Queensland's Socceroo training squad members have returned from last weeks camp in Melbourne confident that they have the ability to force their way into the Australian squad proper for the forthcoming series against Czechoslovakia.

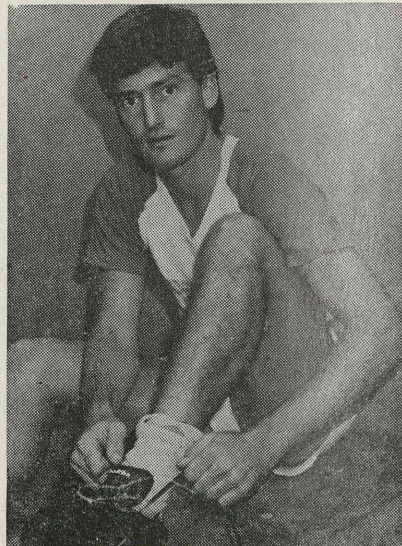

Brisbane Lions players John and Russell Stewart and Danny Wright, along with former Queenslander Alan Hunter, now with Heidelberg United, were invited to the two-day camp.

"From what we saw down there, we certainly felt that we had as much chance as anyone else of making the squad," state captain John Stewart said. "We certainly weren't lacking anything compared to the others and if the selection process is fair, then I would like to think we all have a good chance of getting a go in the green and gold."

Danny Wright, who missed the first day of the camp because of injury sustained in the previous weekend's NSL match, said Socceroo coach Frank Arok put the squad through a lot of pressure training. "He put us in tight situations where you had to use your skills and your brain. And from what I saw all the Queenslanders did everything they were asked," he said.

According to the Brisbane-based trio, several southern players didn't endear themselves to Arok when they pulled out of the second day of training complaining of injuries. "One player said he couldn't train because he had a chill. I don't think Arok likes that sort of thing, but certainly none of the Queenslanders complained", Stewart said.

And although the Lions three were pleased with their performances, two slightly disturbing facts emerged from the camp. The first was the almost ludicrous situation of Frank Arok still confusing John and Russell Stewart. According to others at the camp, he repeatedly called John Russell and vice versa. And the other thing was that Arok gave none of the three any indication of how they went or the likelihood of them being recalled.

But Hunter, in Brisbane last weekend with Heidelberg, had high praise for his fellow Queenslanders.

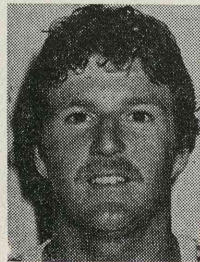

"They certainly didn't look out of place," Hunter said. "And if I had to single anyone out I think John looked particularly good. He just played it simple and rarely put a foot wrong. I really hope they get their chance like everybody else."

While the Brisbane-based trio's invitation to the training camp was a breakthrough for Queensland soccer, the revelation prior to the camp that assistant Socceroo coach Eddie Thomson had still not reported to Arok about the recent interstate match was disappointing. And Queensland coach Bruce Stowell was furious.

"The whole significance of the win will be lost by the time Frank Arok hears about it. It is obvious quite a few Queensland players really did lose out by Frank not being here for the game. The story is never the same second hand.

A MATCH FOR THE MAROONS?

One of the disappointments this season for XXXX League players was the late cancellation of the proposed tour of Papua New Guinea.

Circumstances beyond the control of the Queensland Soccer Federation forced the cancellation of the tour, which was the season aim for many players. In an exercise to promote discussion and comment, Go Soccer this week asked resident columnist Eric Thompson to pick his mid-season XXXX League team.

Here are Thompson's thoughts . . .

"In picking this team I brooded for many nights. In selecting the side, I did not pick it with a tour in mind. I preferred to go for a team to take on the victorious Queensland side as it is a game, which if the QSF wanted to promote, could be arranged some time in the future. I do ask one consolation though, that Bruce Stowell releases the XXXX League players in his squad and in fact takes the park with his all-NSL run-on XI used against NSW.

My side is in a 4-2-4 formation: Stu Woodruffe (Mt Gravatt), Cameron Pearse (Nth Star), Mick Cernaka (Olympic), Mark McNaughton (Coalstars), Gordon Buchanan (Nth Star), Martin Kirsopp (Mt Gravatt), Gerry Lindsay (Nth Star), Peter Vogler (Ipswich U.), Calvin Daunt (Taringa), Phil Redmond (Easts), Tom McGregor (Lions). Reserves Ken Swan (Mt Gravatt), Damien Butler (Ipswich U.), Geoff Maltby (Wynnum), Jason Kear-ton (Lions).

