The hunt for high scores conducted in Go Soccer over recent weeks has unearthed a few freaks, up to an astonishing 23-0.

But generally speaking, such scores occur in lower divisions and that is just what they are — freaks. One suspects that the opposition in many cases did not even have a full complement of 11 players.

Occasionally, though, even in the lower divisions, this sort of scoreline reflects the true calibre of a winning team. When a club scores 62 goals in four consecutive matches, for example . . .

That was the proud achievement of Germania, precursors of today's Southside Eagles, back in the Sixth Division of 1960. Starting with a 16-2 hammering of Redlands on April 30, Germania went on to trounce Redcliffe 8-1, Army 17-0 and Newtown 21-0.

These results were no flash in the pan, as the undefeated Germania went on to notch up 145 goals in 18 matches for the season, including wins of 14-1 in the return against Redlands, and 12-0 against Latrobe.

Another source of freak scores has been cup competitions, where hopeful minnows usually find their ambition has outrun their ability. That certainly happened to Beaudesert back in 1974, when they ran into Lions in the Queensland Cup.

No fewer than eight Lions players, plus a defender with an own goal, got on to the scoresheet as Beaudesert were buried 20-0. Those who found the net, apart from the own goal, were: Ian Steele (4), Jim McCabe (3), Trevor Broadbent (3), Ben Docherty (3), Charlie Dench (2), Ian Lawrie (2), Darryl Wilkins (1) and Gary Lovell (1).

Yet perhaps the most remarkable score involving a Queenslander occurred in anything but a scratch match down in the proverbial "Z" grades.

It all happened way back in 1951 at the Sydney Cricket Ground, when Ipswich's Bob Lawrie had the honour of being the first Queenslander to captain his country against a professional team from Britain.

"England", as the press of the day styled the FA XI tourists although the matches were never considered full internationals, had won the first "Test" by a comfortable 4-1 and were expected to take the honours again.

Queensland Soccer's most Authoritative Statistician

With names such as Jimmy Hagan, Sam Bartram and Jackie Sewell in the English line-up, it was obvious Australia faced an uphill battle.

But then an extra factor came into play when a week of heavy rain turned the pitch into a quagmire perfectly suited to the vastly experienced tourists.

By half-time, the FA XI led 7-0 as Australian goalkeeper Norm Conquest found himself bombarded from all angles. As the goal tally mounted, a Sydney newspaper report of the time noted tersely: "A crowd of 14,123 saw the start of the match. Many of these had left the ground by the time it ended. England's white jerseys were still white . . . the Australians' were mud-black from their many visits to the ground."

By the time the final whistle brought a merciful end for the home side, the tally was 17-0 — still far and away the most spectacular scoring spree involving the Australian national team.

But it must be added that this black day was a rare event in the otherwise glittering career of Bob Lawrie.

An indication of Lawrie's quality came when he was stationed in England during a World War II stint with the RAAF, and turned out as a guest player for Brentford, a first division club at the outbreak of hostilities.

An automatic choice for Australia at right half in the late 1940s and early 1950s, he captained the team which toured South Africa in 1950 and at one stage led Australia in nine successive internationals.

And right to the end of his career, Lawrie kept on setting records. The final one, achieved in his swansong year of 1963, may never be beaten — at the age of 43, he was a joint winner with Cliff Sander of The Courier-Mail's best and fairest trophy.

FEDERATION HAT LOCKED AWAY FOR CUP DRAW

The "Federation Hat" will stay locked away again next week when the draw for the $16,000 Ampol Statewide Cup quarter-finals will be made.

After years of criticism for "seeded draws" out of the "hat" the QSF in recent years had added great excitement in unpredictability to the Ampol Cup by randomly drawing the competition from the quarter-final stage onwards.

As was done last year, when "minnows" Sunnyside won through to play Cup holders North Star, the draw out of the Cup will be witnessed by QSF, media and Ampol representatives.

The five city qualifiers to join the three country region qualifiers for the quarter-final draws should be known by the end of the week when the final round of matches has been played. And some of the qualifying groups are set cliffhanger finishes.

