the present federation structure where management committee decisions are referred to the Council of Clubs meeting each month for ratification.

Clubs are also asked if they consider the federation should establish a marketing company and/or media department. The funding and format of Go Soccer magazine is also discussed as is the referee shortage and funding of state teams. One other aspect which is discussed and it is somewhat hidden at the bottom of the second last page, is the question of the future of State League.

Clubs are asked — Does your club consider this competition is beneficial to the development of soccer throughout the State? — if YES, would your club, along with all other clubs throughout the State, consider funding in part, this competition to ensure it continues in its present form?

The answers to that should be most interesting.

done now and done right. It is ludicrous to have the situation that exists now where teams in which nearly all players are paid are playing against sides made up of people who are playing for the social aspect.

The questionnaire starts off asking for general information about the club, for example, membership numbers, numbers of junior teams and copies of constitutions and Articles of Association and By-laws. The next sections ask details on each club's coaching set-up and ground facilities for players, officials and spectators.

Clubs are also required in the questionnaire to provide details of player payments, a history of recent first team performances and indicate whether their clubs intend to either stay amateur, become fully professional or combine the two. The next section of the questionnaire should provide some interesting answers which the committee no doubt will spend much time

POINTS TO PONDER

The Brisbane Southern Districts Junior Soccer Association could be in for a stormy meeting next Tuesday in relation to their planned motion to fine clubs $50 for each team they have which is not controlled by a certified coach. The clubs were warned of the motion about four months ago but many coaches, particularly those who are parents, could not afford the time to go to the necessary courses. One club, which supports the idea but at the moment faces a fine of more than $400, seems likely to refuse to pay the fine and call on the other clubs to support a motion for a longer phasing-in period. The idea behind the scheme is a good one but perhaps the association is trying to go too professional too soon. Look for stories in future weeks as Go Soccer intends following this interesting matter through.

Don't expect Brisbane's new morning paper the Daily Sun to be soccer's saviour as far as media coverage goes. Very reliable information reveals the paper's planners are talking about major sports and minor ones. Soccer has been grouped into He's back...

Former Brisbane Lions sweeper Jim Hermiston returns to Richlands stadium this weekend. But the amicable Scotsman will be in different colours and with a different team. Jim retired last year but was lured back to playing nearly two months ago and has shown with his recent performances with Brisbane City that he still has a lot of soccer left. Jim no doubt will want to put on an extra special performance against his old club.

the latter with the bosses talking about only 10 paragraphs and not necessarily every day. As for the papers' soccer writer, even more reliable information reveals it won't be who everyone thought. He considered he was better off where he was!

Soccer dressing rooms are generally not the place for women but it certainly applies moreso for one well-established first division club. Seems the reserve team coach was concerned at his side's consistent poor showings and decided to adopt a new approach in an attempt to get results. He decided to give his boys some pre-match entertainment in the form of movies, which at best could certainly not be described as Walt Disney classics. When the team came off leading 4-0 at halftime, the first team coach decided also to give the novel idea a go, and got similar results. We don't know if the practise is continuing but that day the jerseys weren't the only blue things to go on in the dressing rooms.

While the bad things about soccer are always quick to hit the headlines, the good things somehow often seem to go unnoticed. One fine aspect of the game was demonstrated at Nambour recently with a benefit match for Darryl Cook, who will be sidelined for at least a year with serious cartilage and ligament injuries. Nambour Reds coach George Pagan wanted some stars for the match and contacted Brisbane City PSL players Steve Perry and Willie Conner. Both had no second thoughts about accepting. Steve unfortunately was injured the night before the match and apologetically withdrew but Willie was the star of the night. Not only did Willie score one and set up another two, but the skilful winger even paid to play. When told everyone pays as he went through the gate, Willie quickly forked out the money but asked Nambour officials not to reveal to Brisbane City their "pay to play" scheme. With affiliation fees going up next year, it could be something for the PSL clubs to look into.

Soccer appears to have been given a big miss in sponsorship plans announced recently by one bank. Seems the money is to be channelled into Little Athletics, netball, rugby league, rugby union and Australian rules, with soccer the only football code left out. While on sponsorship, there doesn't appear to be too many kids around with McDonald's Super Skills awards and all appears to have gone quiet on the much-heralded $750,000.