Why 4-2-4? Because to try and match the Queensland side at their own game would be suicidal. The key to a XXXX League Select victory would be to attack the Maroons, to force them back and make them play in their own half. NSW erred in allowing Queensland to contain them in their defensive third.

Here's why I picked the players . . .

Woodruffe: He's one of the toughest keepers in Brisbane and really needs a game like this to get back to his best.

Pearse: Has the ability to go forward which we need in this attacking side.

Cernaka: Can do a job at the back, no fuss, no mistakes.

McNaughton: The captain. His attitude on the park is unrivalled and I believe he is one of the reasons behind Coalstars' success this season.

Buchanan: Deserved his state selection, and deserves to be in this team.

Kirsopp: Can help organise the midfield, if he plays for the team, not himself.

Lindsay: I have watched Gerry in a lot of games. He is the ball winner I require and has outstanding positional sense.

Vogler: He has speed and is always a threat on the right.

Daunt: He's big and he'll win the ball in the air. He has knuckled down this season and deserves to play with players who will compliment him.

Redmond: Chosen for his leftfoot ability. You don't find too many players who can take up a left-sided position and do things with the ball.

McGregor: At times he would drop in behind the front three, he would be my grafter. He has a will to win and can score from anywhere.

Reserves: Swan, is a whole hearted player; Butler, only his lack of pace cost him a spot; Maltby, an interesting prospect; Kear-ton, a keeper for the future.

Well how about it Mr. Brusasco? Can your Maroons give us a game?

FRONT COVER: Taringa's Steve Watson (No. 4) and Lions' Craig Low in action last weekend. Both player's clubs are in Ampol Cup quarter-finals.

GO SOCCER EDITORIAL

By Editor, GEOFF STEAD

There is considerable merit in the proposal to field a United Brisbane side in the national competition next year — if circumstances permit.

Go Soccer has editorialised before that the current national league set-up is awkward and does little for Queensland soccer. We have in the past urged Lions and City to return to our local competition. We still stand by those thoughts. But we also support the counter proposal of scooping the cream from both clubs and the best from any others to form a true Brisbane side in the national competition. But only if it has 100 percent local support.

The example of the Brisbane Bullets is a fine one to follow. Five years ago Queensland had no representation in the Australian basketball team. Today we have two players and a coach. There is no reason why, with the resources of Queensland soccer, that we cannot match the success of our basketballers. But we must work together. The hurdles that have thwarted a United Brisbane side in the past, and would be likely to again, must be removed.

If Queensland can manage to salvage one place in the national competition after this year, then it will be the first time in a decade that we will have had the opportunity to start afresh. A united approach could not only save face for Queensland soccer but prove to be the key to success.

ACROSS MY DESK . . .

By QSF Secretary, ALAN VESSEY

Recently a Go Soccer Editorial called for action in relation to the restructuring of the administrative side of the Queensland Soccer Federation.

The Management Committee has always been mindful of this task and in fact is presently examining two proposals. One is based on the policy of the code being determined by representatives of all sections of the code. The other is based on a task-force report from West Australia which outlines a structure for that State's Australian Rules administration. Essentially it involves a five-man independent board.

Copies of the proposals have gone to members of the semi-professional leagues sub-committee, but ideally

But as also has been outlined, the idea is not new. It has not come to being in the past because massive hurdles existed which prevented the proposal getting off the ground. Despite the desperate situation in which our two NSL clubs currently find themselves, those hurdles still exist for a "Brisbane United" side. For the plan to have any chance of success this time, it must have the total backing of all sections of Queensland soccer. In the past, some have been against Queensland involvement in the national competition. But how much of that anti-NSL feeling has been plain jealousy? Would the same jealousy exist if the side was representative of the Federation rather than a club?

The point is, a lot of people within Queensland soccer — and not NSL clubs — must start asking themselves several pertinent questions. And they must be asked now. We must consider what Queensland soccer would be like without the week to week contact of national league soccer? We must attempt to predict the consequences of a return to City and Lions to the local competition and the extreme likelihood of a mass involvement in the Premier soccer competition in the nation.

should be read by all parties with an interest in the future development of Queensland soccer. As was written in the Go Soccer Editorial, the restructuring of our administration is an extremely important subject and people associated with the code must examine the alternatives seriously as major decisions will be needed in the near future.