The successful Qantas Amateur Cup competition also begins this month with the first matches on June 18. A record 71 teams have entered this year's competition, won last season by Buderim, who downed Broadbeach in the final.

POINTS TO PONDER...

Which QSF official and local media representative were locked in the Grange Thistle office with a very shapely female journalist. Cool-headedness prevailed and they were released soon after. Others who heard the story said they would have played dumb.

Former NSL player now with improving Intermediate league club was seen jumping the fence at Perry Park to escape admission to the recent Nanda Cup match.

The QSF has come in for considerable criticism for not utilising the Perry Park corner sign to advertise the recent interstate match. But the reasons were clearly outlined at the recent council meeting. For those who may be unaware, Brisbane City Council rules do not permit organisations leasing grounds to display advertising towards major thoroughfares. The sign also is in a dangerous state of disrepair and will be attended to when the current advertising lease expires within the next month.

Well-known supporter and father, extended his normal vocal contribution to the game when he leapt the fence to front the referee at a recent Richlands game.

Green Gully coach George Murray was a refreshing change at Richlands recently. After his side went down 0-3, Murray praised Lions and went on to say there could be no true national league without Brisbane representation. Most losing southern coaches look to criticise the referee, the linesman, the opposition or anything else they think might give them an excuse.

GO SOCCER EDITORIAL

By Editor, GEOFF STEAD

The restructuring of the Queensland Soccer Federation was one of the most traumatic periods in recent times for local soccer. But the evidence since, has suggested it was change for the better.

The altering of the leagues was one of the most debated sections of the re-structuring and the one which caused the greatest heartache for some clubs and their officials. But the re-structuring went much further than just re-arranging the divisions. As an article in Go Soccer last week from Eastern Suburbs, the club pointed out, the re-structuring committee set down strict criteria which had to be met by those clubs chosen to fill the upper leagues. Indeed, even the amateur clubs were given guidelines they were expected to follow.

In fairness clubs were given three years to meet the necessary criteria. That three years expires at the end of this season. Sadly, if some clubs started now, they still would not fulfill all the requirements by the end of the season. Where is the lighting at some grounds? Where is the permanent seating? Where are the press facilities, scoreboards, public address systems? . . . the list goes on.

Some clubs cannot even stick to the shirt numbers published each week in our match previews.

Unless all the turmoil of three years ago is going to be to no avail, then some clubs in our semi-professional leagues must be brought into line, and quickly. The clubs were given three years to achieve the goals set by the re-structuring committee. If they have not achieved them by now there must be serious doubt as to whether they ever will.

Unless concrete plans are put forward and firm guarantees given by some of our top clubs to meet the criteria within the very near future, then they should make way for others in the lower divisions — some of which already have the necessary facilities and club structures to meet the higher league criteria.

Furthermore, the re-structuring was not only about leagues, clubs and facilities. The second stage of the upheaval was to be the re-structuring of the administrative side of our code. Little of these plans have come to fruition.

Are we to proceed with the job half done or will we go ahead and ensure our code has a solid base on which to build its future? With the pending return of probably at least one of our NSL clubs, and an emerging strong State team, local soccer could be on the brink of an exciting year. Let's not be retarded by a handful of clubs who are failing to do their part.

The time for swift action is overdue.

ACROSS MY DESK . . .

By QSF Secretary, ALAN VESSEY

Clubs and players at all levels should be well aware that all loan and transfer arrangements must be completed by June 30.

Clubs that have any intentions whatsoever to approach or sign a player from within Brisbane or outside should act now. And players who are currently on loan at a club and are considering a return to the club holding their contract should initiate negotiations for a return prior to June 30. Failure to do so would require the player to remain with his loan club until the end of the season.

Understandably some negotiations may extend beyond the June 30 deadline, but to be valid they must be sanctioned by the management committee and a 14-day extension granted. The rules apply to amateur and contract players and also applies to transfers anywhere within Australia and the importation of visa players.