Reports of a recent woeful refereeing performance were quick to filter back to those who matter.

THE VALLEYS' ECHO ...

By Dave Heywood

Valley Tridents begin their campaign for the Ampol Cup with an interesting clash against the Bundaberg Federation team in Bundaberg this weekend.

The Blues will not have fond memories of their last visit to Marten's Oval as they were beaten 0-2 by Across the Waves in the opening State League fixture. The goals that day were scored by Gary Bromfield and Lyle Bryce.

That win was only a minor setback to Valley's hopes of winning the State League and the Blues stormed back in the matches to follow in the same form which made them first division champions and premiers last year.

And that form reached a peak with Valley's "smash and grab" raid on Townsville two weeks ago. Valleys beat Townsville 4-1 to move into second place on the State League ladder and set the scene for last week's top of the table clash with Lions.

The Townsville win was a lesson in football. Coach Mauro Saftich told the Valleys boys to play it tight and hold onto a point while launching counter raids down the flanks. The plan exceeded all expectations.

Townsville also became the architects of their own destruction as they wilted under the determined pressure of the Brisbane boys. Richard Shortman as usual held the centre as Dave Melia covered deep and fullbacks John Lavelle and John Shepherd gave nothing away with their tenacious defence.

For Townsville, a series of errors which was to lead to ultimate disaster began early in the piece when a back pass to the keeper was intercepted by Len Pollock who calmly tucked it away. Not long after, winger John Kennedy was seen at his menacing best when he latched onto a through pass to round the keeper and score Valley's second goal.

That really put the onus on Townsville as Valleys with two goals in the bag played the confident, flowing soccer they have demonstrated in recent weeks. The midfield trio of Tom Pike, Denis Lockhart and Gerry Lindsay were particularly impressive at this stage and Townsville began to show signs of wilting under the pressure.

After the break however, the home side came out full of determination in an all-out effort to prevent the looming catastrophe. When Frank Mengotti forced home Valley's third goal off a defender, the Townsville surge was utterly deflated. Valleys really took control then, aided and abetted by a busy Pollock, Kennedy and Mengotti, made things very difficult for the home team as they picked up a flow of long passes and went at the Townsville defence.

It came as no surprise when Valleys went further ahead although a flustered Townsville defence was largely to blame. A forced back-header left the home keeper stranded and a happy Kennedy was on hand to finish the job.

At 4-0 up it became Valleys turn to show at little laxity as they demonstrated the further range of their talents to the silent locals. There was however, a price to pay and the defensive line was left remonstrating for offside as Bob Mc Guinness strode through to put the ball around the solitary figure of Martin Coe in the Valley's goal.

The last goal apart, it was a powerful display by the Blues and a warning to any State League side that might be tempted to underate them. The intense support, promotion and hospitality of all the people involved in soccer in Townsville and friendliness of the "man in the street", was particularly appreciated by Valley's team managers Wayne Browning and Roger Winn.

Far away from these "tunes of glory", the SEQL team was engaged in a rugged duel for points against a determined Goodna side. Valleys emerged victorious thanks to a good goal by central defender Mick Hayes which cannoned into the net from the edge of the penalty box.

After an indifferent first half, Valleys showed the necessary grit and flair and could have, with a bit of luck, won by a much bigger margin. In the second half in which all players were worthy of praise Dnovornich turned in his best performance of the season to excel.

While the senior colts retained their excellent unbeaten record by dominating an undistinguished game with Grange Thistle to win 2-0, both the fourth and seventh division teams lost their matches.

On Tuesday, June 29 at Perry Park, Valleys play their washed out fixture against Olympic. The confrontation is reminiscent of the old Hellenic-Azzurri clashes. At the beginning of the season the Greek-backed team impressed no-one, however their squad has been strengthened so dramatically anything could happen in this match. Try to be there!

THE EYE ON IPSWICH

by Jacki Randa

This week we continue our Jacaranda Meet The Players series. Each week players from the Ipswich United State League squad will be featured along with some interesting details about their lives and careers. It makes great reading and is an easy way to get to know some of the stars of Queensland soccer. Look out for your favourite Ipswich player in the weeks to follow.