Later problems can be overcome now by maximising input in the planning stages and I urge anyone with an interest in the code to consider the alternatives available.

THE GOOD COACH

WEEK 12: TACKLING

The majority of major injuries occur during tackling, and many are because of poor technique or lack of commitment.

The good coach must ensure his players are confident and courageous when tackling and impart maximum force throughout.

The skill of a good tackler is in making the correct decision of when and when not to tackle, where and where not to tackle. Jockeying may be better than fully committing in a tackle. Those decisions were covered in more detail in week 10 on defensive principles.

Successful tackling is a question of technique and timing. Poor timing leads to infringements and this to freekicks and cautions.

But the main task of the tackler is to prevent the forward movement of the ball and win it if possible. The tackler may not always win the ball cleanly, but if he is able to knock it away from the attacker he has achieved his purpose of slowing the attack.

Types of tackling include the front-on block tackle. The side-block tackle and the sliding technique all require the player to put his weight behind his body while maintaining an overall balance. The player who pulls out of a tackle will be the one who will be hurt.

The good coach, who has the principles of football at heart, will not condone ruthless, illegal tackling. The toughman can be appreciated if he operates within the rules. Players should be urged to tackle with commitment rather than malice.

Exercise: 1 v 2 in grid 10m x 30m. One of the two defenders plays the ball down the grid to an attacker who then advances hoping to pass the two defenders and 'score' by reaching the far baseline. The defenders must adopt the principles of first and second defender, deciding when and if to tackle.

The attacker should display the dribbling skills of feints, screening and changes of pace. The objectives here are timing and technique and the good coach will pit players of equal abilities and size against each other to avoid any unnecessary injuries during the training session.

POINTS TO PONDER . . .

When will Annerley train next? Following their 6.30 a.m. Saturday session a week ago, the boys in blue were out at 1 p.m. last Saturday prior to a 7 p.m. kick-off at the Ridge. (NOTE CLUB OFFICIALS: The "Supergrass" is not who you think it is. The walls at Rosies Tavern have ears!

Someone at Spencer Park must be interested in Go Soccer. Brisbane City's mounting pile of copies at Perry Park was last week collected by a club member . . . but amazingly returned the next day.

Fashions must change. Lions joined Scotland last weekend with their multi-coloured pants. Four years ago NSL officials tried to get clubs to wear similar-styled outfits and were told they looked like pyjamas!

An offer she couldn't refuse? Ask the Perry Park office girls who got the interesting proposal last week in relation to her forthcoming overseas trip. Relations between one well-known XXXX League player and his coach have been strained of late. The coach has demanded more commitment to the team and the player spent a recent game on the sideline to get the message.

It must be catching at Lions. After our "P to P" last week about the player forgetting his boots, another forgot his shoes last weekend.

IT'S THOMMO TALKING

I read with alarm comments that Col Bennett was considering a playing comeback. I can only advise, don't do it Col!

You may think that is unusual considering it is precisely what I did this season. But that is exactly why I can offer advice. From my experience it is fairly easy to go from being a player to the coach of the same club. But going from the coach back to a player is a completely different matter.

With all the resources at Lions, and the club's ability to draw players, there must be a lot of other alternatives to be considered before Col pulls on a pair of boots.

The club, and Col, stands to lose a lot. I can understand what is going through Col Bennett's mind at the moment.

Like myself, I am sure Col has no thoughts whatsoever of self glorification in returning to the field. He obviously wants to do what is best for the side and the club.

That was why I chose to play for the period I did. Mt. Gravatt had lost Noel Davis and David Costa. But it becomes so difficult, particularly when the side needs to be worked as we do at the moment because like Lions we are going through a difficult spell.

A coach can't be on the inside looking out. He can't properly give the work if he has to do it himself. Stay on the outside looking in Col. You'll see a lot more and achieve a lot more.

Last week in Go Soccer I was soundly criticised in a Letter to the Editor from S.J. Lamerton. In reply I offer Mr. (I presume) Lamerton my Bouquet of the Week and extend to him the offer of a day at Dittmer Park at the club's expense.