In the past the QSF office often has been inundated with late requests for extensions. This can cause problems because in most instances, the matter is dealing with another Federation. To apply for an extension, negotiations have to have been initiated prior to the deadline, and details of all such negotiations must be lodged in writing with the Federation to be considered valid.

Similarly, any player considering an appeal over his current transfer listing price should also ask for an extension beyond June 30. After that date, players must be content to finish the season where they are.

ANNERLEY ANALYSIS . . .

INTERMEDIATE LEAGUE: Annerley 1 v Mitchelton 2.

Fresh from our good win against Ipswich in the Ampol Cup, we were hopeful of the two points from this match.

We did not start too well and after five minutes Mitchelton scored when a back pass was intercepted and put away giving our keeper no chance. Although we forced a series of corners we could not score and at half time were down by that one goal. Straight after the break, a good chance for Brian Hudson was pulled up for offside, and then Paul Welsh had a dipping shot saved. Gordon

McAndrew finally scored for us after five minutes with a good angle shot from the right.

From a corner with five to go, our keeper held the ball but was adjudged over the line by the linesman and a goal awarded to put us behind. That was the final score in a game we could have won.

INTERMEDIATE RESERVES: Mitchelton 2 v Annerley 4.

Annerley went down 0-1 in the 15th minute when a Mitchy striker was allowed a free run and a free shot at goal.

However once its midfield trio of Ian Fedrick, Tom Pike and Glen Harkness got into top gear, Annerley took command of the game and equalised through a Dave Ingram header. After the break, a Dave Ingram-Dave Thirlwall move made it easy for Ross Brennan to put Annerley ahead.

From then on Annerley dominated the THIRD DIVISION: Annerley 0 v Willowburn 0.

What an important game. Both teams undefeated after 8 games, but with 3 points difference as we had three draws. On Willowburn's home ground we knew it would be difficult.

Some trouble on the way up as the bus caught fire and threw in the sponge on the Toll Bar but with some frantic ferrying, eventually by another bus, we managed to get to the ground on time. Not the best preparation possible. Still, after ten minutes we settled down and had the better of the first half although there was no score. Willowburn applied plenty of pressure in the second half, with excitement and chances for both sides. The nil-all draw will make the return game worth seeing.

Miss Annerley is KERRY FRICKE.

IT'S THOMMO TALKING

Queensland soccer has to be cleaned up and it is high time a few people realised that referees cannot do it on their own.

Two incidents in games over the weekend left me feeling sick and highlighted how bad the problem really is. At Heath Park on Sunday Ken Swan, one of the gentlemen of local soccer and a dual Rothman's medal winner mind you, was felled by an elbow which broke his nose and prompted a trip to hospital. Then at Speare Park on Monday I am told there were scenes akin to a Rugby game and youngster Dale Dawes was left unconscious on the ground.

The match officials can only see so much. In effect they have to be classic ball watchers. If there are animals on the park that are going to jeopardise the careers of our true footballers, then it is up to coaches and club officials to drag them off the field. Any coach, club president or supporter who condones this type of play, or can watch it and stand back doing nothing, must seriously question the reasons for his involvement in the game.

People may laugh at what they may think is an over-reaction, but let's act now before someone is killed. And it could so easily happen.

I read with interest last week's "From the Eastern Suburbs" column and admired the subtlety of their correspondent.

I then went to Heath Park and left my car in an unsealed car park, walked past the floodlights which are not suitable for XXXX League games, failed to find any toilets in the dressing room and after the match was forced to have a freezing cold shower.

Yes, some clubs have failed to meet some parts of the criteria. But others, like Mount Gravatt, have worked to a sensible plan of gradual development within our budget. And unlike Easts, who probably spent more on buying players this season than most, Mount Gravatt has developed its juniors and more than half our side is home-grown.

I suppose Easts are so full of it, they have to sling it.

I watched some lower division football last weekend and apart from it being a refreshing change to just watch a game without any pressure, I am impressed with what is going on in our amateur leagues.

