Taringa coach Iain Kesson has fired a broadside at his former club, Brisbane Lions, pointing out that the XXXX League leading scorers list shows where the NSL club made its mistake.

"The best three target men in Queensland are in the XXXX League and scoring goals," Kesson said, pointing out the efforts this year of his own Calvin Daunt and Easts' Phil Redmond and Jim McDonagh.

"I don't care how good Danny Wright is, he can't do it on his own. He needs a big man to work off and Lions have let them all go. They are now using players who have been tried before and not made the grade then."

Between them, Daunt, Redmond and McDonagh have netted 28 goals and have dominated the XXXX League this season.

Lions and fellow-threatened NSL club City, meet in what probably will be their last NSL derby at Spencer Park this weekend. While their return to the XXXX League next year appears a foregone conclusion, both clubs are looking to bounce back immediately to the national competition in 1988.

Officials at the two clubs soon will begin a major review of their playing staff but are predicting there will not be the massive losses many have suggested.

"We will be looking at the players we believe we should retain and will be making them offers that others will find hard to match," one NSL official said.

Indeed, with the two NSL clubs set to save $25,000 alone on affiliation fees by returning to the local competition, the final incentives they will be able to offer their players will be hard to match.

One of the NSL clubs also is considering sending an official overseas to scout for possible recruits. And in a new twist the official may approach young English apprentices rather than seasoned pros.

"There are a lot of good young players who for one reason or another just miss out on contracts with the Manchester Uniteds and Liverpools. We will be offering them a stint in Australia before they try their luck at another club. It will be an opportunity some will find hard to refuse and we could unearth a real star," the official said.

BIG DAY SET FOR BUNDAMBA

Coalstars will stage a major promotion at Bundamba this weekend for their XXXX League clash against Easts.

While the top-of-the-table match will provide plenty of highlights on its own, a big program of entertainment will help make the day a great family outing.

The day, which is sponsored by the Racecourse Hotel, will begin with the Colts and Reserves games and the action will really step up with a match between the Juniors fathers and the Juniors coaches at 2.30 p.m. The main game will kick-off at 3 p.m. and club juniors in their soccer outfits will form a guard of honour for the players. All youngsters who take part will get a gift from Coalstars' sponsors, First Provincial Building Society.

At half time of the main game there will be an Under 8's mini-match while at fulltime the Under 10's will play a game.

A barbeque will follow the soccer and there will be a pig on the spit. And with the support of Racecourse Hotel hosts Don and Julie Moore, a 20-minute fireworks display will cap the day at dusk.

POINTS TO PONDER...

Inala City First Division Reserves are the first QSF Premiers of 1986. And it has taken the team just 17 games to clinch the title. The side was nine points clear of their rivals until last weekend when they won and second placed Redcliffe went down, leaving Inala's margin 11 points with five games remaining. For the record, Inala City won 16 and drew one, scoring 71 goals and conceding just eight.

The hide of some clubs. The Fourth Division side of a very prominent XXXX League club turned up at its match last weekend with its own carton of stubbies — and then had the gall to ask if they could be put in the cold room until after the game. The home club had the last laugh, scoring an upset 2-1 win.

A few feathers were ruffled by our item last week in relation to the "Coca-Cola drinkers" among one club's supporters. The club in question demanded a retraction — but what we see is what we write — and perhaps a few supporters were not entirely honest when the club conducted an investigation.

If Taringa were ever looking for a new sponsor they might well approach Stefan if the hairstyles of their XXXX League team is an indication. The Rovers have to be the League's trendsetters with a wide array of styles and colours.

Which well-known NSL player is putting considerable work into another club's building project?

The language among players in one pacesetter XXXX League club leaves a lot to be desired. The comments, clearly audible from the sidelines are being directed at opponents, referees and even team-mates!

FRONT COVER: Olympic United coach Juan Cutillas who has guided his team into the top four. Cutillas has been a huge success since arriving in Australia 12 months ago and is certain to be besieged with offers at the end of the year. But Olympic United are already moving to ensure the Spanish coaching master stays at Goodwin Park.

GO SOCCER EDITORIAL

By Editor, GEOFF STEAD

Comments last week from Socceroo squad member Russell Stewart in relation to next season are indeed alarming.