Go Soccer is all about putting your ideas forward, promoting discussion, and if need be, wearing the criticism. Mr. Lamerton is truly a fine supporter of soccer to take the time to put his thoughts on paper. Too many people are willing to whinge and stab you behind your back.

Well said Mr. Lamerton, your points were taken. I invite you back to Dittmer Park and if you contact myself or the club beforehand I will ensure all possible is done to make your stay comfortable and enjoyable.

Dear Sir,

It is with disgust that I read in various papers of my club Brisbane City's attitude to Go Soccer magazine. I read the article which appeared to offend the club and found it interesting, although probably a little idealistic. For a start XXXX League clubs wouldn't release their players. I enjoy reading Go Soccer at halftime of the NSL game and have been annoyed that I have been unable to get a copy of late. I have supported City through thick and thin but find their latest attitude unprofessional and petty,

Frank Compagnoni
Mt. Gravatt.

I suggest you write to the club — Ed.

Dear Sir,

I read with interest the recent articles regarding unusual scores and I recall a Junior Colts match in 1979 which had plenty of goals, although was not as one sided as some of the scorelines already outlined. The game was between Taringa and Grange Thistle and finished

W. COOPER,

Dear Sir,

For several seasons I have enjoyed the authoritative special reports compiled by Ted Jefferies. I have not seen a story from Ted lately and was wondering if he is no longer with Go Soccer. I heard a rumour he has returned to England. I hope this is not the case. I would like to congratulate Ted for his no-nonsense articles in the past and hope that there are more to come in the future.

Rick Miley, Redbank.

Ted Jefferies is indeed overseas, but only holidaying in Mexico and Great Britain. He is expected home next month, hopefully with a notebookfull of more interesting world news. Like yourself, Go Soccer keenly awaits his return. — Ed.

While the home crowd was found short of superlatives in celebrating Redcliffe Reserve Teams 4-1 victory against a side depleted by one due to the dubious decision of a referee to send off an injured Kingsridge player, sidelined to receive treatment after writhing in agony on the pitch for some five minutes, the most entertaining display of refereeing "skills" came in the main match.

After a first half during which play fluctuated in mid-pitch, the main aspects worthy of mention were the replacement of King's striker, Steve Scerri by Tony Mraz, and the referee's decision, after the ball had been very accurately netted by Michael Rooney, to declare that the place kick which he had ordered should be indirect. At the break the teams were level 0-0.

The initial incident worthy of comment in the second half was a solid defensive effort by keeper, Ian Morris, in thwarting the efforts of a Redcliffe player, who managed to elude King's defenders in his own half. However, the referee decided to display his skills later in the match by awarding Redcliffe a penalty. His gesticulations as to the reason for this action, although luxurious, remained extremely dubious. The penalty was duly converted. Redcliffe 1 Kingsridge 0.

KINGSRIDGE

Late in the second half, play again reverted to within the Kingsridge penalty area, and, again, after an intricate pattern of hand and arm movement, the referee saw fit to award a second Redcliffe penalty. Ian Morris successfully saved this kick, only to see the referee again pointing to the penalty spot. The official, through a remarkable instance of rear-vision, confronted Paul McHiggins and issued a "yellow card" warning to him for encroaching some five or six inches into the area prior to the penalty kick.

Despite the influences of both the Redcliffe strikers and the referee, Ian Morris again saved the kick and, in accordance with World Cup Quarter-Final regulations, Redcliffe won the match 1 penalty to nil.

INTERMEDIATE LEAGUE: Rochedale 0 v Redlands 0

Rochedale Rovers and Redlands United provided proof that securing two points from teams within the top four this year is going to be a mission for the opportunists.

In one of our most bruising encounters at Underwood Park this season, our boys, although somewhat disappointed at not winning the match, showed they have the "metal" to contest the XXXX League and with an ounce more luck, may just do so. Over the past couple of seasons these two teams have developed a keen rivalry and judging by the bite in most tackles, this clash was just as fiercely contested.

Some anxious moments in the first half saw Redlands test our back four but on most occasions a timely interception or a well-made tackle saw off any danger. With the stage set, the second half yielded the type of football which had been lacking over the past couple of weeks. Gerry McMahon, in only his third game a right fulback after being taken out of the front line, relished the extra space to time his runs from the defence. It was from one of his breaks down the right flank that produced our best chance of the match. After getting around the back of the defence, he sent a perfectly flighted ball across the goal, which one of the club's newcomers, Gary Ireland, met first time on the volley only to see it ricochet off the keeper and onto the crossbar. A goal for Gary would have capped a fine game.