It's marvellous what a difference MILO makes

This weekend sees all teams not engaged in the Ampol Cup having a break. This includes us, the holders. While the club is not having a gripe about it, on the day when the first round match was played, we were beaten by the better team, Mt. Gravatt. They took their chances, we didn't. We are just amazed that the Cup holders, as in every other state and country, don't get seeded into a later round. Still our fixture result against Mt. Gravatt at the back end of May shows our Cup lapse was but a flash in the pan.

Last weekends fixtures at Lanham Park, which included day and night games on the Saturday, are the last night matches we have now until late August. It's a pity really, as there so few night matches scheduled anywhere, in any division for the bulk of the season. We have all the facilities at Lanham Park, we're proud to say, why not let us use them.

June 30 is the closing date for entries in our Miss Grange Thistle Quest. This year the Quest is in four sections, Miss Grange Thistle, Miss G T Charity, Miss Junior G T and Miss Tiny Tots G T. This breakdown is in response to many of our entrants, and parents, who felt a greater diversification would help the girls.

There are prizes galore, not only for the winners, but also incentives for the girls raising the most money.

The finals are in September, with the winner of the senior section being the Club's entry into the QSF Miss Soccer Quest.

We have a Commercial League team at Lanham Park, competing in the Friday night League and, whilst not exactly setting the house on fire, the players are thoroughly enjoying their football. Two of the most enjoyable games they've played of recent weeks (both of which they lost) were against Easts and Ajax. Those names won't ring any bells but these names will, Eric Pattison, Gordon Mackie, Gary Wilkins, Chard Matters, Owen Monaghan, Billy Haigh, Syd Tucker, among others. What good football these "youngsters" put on, and what a marvellous attitude on the park. A little better than another team in the League, who keep using various of its State League players in its Commercial League team. Are they frightened of losing?

THE DARRA DATELINE

by 'The Maltese Falcon'

FIRST DIVISION

DARRA 2 d COALSTARS 1

Darra could call themselves slightly lucky to win both points in a very hard battle with Coalstars.

Coalstars started off quickly and surprisingly caught Darra's defence on the hop for the first 10 minutes and through sheer pressure were rewarded with a goal. Their left winger broke down the wing and when in a seemingly good scoring position was brought down by John Van Kerkvoort just outside the box. From the free kick which resulted, Coalstars took the lead after scoring with a well-placed header.

Darra then produced what I thought was 30 minutes of brilliant football. With forwards Kirk Lilley and new recruit Stewart Purvis causing Coalstars defence plenty of trouble, it didn't take long for Purvis to get his first goal for the club. Matt Jackson took a free kick on the left and suddenly Purvis, out of nowhere, flew in and headed the ball over the keeper's head.

History repeated itself 10 minutes later after some Jackson magic which ended up with him being fouled. He took the free kick from a similar position that found Ron Hartley's head who in turn glanced it down to Dragi Simjanoski and Darra were in front.

While Darra's midfield and forwards tried hard enough they just seemed to be running into a brick wall and finished with no goals scored in the second half. Best for Darra were Ron Hartley, Trevor Thompsen, Matt Jackson and Kirk Lilley, while Stewart Purvis showed he has plenty of ability and should really fire with more games under his belt.

RESERVES

DARRA 2 d COALSTARS 1

In a hard-fought match Darra showed it pays to run the full 90 minutes and not just 75 as Coalstars did. Coalstars opened the scoring after 10 minutes although Darra did miss a couple of "sitters" (no names mentioned). After half time they seemed content with their one goal lead and it was only for some great goalkeeping from Tony Owens that kept Darra's chances alive. With 15 minutes to go Billy Mowbray latched onto a loose ball in the six yard box and Darra were back. Coalstars died on their home run as Darra applied relentless pressure. With 3 minutes to go Ian Robbins' shot was deflected into the net to give Darra the points. Best for Darra were Tony Owens, Frank Graham, Billy Mowbray and Ian Robbins.