INTERMEDIATE LEAGUE: Rochedale 1 v Pine Rivers 1

Our third draw in as many matches certainly didn't bring many smiles to the faces of our players and supporters.

ROCHEDALE

Our lads failed to gain control of this match and instead of employing greater teamwork, chose to individually unravel a rather frustrating offside trap (yet still effective) and in the end a draw seemed inevitable. An early goal from Darrin Playle failed to motivate us further and after their equaliser it became a race against the clock to get a winner.

Steve Donald injected himself well into the attack with some timely runs with the ball in an attempt to undo the offside trap and on a couple of occasions it nearly paid off. Brian MacNicol gave an energetic performance in midfield while Stu Holmes never tried harder and was extremely unlucky not to find the net himself after bursting through the defence with only the keeper to beat.

RESERVES: Rochedale 3 v Pine Rivers 1 — Any win is a good win when you're struggling to find form. Our Reserves still playing in patches and considering weekly line-up chances, did enough in this match to come up with the points.

FOURTH DIVISION: Rochedale 0 v Centenary 0 — A bit more determination in attack could have given us both points, our boys still managed to take point from their games under difficult circumstances.

SIXTH DIVISION: Rochedale 2 v Goodna 2 — A top of the table clash saw the points shared, another draw for the club's senior teams. But this team is still left nicely placed on the table.

Valley Trident took a giant step towards the premiership on Sunday at Perry Park when they defeated league leaders Redlands 2-0.

STATE SQUAD

Brisbane won its seventh State championship after emerging undefeated from the three-day carnival at Atlanta Field last weekend.

The State squad is:—

Kaye O'Sullivan, Robyn Priest, Joanne Millman, Maria Rodgers, Sue Monteath, Sharon Wass, Lisa Hadley, Stephanie McMahon, Di Cameron, Sandy Walsh, Lyn Spencer, Leonie Yoweh, Leanne Priestley (Brisbane), Tracey Smith, Michelle Sawyers, Teri McQueen, Leanne Bird, Kayleen Janssen, Lyn Geddes, Diane Croucher (Ipswich), Vanessa Bunch, Lyndi Robinson, Klara Szabo, Connie Byrnes, Moana Brekelman (Gold Coast), Donna Fredericksen (Mackay), Sue Bubeck, Gayle Schneider, Fiona Worsley (Toowoomba).

Redlands were forced into this situation thanks to a brilliantly taken goal by Peter Carey, who repeated the dose by punishing Redlands right at the death with the second goal of the game. A forward line which includes Ron Millman, Gary Bohan and Kelso takes some subduing — Valleys did it in fine style.

Although John Hickman and Robert Monteverde played very solidly for Valleys in a flu-hit team, we went down 1-2 in the Reserves match.

On June 28, Valerie Di Dio is holding a Miss Valley Quest dance at the Valley's Club-house. We would like to see as many people

THE GOOD COACH

WEEK TEN: GOALKEEPING

Errors by goalkeepers undoubtedly are those that prove the most costly and most vividly remembered after the match.

The good coach will not instantly blame his goalkeeper for every goal conceded, but look at the factors leading up to the opposition scoring. He should decide whether the fault was the goalkeeper's, or in fact, whether he was left exposed and vulnerable by his defence.

The good coach though will always have his goalkeeper as best prepared as possible, and the only way to achieve that is through specialist coaching.

A goalkeeper can never get too much practice and should be utilised to his full extent with the opportunity to test all his skills, in every exercise possible. At regular periods, specialist training, apart from the remainder of the squad, should also be given.

The basic skills of a goalkeeper can be grouped into three areas: receiving a ball, distributing a ball and positioning to stop a ball.

The skills required for a keeper to properly receive a ball are similar to those of an outfield player receiving a pass. He must always be in line with the ball, body behind its flight. Slower balls may be taken by bending from the waist, heels in close, fingers pointing to the ground and scoop the ball.