Although we rarely single out individuals for special mention, our player-manager come goalkeeper Nigel Lownds produced possibly his best performance for this club. His concentration and his experience in some very precarious situations earned him the accolades of all our supporters. He certainly was an inspiration to his team-mates.

RESERVES: Rochedale 3 v Redlands 1 — A good recovery from last week's disappointing result. Goals from Barry Stevens, John Adamson and John McNair was enough to do the damage. Michael Clarkson was perhaps our best and was always full of running and showed imagination in attack — all this from a sweeper!

FOURTH DIVISION: Rochedale 3 v Westside 1 — A two pointer at last. Goals from J. Hanaveltd, Mark Korst and Craig Smith.

SIXTH DIVISION: Rochedale 3 v Fairfield 1.

THE KNOCKOUT QUARTER-FINALS

After the round-robin matches of the City and Coast qualifying rounds, the $16,000 Ampol Cup switches to a knockout competition from the quarter-finals onwards.

The pairings for the quarter-finals were made through a random draw of the qualified teams. Similarly, the semi-finals will be drawn "out of the hat". This format was adopted several years ago and has been largely responsible for the growing success of the Ampol Cup.

The Ampol Cup was first staged in 1959 and won by Oxley United. It has grown since to be the richest of its kind and the most extensive and encompassing state-run knockout competition in Australia.

Teams from as far north Queensland to the NSW border have participated in the competition to produce the eight teams which go into the quarter-final.

The Ampol Cup final, which carried $6000 and the prized trophy, is scheduled for the weekend, August 16-17.

FROM THE EASTERN SUBURBS

Violence. What is it? The Oxford Dictionary defines it as . . . "acting with physical force" or "the unlawful exercise of force" All body contact sports would then have as an element the first category. It is the second category, "the unlawful exercise of force" which is of constant concern to us, both on and off the playing fields. It can't be condoned.

However, since we accept that acting with physical force is part and parcel of body contact sports, and, can cause injury, it is then the "unlawful" part which comes into issue. As we appoint policemen to protect us in the streets, so we appoint match officials to protect our players on the field, and interpret the laws of the game, to determine what is, or, is not, unlawful. In the main they do a pretty fair job, but, are not given the credit they deserve. How often are they proven right by instant slow motion replays on T.V.? More often than they are proven wrong I would suggest. Yet we, or at least some of us, aren't prepared to accept their decisions. We get reports, such as appeared in "Thommo Talking" (12/6/86) and the "Telegraph" (Monday 16/6/86) both of which indicate that the writer in one case and the coach quoted in the other, are not willing to accept the referee's decision. In both incidents referred to the referee had not even cautioned the players involved. There will always be instances where players are injured by accident in hard tackles, that's why referees are there, to define the difference. Let them get on with their job and accept their decisions like men. I have not yet seen a referee who would deliberately allow serious violent conduct to go unpunished.

How often do we see those who would complain about referees not affording players sufficient protection appearing before the Disputes Committee defending players against whom those very referees have taken action?

While on the Disputes Committee, I will say this, there will be a time, in the not too distant future, when they will be confronted with a situation with which they cannot deal adequately. In my opinion the recent Taringa incident, based on information I have been given, was one such case. If, as I have been informed, young Dawes was unconscious for some hours after the incident, then the punishment given does not fit the crime.

OUR FIRST ROUND LEADERS GO FOR THE SILVERWARE

For the first time, mid-season dominance in Queensland soccer will be decided by a play-off of the leading teams in the XXXX and Intermediate Leagues.

In the past the side leading the Premier competition at the end of the first round automatically won the President's Cup. Brisbane Lions were the winners last season.

But this year, in a move designed to add more prestige to the title and to further promote the code, the QSF management committee opted to create a special fixture.

It was decided that the top two teams in the XXXX League after nine fixtures should contest the President's Cup and the top two sides in the Intermediate League at the halfway mark should vie for the newly introduced Intermediate Cup.

The inaugural honours have gone to Coalstars and Easts from the XXXX League and Brisbane City and Redlands from the Intermediate League. They finished 1 and 2 in their respective divisions.