TITLES SOON

The Queensland Junior Soccer Council's under-age championships will be held in various centres around the state within the next month.

The Mazda Under 15 championships will be held in Brisbane from July 3 to 10 inclusive, the under 14 in Townsville from July 3 to 9, the under 13 on the Gold Coast on the same dates while Stanthorpe will host the under 12 titles from June 26 to July 2.

The under 15 titles are very important as a state team will be picked and will travel with coach George Pagan to the national titles. George is the coach of State League side Nambour Reds.

Nine teams will contest the titles. They are Far North Queensland, North Queensland, Central Queensland, North West Queensland, Wide Bay, South West Queensland, South East Queensland, Brisbane South and Brisbane North.

ANNERLEY ANALYSIS

by Bill Williams

FIRST DIVISION

Constant pressure from Sunnyside saw them hit the front with a good goal after 30 minutes. When the home side keeper handled the ball outside the area, it took some time to organise the free kick, but when it was taken, Neil Catchpole scored for us in the corner to even at 1-1.

An exciting second half came to a boil when what looked to me like an obvious offside was signalled by the linesman, but over-ruled by the referee. With our players stopped, Sunnyside calmly scored an easy goal to hit the front. Although we tried hard to get it back, we could not do so and the home side scored again in the best goal of the match to take a 3-1 lead. Phil Hall and John Bridge combined well and almost got one back for us, and Wayne Cook did the work of two men up front.

RESERVES

Ten minutes into the match a good through ball by Nigel Fisher gave Phil Hurst a chance and he made no mistake to give us a 1-0 lead. We went further ahead when David Crane put Peter Carter away and his left foot shot beat the home keeper all ends up. Phil Hurst got his second shortly afterwards, but we gave one back when Sunnyside's forward headed over our keeper. Just before half time a splendid one-two between Crane and Fisher saw the latter's shot go in off the post.

In the 66th minute, the home side reduced the deficit to 4-2. With 17 to go a good solo effort from a goal kick was converted to a goal by Peter Carter. From a free kick outside the box Sunnyside made it 5-3 with a good goal. Ten to go and Phil Hurst saw the home side keeper off his line and lobbed over his head from about 35 metres out to give him his hat trick. We played part of this game with only nine men so it was a gallant effort.

FOURTH DIVISION

Thirty minutes into the half, Craig Roberts scored from a cross from Peter Carter. The second half found us losing a little concentration, however, we managed to attack with a few near misses. About 30 minutes into the half we scored again when Peter chipped a ball over the Greenbank defence for Laurie Christenson to slot away. Unfortunately, Laurie broke his leg in scoring and will be badly missed.

MITCHELTON STABLE TALK

by Stable Hand

FIRST DIVISION

Midweek we had an interesting game against Pine Rivers in which unfortunately we lost Peter McDonald with an injury. I thought we needed more purpose to our long through balls and could have won this game if they had been used better. However both sides had their chances which produced some top saves and good defence.

Against Goodna on Saturday we had an early setback when a simple shot by them took a bad bounce and completely beat our keeper. A penalty in the 13th minute put them 2-0 up but two minutes later we pegged one back thanks to Mick Caffey. Peter McDonald and Dale Naylor were unlucky with chances but five minutes before halftime they got their third. A top save by their keeper and a header onto the crossbar were the only highlights of the second half.

RESERVES

We had a fairly even game with Pine Rivers last Wednesday with the only real

An early deadline this week restricted the space available for club reports. Full and more detailed reports will return next week.

highlights the two goals. Theirs came in the first couple of minutes with a good header and ours just before halftime when Ross Denny's cross was scrambled into the net. Peter Morey was unlucky with a curling shot later in the game.

Against Goodna on Saturday we didn't look the same side and played too many bad balls, didn't mark close and gave away silly free kicks. Garth Jones, back from injury, came on late in the game and almost scored the only goal of the game. Lex Robins was also denied a goal by a good save.

SENIOR COLTS A

We didn't really recover from an early goal by Valley Tridents. We put it together better in the first half and our sluggish first half performance was probably due to the three week lay-off forced on us. Gary Thompson put away a freekick to give us a goal but they won 3-1. Not a bad effort against a top four side.