If the ball is travelling faster, the keeper should drop to one knee, keeping the other heel in close with the toe pointing at right angles to the path of the ball. The ball should then be scooped up into the chest.

When taking a high ball the keeper should aim to attack the ball, trying to reach it at the maximum height. The hands should be behind the ball, thumbs touching.

The keeper should attempt to catch the ball whenever possible, but if conditions or the play does not allow for a clean take, a punch should be made — two-fisted if the ball is coming towards the goal, one-fisted if it is travelling across the goal. The ball should be knocked as far away from the goal and opposing players as possible.

When the goal is under seige, a keeper should always be taught to narrow the angle of the attackers' view on goal. The good coach will emphasise that the near post must be protected and the keeper must not advance so far as to be chipped. The keeper should be calm and balanced and if possible jockey the attacker into the direction the keeper wants him to go, looking for an opportunity to dive at his feet. In this position the keeper is similar to the first defender and should adopt similar principles as outlined earlier in our series.

In blocking shots, the keeper should attempt to get as much of his body behind the ball as possible. With low shots the body should drop to the ground, the hands should go behind and on top of the ball. The ball should be pulled into the chest and then the keeper should roll into a ball for protection.

With diving saves, the dive should be sideways, the ball caught if possible with two hands or parried away with the fingertips.

Once the goalkeeper is in possession he is in a position to initiate an attack. The good coach should encourage the keeper to distribute with his hands rather than kicking, thus increasing accuracy and maintaining possession.

Players should be drilled to support the keeper once he is in possession, looking to exploit the spaces to the sides of the penalty area. Before distributing the ball, the keeper should be aware of the opposition and not put a teammate under pressure. His throw should allow his team-mate to control as quickly and easily as possible.

The good coach should drill his goalkeeper to be alert and aware of what is happening. He should be advised to patrol his area and always follow the path of the ball, even if it is at the opposite end of the field.

Exercise: Four-part circuit looking for good technique at speed. 1. Keeper throws or bounces ball high into air, makes a forward roll then catches ball before it hits ground, taking the ball in the fingertips and dragging down to chest (five times then 30 second rest, five repetitions); 2. Goalkeeper stands with coach facing. Ball served to either one metre to sides, above or in front of keeper who must stretch or drive to gather — not run (10 times with 30 seconds rest, three repetitions); 3. Similar as in previous exercise but keeper on back and must roll or stretch along ground to gather (same repetitions); 4. Keeper on side, arms stretched above

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Sir,

I am writing on behalf of Bayside United Soccer Club in reference to an article in No. 8 Go Soccer, under letter to Editor, Page 9. As acting President of this club I feel that the writer should at least have his facts right. The inference that our Club is suffering financial difficulties is completely untrue.

Members who have read this article feel that our club deserves an apology, as our Club is quite financial and at the moment are contemplating starting our new Clubhouse. We field 14 Junior teams and one Senior team and have no outstanding debts of any kind. If the other Club mentioned doesn't mind having doubtful aspersions printed about their business, then fair enough, but I feel that to print an article which, when read Queensland-wide can cause people to think that our Club is in difficulties and could create problems, is another matter.

J. Byrne

It is pleasing to learn that soccer is indeed thriving on the bayside. The letter to which you refer though was one person's opinion and published as such under the heading "Letters to the Editor." It certainly was not necessarily the view held by the magazine, nor the Queensland Soccer Federation. Go Soccer is the club's magazine and as such always will be the forum for local news and views. It would therefore be wrong to withhold independent opinion on the basis it may offend another party. But it is pleasing, through your letter that both sides of the argument have now been presented, giving all soccer followers a chance to formulate their own opinion. — Editor.

GOOD COACH

head. Coach serves the ball in front of hands. Keeper must get up and dive to save the ball. Work across in the line for 20 saves then come back working the dive to the other side (20 saves one side then 20 the other, one minute break, three repetitions).

While many variations can be used in specialist keeper training, the best practice for a goalkeeper is to be involved in real match situations. The keeper should be utilised where possible in all grid games and the good coach will encourage him to protect his goal as he would during a match.