The match is to decide the trophy winners only and the result does not count towards premiership totals.

Should either match be drawn at the conclusion of 90 minutes play, there will be no extra-time, but penalties in accordance with FIFA rules will be used to decide the winner.

BRISBANE LIONS v PRESTON

Richlands, Sunday, 3 p.m.

REFEREE: JIM REEVES

Brisbane Lions coach Col Bennett believes his side needs another 17 points this season to ensure survival in the national competition.

He had hoped to get two against Heidelberg last weekend to make that task easier to achieve, but a dismal performance from Lions has really put pressure on the side. There are only 11 games remaining on the fixture sheet which means Lions must take 17 from a possible 22.

With that in mind, the team is in a must-win situation this weekend. Preston are no easy side and in fact led the competition, undefeated for the early rounds. They have never played attractive soccer in Brisbane but always have been hard to beat and the Lions team will have to give one of best performances to stay on target.

MITCHELTON STABLETALK

INTERMEDIATE LEAGUE: MITCHELTON 3 v VALLEY TRIDENT 4

In the second minute it looked like we might be going to do something when we forced two consecutive corners after play involving Darryl Heiner and Garth Jones. Five minutes later a cross from their right beat our keeper and was neatly headed away to put our visitors 1-0 up. In the 15th minute while trying to recover a ball from an attack, our keeper was deemed to have crossed the 18-yard line with his hand on the ball and a freekick was given. They put it away well over the wall and into the top of the net to go 2-0 up. Six minutes later in a goalmouth scramble Ben Tucker, who is acting as our goalkeeper at the moment, had stopped their first attempt but the second shot beat him comfortably to make it 3-0 to Valley Trident.

In the 28th minute with good build-up on the right again by Valley Trident, a good cross and a lovely header gave the keeper no chance at all and we were 0-4 down. In the 32nd minute Lee Grice was able to beat the offside trap and crossed to Darryl Heiner who had come up in support and opened our account, 1-4 at ½ time.

What our coach said to our players at halftime I have no idea, but it appeared to have restored some sense of reality for we demonstrated much more purpose. Twenty minutes into the second half, a change of direction by our forward beat their keeper who slipped trying to recover and the ball rolled in over the line to make the score 2-4.

About five minutes later Michael Black persisted in attack and was able to beat the keeper to the ball to put away our third goal. I am sure if we had played the full match in the same frame of mind, we would undoubtedly have come away with the two points instead of none. I do know that Valley Trident were happy with the result and considered themselves lucky. Darryl Heiner was unlucky to see one of his attempts go just wide of the left upright while I am sure their goalkeeper was pleased that two of Garth Jones' shots were pretty well directed straight at him. They were travelling and he wouldn't have had a chance otherwise.

INTERMEDIATE RESERVES: MITCHELTON 1 v VALLEY TRIDENT 4

Unfortunately I did not see the beginning of this game, but arrived during the first half and found it incredible that we were already 0-3

However towards the end of the first half a corner to us found Werner Bodsworth who put away our only goal to make it 1-3 at halftime. Five minutes into the second half a through ball found their striker who beat our keeper's outstretched hands, stepped around him and put away their fourth goal. In the 57th minute it looked like we might have a chance of getting back into the game when a penalty was awarded. But after a difference of opinion between the player and the referee as to whether the ball should be in a hole or with the ground built up under it, their keeper pulled off a good save.

FOURTH DIVISION: Mitchelton 2 v North Star 2

This was a top of the table clash with North Star leading us and both teams at least wanting to maintain their positions. From our point of view the first half hour was not very good with them going 1-0 up during that period. We were fortunate with only five minutes to halftime to have Phil Millard making the score 1-1. About 20 minutes into the second half North Star went 2-1 up and within a quarter of an hour Craig Roberts received a freekick by Wayne Marstella and headed away beautifully to make it 2-2. Generally you could say the first half was North Star's better period with the honours going to Mitchelton in the second half. I am sure both teams were glad to settle for a point and from what I saw it was a good result but could easily have gone either way.

TOOWONG

Round 10 saw two good results for Toowong. The Division Four side beat Centenary Sporting 3-1 while the Division Seven team defeated Darra 6-1.