Stewart was quoted as saying he already had been approached by three local clubs to sign for next season and said, in some cases, the money being offered was better than current NSL wages. While the prospect of signing players with National League experience may be an enticing one, clubs should seriously examine their current positions before over-committing themselves. Some may risk financial suicide by rushing headlong into the transfer market in an attempt to compete with two clubs, whose professional structure has been honed by a decade in the national competition.

This is not to say that negotiating with NSL players should be taboo. Nor is it to say that all NSL players are money-hungry. Some do, surprisingly, play largely for the love of the game and will serve a club well for a modest outlay.

But the key to signing that works for both parties is a transfer that is within a club's budget. Clubs with any intentions of chasing the higher league players should establish now exactly what they can afford to outlay and should stick rigidly to those figures. They should not be lured into playing the dangerous game of attempting to outbid rival suitors.

And before rushing to the doors of Spencer Park and Richlands, clubs should look at the long term as well as the immediate consequences of any signings. Too many times in the past, clubs have bought sides for immediate success, only to find insurmountable problems several seasons further down the road.

Before being caught in the transfer merry-go-round, clubs should astutely assess their current playing staff and decide whether that which is on offer is any better than what they currently have. And more importantly, they should weigh up the benefits of buying a player who may have already given his best years, at the expense of denying a younger player already at the club his deserved chance.

Undoubtedly this coming off-season will be one of the most hectic and interesting in years. A spread of talent can only help to strengthen the competition and ensure an exciting XXXX League next season.

But any benefits that may be gained will be quickly lost if our clubs become financially embarrassed.

ACROSS MY DESK . . .

By QSF Secretary, ALAN VESSEY

I have read with interest of late the number of British soccer clubs which are changing their whole outlook on the game.

While in the past, many clubs just built grandstands and relied on the fans to turn up, there is now a growing trend to turn stadiums into family and recreation complexes. Matches are now being marketed to entice family groups and facilities are being installed to ensure they not only watch the match in comfort, but are given every reason to come early for a meal or stay on later for a social drink, or in some cases, to meet the players or even watch movies or replays of the game.

This is definitely a trend our clubs should examine closely. Clubs can no longer expect fans to turn out and stand on windswept sidelines with Rather than commit all their funds to team-building and trophy hunting, clubs should now start looking at their facilities. A handful of clubs already are heading in this direction and if after-match stayers are an indication, they are obviously reaping the rewards.

No-one needs to build a Taj Mahal. A modest clubhouse, which caters for the family, and sideline facilities which allow fans to watch in comfort — in conjunction with a professional and informative match presentation is all that is needed.

WHO ARE SOCCER'S GOLF CHAMPIONS?

After a challenge by Eastern Suburbs to other clubs, an interclub champions trophy will be added to the list of prizes for the Inaugural QSF Golf Day at Keperra on Monday, September 15.

East, in their weekly Go Soccer column, claimed they would field a "Top Notch side and were open to challenges". The QSF has heeded the call and the trophy will be put up if a minimum of twelve club teams enter.

The best three scores from each club will count in determining the winning club. Players need not play with their fellow club members, but just nominate their club on the entry form.

Any club can enter as many players as it wishes. It will just be the best three scores at the end of the day that will count.

Already tee-off times are filling fast for the golf day, which is open to anyone, 18 years and older, who are directly or indirectly associated with soccer in Queensland or its sponsors and the media.

The main event will be an 18-hole stableford with winner and runner-up trophies. There also will be prizes for the best first nine, the best second nine, nearest the pin on all par 3's and a nearest approach prize on one hole.

There is a limit of 160 players and a maximum handicap of 27 will apply.

An entry fee of $15 will be charged (non returnable) and will include green fees, entry to all competitions and a meal voucher.

Other sports have held similar golf days which have been a huge success and QSF officials are looking for soccer to turn on a similar top day.

"While the starting date still seems a way off, we have let everyone know early so they can organise their R.D.O.'s or whatever to be there. But there is a limit on the number of entries and those entries first received will be those accepted," a tournament organiser said.

All clubs have been sent entry forms, but for further forms or more details on the competition, contact Perry Park on 525327.

TOOWONG

After the fine Qantas Cup performance the previous week, the Toowong Division Four team turned in a mediocre effort to draw with Bayside 1-1 at Dunmore Park.