Dear Sir,

After watching the Queensland versus New South Wales game at Perry Park — what can one say? Only good on you Queenslanders. You not only won well, but kept it clean.

Queensland to me should have won at least by three clear goals. But winning was enough for me and it doesn't matter who scores — good on you Kieran.

It was good to know young Steve Jackson got man of the match. To me I thought Johnny Ogden also played a blinder. We also have to mention Frank Liddell, John and Russell Stewart and also our Danny, who I thought had a wee bit of bad luck around the goals. But he's still good enough to play for Australia and I just hope Mr. Eddie Thomson reports back to Mr. Arok how well the Queenslanders played.

The only thing I didn't like was that our so-called Queensland supporters didn't back our boys enough. Maybe I am hard to please. Anyway, they showed their Rugby League and Rugby Union counterparts that soccer and Queensland soccer is the best.

Mr. Sam McGregor, Inala.

Dear Sir,

After reading a recent Go Soccer it makes one wonder. Your front page of Mr. Arok — he did look well and after all he's smiling. Many's a time I wonder how some of these people get there. He apparently doesn't want to watch Queenslanders. He should have been there recently watching Danny Wright scoring three against Brisbane City. He should walk into the Australian team on that match alone.

Steve Jackson's present form over the last half dozen matches has been superb. He must be the most improved player in Australia. And I wonder what do John Stewart and David Hunter have to do to prove they are in with the best. Good luck to Alan Niven, the most consistent and outstanding back in Australia. And last, but not least, recent "As I see it" columnist Frank Liddell — I am sure most of those City supporters were wondering why they let him go. Frank must be the best in his position.

The match previous to the recent NSL derby saw Lions play Mount Gravatt and the least said about it the better. I have been accused of not giving officials a chance. Well if our Thommo has referees and linesmen like he had in this game, he has no worries. Lions scored two goals and how they were disallowed amazed not only me but the biggest majority I spoke to at the match.

Mr. S. McGregor, Inala

NEWMARKET NEWS

The club's entrant in this years Miss Soccer Quest is attractive blonde, Lynette Kettles (pictured below).

Lyn has been associated with Newmarket for many years and is a most worthy successor to our 1985 Miss Newmarket, Georgette Laycock. Lyn and her committee have held several functions already and their next venture is a disco, to be held at our clubhouse this Saturday (June 14).

It is sure to be a top evening so I urge all club members and supporters to attend and make the night a most successful one for Lyn and have a great time out at the same time.

While our top side has been playing below par in recent weeks, I am confident that they will start to put it together again this week against Valley Trident and get back into the winners' circle. Sure we lost to a better side in Sunnyside last week, but we did have four clearcut opportunities, one v one. This proves we are creating, however we must put away the chances when they come our way.

The Reserves are now equal top of the table following their third win on end and it shows the depth we have. Due to various factors four new players were included in the side and they still won convincingly 2-0.

The Fourth Division is still up there proving they are definite top four material and our Sixth Division continue to show the way in the race for their Division's premiership.

MITCHELTON STABLETALK

INTERMEDIATE LEAGUE: Mitchelton 2 v Annerley 1

The game was only 10 minutes old when Garth Jones put a ball through for Garry Heiner to pressure the defence into error and he had little trouble putting away the loose ball.

Hopes ran high after this. But that was to be the only goal in the first half. Unfortunately we had to make a replacement 10 minutes before the break which called for re-organisation up front and in defence. Seven minutes into the second half Annerley made a break on the right which drew our keeper and the cross to their centreman allowed him to score. From then on Annerley had their chances but without success. Then the tide turned our way again but we missed two in the last 15 minutes with only the keeper to beat.

After a further replacement we had Garry Heiner back up the front and with only nine minutes to go he found himself taking a corner kick. A real in-

INTERMEDIATE RESERVES: Mitchelton 2 v Annerley 4.

After the opening sparring period, it looked as though we would give a good account when John Sullivan slotted home a well-timed drive from quite some distance out.