The Division Four game was exciting and Toowong scored first when sweeper Greg Mesh rose high to head in an Ian Carson corner. Centenary equalised before halftime when a well-taken freekick beat the wall and keeper Kosy Varfis. In the second half two goals by Ian Carson, a well struck freekick and a penalty, gave Toowong victory.

ANNERLEY ANALYSIS

INTERMEDIATE LEAGUE: Acacia Ridge 1 v Annerley 0

A much improved performance by the Annerley side who made only a couple of mistakes in defence and paid for one of them in the fifteenth minute of the first half when an unstoppable shot screamed past John Di and into the back of the net. Unperturbed by the set back the Annerley side put pressure on the Ridge and the pleasing aspect of their game was the fact that the midfielders made their presence felt up front as well as in defence.

Chances came our way and a Paul Welsh header almost produced the equaliser. Based on this performance, Annerley does not deserve their low position on the table and undoubtedly has got the potential to upset teams in higher positions.

RESERVES:

Annerley 2 v Acacia Ridge 1

After an even first thirty minutes, Bruce Powell put us one up when he put away a Brian Hudson cross.

The Ridge turned it on for the next five minutes, but good defence by Steel Lennon and Chris Morrison prevented them from equalising.

A great Ross Brennen thirty nine drive in the 36th gave us a comfortable 2-0 lead. After the break, Annerley relaxed a bit and allowed the Ridge to pull one back. However we held on and walked away with the two points.

THIRD DIVISION:

Annerley 1 v Logan City 0

Against the bottom team, and with all of the play, it was almost half time before we scored. Chris Hamilton volleyed a cross from the right to give us a one nil lead at the break. We had put three clear chances over the top from close in.

The second half was much the same but we could not score and a game we would rather forget ended 1-0 in our favour. Maybe it was because we descended to Logan's level, or maybe it was because we had three of our regular players out, but we were happy to grab the two points and run.

Valley Trident started their match like whirlwinds but finished up like desperate shipwreck victims clinging on for survival when they beat Mitchelton 4-3 last Saturday.

VALLEY TRIDENT

Playing scintillating football, Valleys put Mitchelton under heavy pressure and early in the game scored twice from identical moves. Dando Ivica and Tony Iovenetti combined brilliantly close to the Righthand corner flag and when the ball came across, Peter Carey was on hand — first at the far post and then even more spectacularly at the near post, to head home.

Valleys' pressure continued and the team went further ahead when Ivica curled in a freekick from the edge of the area and Frank Marenic hammered home a close range chance. Then Valleys stopped and just before halftime Mitchelton gave themselves a glimmer of hope by scoring after a Valleys' defensive mix-up.

The second half was an entirely different affair. At first Valleys were content to cruise along maintaining their three-goal advantage but 20 minutes or so into the half they conceded an own goal which fired Mitchelton into determined action.

They stormed Valleys' goal and were rewarded when enterprising young Mitchie fullback Michael Black took his chance well to make it 4-3. Then only the grit and determination of Brett Beves in the Valley goal prevented Mitchelton from equalising and all the Valleys supporters heaved a sigh of relief when the final whistle went.

The Valley Trident Reserve side finally moved into top gear when flowing teamwork saw them go into a 3-0 lead within the first 20 minutes against Mitchelton. Michael Stephenson took two of the goals in brilliant Glenn Hoddle-like style and Mark Blakeney added the other.

Mitchelton scored just on halftime which inspired them to make a real fight of it in the second half, Valleys however contained them well and even added to their own tally when Rocky Agerholm broke through the Mitchie Offside trap to score an impressive individual goal.

A Letter to the Editor

Dear Sir,

Let me make an apology to my son and no-one else for what happened at Lions stadium recently and as referred to in Points to Ponder. It does make me wonder that the writer of the article should get his facts right. After all it was not the referee I was interested in, but the "animal" as I would name him who played for Wynnum.

Recently there has been a few violent incidents. With regard to the Taringa episode, I have spoken to few people at Ipswich and one young chap reckoned it was blown out of proportion. But I was glad to see Mr. Lonton, Mt. Gravatt's president and Mr. Thompson having their say.

North Star's Iain Fagan reckons referees aren't serious about cleaning up the game. I would agree with him. To me it's a man's game, but there are still a few "hit-men" out there who are still waiting to maim players. I also say linesmen can see as well as the referee. Let's keep it clean.

Mr. Sam McGregor,
Inala.