Although Toowong had more of the play, they could not convert their advantage into goals, apart from one good goal by Greg Mesh which gave them a 1-0 lead at halftime. Bayside came out in the second half, did not give up, and were rewarded with the equaliser. A late penalty awarded to Toowong was missed and a valuable point went begging.

In Division Seven, Toowong defeated Olympic 2-1. The margin should have been higher. Some of Toowong's shots were worthy of the VFL. Stopper Bob Nakovics scored Toowong's first goal with a fine shot from outside of the box and Mick Peters headed in a corner for a second to give Toowong a 2-0 lead at halftime. Bob scored again in the same goal but unfortunately in the second half after a misunderstanding with the keeper.

Eest wishes for a speedy recovery to regular first team keeper Kosy Varfis out with a recurrence of a knee injury. Kosy vents his frustration by making the lads run twice as far at training.

IT'S THOMMO TALKING

The time has come for the QSF to offer a financial bonus for any club doing "the double" — that is, winning the premiership and the grand final in the XXXX League.

The $10,000 riding on the grand final is a great idea and certainly has given everyone the incentive to get to our season climax. But the premiership has faded somewhat into insignificance.

But I am sure a $5000 bonus to win the two titles would be an extra boost to our season which would be well received by players, officials and fans.

I am not advocating that $5000 should go to the premiers, because the novelty of that prize will be quickly lost and the cheque will become just another trophy at the end of the year.

What I want is the federation to take the bet $5000 to nothing that the double can't be done. I know Mr. B. is a betting man and may not like the odds, but through the extra publicity and excitement the challenge would create, I reckon they would get their risked outlay back on grand final day.

How about it Mr. B., or do we have to go SP?

I can see a few players at Brisbane City and Lions seeking out XXXX League club officials about playing contracts next year.

A lot of people are saying the XXXX League clubs will be climbing over each other to get to the NSL players at the end of the season. But I think with the incentive of the National League gone, and Lions and City back on the same standing as the rest of us, a few players will no longer want to stay at Richlands or Spencer Park and will make moves themselves.

Those with a professional approach to the game will be looking for clubs where players are treated properly in a similar professional way.

Sure, I can see there will be one or two around who will be chasing the dollar, but I don't think it will take long before their intentions are well-known.

But those clubs which this season have done the right thing by their players, and outwardly display the right credentials will be the ones who will get the surprising knocks on the door.

Valley Trident showed themselves worthy League leaders when they picked themselves up after a jaded first-half performance to share the points with a rampant Acacia Ridge.

In the first half it was all Ridge with Billy Fagan dictating the play as the Blues swept into the attack. Only the brilliance and guts of Brett Beves in the Valleys goal kept Ridge at bay. But even he was finally beaten when Valleys allowed the Ridge to score from close in.

The second half was an entirely different affair and ironically Valleys finally came to the party when star striker Peter Carey was taken off with an ankle injury and was followed by resolute defender Shane Rideout. Every player in the team raised his game and none more so than Sammy Dean at the back, Peter Tyson in midfield and Enzo Cupo down the flanks.

Valleys finally equalised when Frank Marenic pressured the Ridge keeper following a cross from the right and Tyson was on hand to sweep the ball in. As the game progressed, Valleys started to dominate and almost won the game when first Greg Vitulano and later Carl Musumeci had great efforts saved on the line. In the end a 1-1 draw was a fair result from a tough, hard-fought game.

The Reserve team game was also a hard fought match with Valleys showing plenty of fight and commitment to prevail over a rugged Ridge outfit 1-0. After a mediocre first half Valleys played superior soccer in the second half although they needed the brilliance of keeper Paul Antonelli to keep them in the game on more than one occasion. Michael Stephenson capped off a fine display with the only goal but Peter Cupo and Phil Calabrese also had impressive games.

Now that we are running top it seems appropriate to thank our sponsors for all their help, especially the management of the Manhattan Night Club, Brunswick Street, Martin Jonkers, the Car People at Redcliffe, the Ubiquitous Concrete contractor Charlie Morandin and well-known personality Mauro Saftich.

ANNERLEY ANALYSIS . . .

INTERMEDIATE LEAGUE: Annerley 0 v Pine Rivers 0

Having learned that Sunnyside lost on Saturday night, this Sunday fixture gave us the chance to get away from the bottom of the table, so a win was most important.