Ten minutes later a cross from their right wing seemed well covered by our keeper when a head intervened to beat him and they had scored their equaliser. What happened after that is anyone's guess. But we were pretty well out of it. Annerley had little trouble going 2-1 and 3-1 up from breaks with well-taken

FOURTH DIVISION: Mitchelton 2 Westside 1.

A game I am told that there was not much to write about with our first goal coming from a challenge on the keeper who dropped the ball and Craig Roberts had no trouble putting it in the net.

Our second goal was from a penalty and Glenn Bartkowski had no trouble putting it away. Both these goals were swinger was taken chest high by their keeper with a foot either side of the line. The linesman signalled a goal. No doubt there will be argument about it, but also no doubt the official was well placed to see and unfortunately in that position the keeper had very little margin for error.

Even though Annerley must have wondered what they had to do to win, they did have their chances. Incidentally, I am firmly of the opinion that since we hear that remark so often that, the simplest way to make soccer more interesting, i.e. is bigger scorelines, would be for front runners to become more accurate. And that includes good teamwork to ensure they can do so.

MITCHELTON 2 v ANNERLEY 4.

Then for a while it looked like we were going to make a game of it when Graham Edmunds challenged the keeper to get our second goal. Their fourth goal was controversial so far as everyone including Annerley players were concerned except the linesman who kept his flag down. The referee had the whistle to his mouth for offside but is entitled to accept his linesman's decision in certain circumstances.

scored in the second half and then our keeper took a high ball and was challenged by their forward. Tempers got a little frayed and they were awarded a penalty which made the final score 2-1.

Congratulations from the players to coach Ross Cox and his wife Jan on the arrival of their second son, Jonathon.

KINGSRIDGE KAPERS . . .

1st DIVISION RESERVES: University of Qld. 3 v Kingsridge 0.

1st DIVISION: University of Qld. 2 v Kingsridge 2.

Well! After an absence of several weeks during which neither our 1st Division Reserves nor 1st Division teams won due to the resignation of our original coach due to work commitments, I find myself in the happy position of having to report that time has indeed brought in a change for the better.

Under our new player/coach, Mickey Rooney, in matches against Uni of Qld., our Reserves, although beaten, were in no way disgruntled by the 0-3 result.

In our first team, despite an extremely strong opening by Uni., Kings displayed a more positive attitude in playing this match. This attitude resulted in the first goal, netted by Barry Russell after some fine lead-up work by Tyrone Groves and Rod Pommer.

University's first goal did not eventuate until early in the second half, as the result of a penalty, the reason for which still remains as a mystery for some players and spectators alike. A second goal came from a misdirected return pass by Mickey Rooney to goalie Ian Morris.

The astute timing of the replacements of Barry Russell by Darren Gray and Luke Gerritsen by Steve Scerri, whilst not immediately evident, eventually proved extremely successful. Good team lead up work led to a Rod Pommer corner being sharply headed into the net by Glen Van Der Ryken after a goalmouth melee. This provided a well deserved equaliser for the Kings.

This week I can honestly say, "The Times, they are a-changing."

BRISBANE CITY v MELBOURNE CROATIA

Spencer Park, Sunday, 3 p.m.

Referee: BILL MONTEVERDE

Those who have predicted doom for Brisbane City should take a look at the club's recent form.

The devastating loss to Lions aside, City has not been beaten since May 18. Three of their last four results have been draws.

While that certainly isn't championship winning form, it does demonstrate they are holding their own. And last weekends draw against Sth. Melbourne was one of Brisbane City's biggest results this season.

If City hope to climb away from the foot of the table, then the lowly placed Melbourne Croatia is one side they must beat. City watched Croatia in Melbourne last weekend, during their enforced stopover, and the players are confident they can get a home win this Sunday.

XXXX LEAGUE — ROUND 7 MT. GRAVATT v COALSTARS

Referee: GARTH GOODWIN

Perry Park, Saturday, 7 p.m.

After an indifferent start to the season, Coalstars have quietly but effectively been moving up the table and are now within striking distance of the leaders.

Coach Brian Styles has called for maximum commitment from his players and in recent weeks, has finally got it. Coalstars effectively swept aside the ever-improving Olympic United last weekend and will be looking for another win here. But Mount Gravatt are likely to prove to be one of the better footballing sides Coalstars are likely to meet this season and will prove a real test.

The Hawks drew 3-3 with Easts last weekend after being in control for much of the game. Eric Thompson's side led by two goals before Easts pulled level. Indeed with 15 goals in the against column, there must be some serious questions asked about the Mount Gravatt defence.

Next Games:
 Olympic Utd. v Mt. Gravatt;
 Coalstars v North Star

OLYMPIC U. v TARINGA R.

Goodwin Park, Sunday, 2.45 p.m.

Referee: MORRIE DELLER

This is a clash between two of the battlers of the competition and both sides desperately need the points to move into a threatening position in the table.

After a woeful run with injuries early in the season, Taringa now finds players returning and the addition of Frank Byrne and Marty Ratcliffe, to name a few, to the Rovers' side will only enhance their chances of mid-season success.

Taringa showed a diehard performance to beat Ipswich United 1-0 last weekend while Olympic United have tended to run hot and cold this season. The home advantage will suit Olympic, but by the same token Taringa are not a side likely to be put off by a bumpy surface.

Two former NSL players will be the ones to watch in this match. Former Lions striker Calvin Daunt and former City striker Stephen Glockner.

Next Games:
 Olympic Utd. v Mount Gravatt;
 Lions v Taringa.

XXXX LEAGUE — ROUND 8 NORTH STAR v EASTS

O'Callaghan Park, Sunday, 2.45 p.m.

Referee: ALAN KIBBLER

This is undoubtedly the match of the round and the winner will guarantee itself a place in the President's Cup final for first round leaders.

Both sides have set the pace from the outset this season and this match could well decide who will be the side to chase in the second round.

Each team has lost one game and neither will be keen to see another defeat posted on their record. But if recent form is an indication the Tigers could be in a little trouble. John Sime's side has not won a League game since it beat Coalstars on May 18. But then North Star also suffered defeat three weeks ago and many of their recent league wins have been by a lone goal.

The centrepiece of Easts success this season has been their striking duo of Phil Redmond and Jim McDonagh. With Redmond likely to be suspended it will be interesting to see how McDonagh battles on his own.

Next Games: Coalstars v North Star; Easts v Wynnum.

XXXX LEAGUE — ROUND 8 IPSWICH U. v LIONS

Ebbw Vale, Sunday, 2.45 p.m.

Referee: HENRY MARROW

Ipswich United are at their most dangerous when written off and already some are starting to predict the champions will not make the final four this season.

Such talk is surely premature as coach Matt Carson is a master of peaking his sides at the right time. Ipswich United have lost players from last year and it is only fair for the new faces to be given time to settle in. To be sitting fourth in the league with a side which is being rebuilt is not a bad effort. Admittedly Ipswich United were not impressive against Taringa, but they should never be under-estimated.

In the past, their clashes with Lions have always been spirited and hard-fought affairs and this should be no exception. Lions have begun to string some results together after the early season setbacks but still find themselves near the bottom of the table. They will want a win to rectify that.

Wynnum just can't seem to take a trick in their first year back in top company and have been so unlucky in many games this season.

The Bayside club has lost four games this season by just a single goal. Coach Tony Lowndes has managed to keep morale and enthusiasm high in the side and the Wolves undoubtedly have some talented players who should finally click. Whether they can do it in time to save their XXXX League place remains to be seen. One player who has caught the eye of many has been the versatile Michael Overbye and he could be one for Thistle to watch.

After beginning the season in sensational style, Thistle have hit a lean patch, although luck has not gone their way in some recent defeats. The Lanham Parkers gave a gallant performance against North Star last week and if they can repeat that they should be too strong for Wynnum.