Pine Rivers started well and were faster to the ball in the first 20 minutes, but we had the first real chance when Ian Fedrick broke clear. However his shot was wide with only the keeper to beat. Fifteen before the break Brian Hudson carried through, but shot well over the top. Nil-all at half time and anyone's game.

In the second half we applied all the pressure and only desperate defence kept the scores even. As time went on our frustration mounted and at the end a nil-all draw was the result. A point each was handy for both teams, but we should really have won.

INTERMEDIATE RESERVES:

Annerley 4 v Pine Rivers 1

For the first 30 minutes the game had nothing as a spectacle. Pine Rivers were playing offside to perfection and we only managed to beat it occasionally. We, also, were doing it, and unfortunately were caught out with 15 to the break and a chip over our keeper's head put the visitors in front. They held the lead to half time.

After five minutes, replacement Tom Shriane pushed a good ball through for David Crane to run onto, and he beat the keeper easily to even the score. Another half time replacement, Dirk Siedentopf gave us the lead when he rounded two players and the keeper to push into the open net.

Brian Rogers carried through to beat the offside and his perfect cross found Glen Harkness who put away nicely for a 3-1 lead. David Crane converted a penalty for 4-1, the final score. A comfortable win as it turned out.

THIRD DIVISION:

Industrial 1 v Annerley 0

Annerley at home in Red Shirts — unthinkable, but it happened. We were ready to play in our normal blue, but Industrial have a similar strip and they did not bring an alternative. To allow the game to continue we changed to our other colours. The attitude to some of the details by other Clubs leaves a lot to be desired.

There was no score up to the break for half-time although we had started to create some chances towards the end.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Sir,

After reading your Editorial recently (Go Soccer, July 17) regarding the number of suspensions and players out of the game, I would like to air a few points that I feel strongly about. Also I would like to see if anyone thinks as I do.

To be totally honest, I am annoyed at the refereeing in Brisbane. I feel it has a big part to play in the increase of suspensions. Firstly, I am mad that week after week players can go out and hurt people and get away with it. I have noticed it more so in the past six weeks. Players have continually been able to commit foul tackles, getting the odd yellow card, of which they think nothing of. Sometimes they only get a strong word from the referee.

But if a player uses a four-letter word or similar, he gets the red card without a second wasted. I don't know how words can break legs!

Last week just five minutes into the game, our centre half got a face full of studs after heading the ball in a standing position. The defending player got a yellow card. Two minutes later the same player tackled another of our players, again showing his studs with a lot of malice. In fact our player had his shin pads broken with the tackle. The tackling player just got a word from the referee. The same player was again involved in another incident shortly after, but when my team's player swore in the heat of the moment, he was instantly red-carded. The player who stayed on the park continued to foul players and was penalised three or four times for bad tackles, but received no further punishment other than further chats from the referee. And this is not an isolated incident. The same thing happened to our team the previous week. A player who had ben repeatedly fouled, swore in desperation and was sent-off while the bad-tackling player stayed on the park.

Soccer is a man's sport where contact has to come into it. We are trying to make the game better to play in, to watch and to enjoy. We are not trying to turn people away. The point I am mad about is that language doesn't do anything other than to let players let off some steam, rather than retaliating. We don't want more of the incidents like the one at Taringa earlier this year.

Four letter words don't hurt people, can't put them in hospital or break legs. Where as bad tackles can, and do. The referees are in my mind cleaning up the game the wrong way, allowing these players to get away week after week with foul play, yet outing those who swear. It's not only a game for Christians, it's for men and remember colourful language is part and parcel of the Australian way of life and vocabulary.

The other point I wish to make is that players, if booked, are immediately guilty and then must prove their innocence. It seems referees are beyond mistakes, infallible — some even think they are God.

That's my opinion, what do others think?

Annoyed Irishman,
Name and address supplied.

Dear Sir,

Congratulations to Sam McGregor. I fully agree with him about Danny Wright. He is an inspiration to any team, but I feel there are some players in the team that unfortunately do not measure up to his standard. With regards to last Sunday's game (July 27) the first Sunshine goal was an own goal. The corner kick deflected off John Ogden. I would also like to see a combined Queensland team made up of players from Brisbane City and Lions playing in the NSL and make Perry Park their headquarters.

A. HOUGHTON, Moorooka.

Dear Sir,

I would like to respond to Eastern Suburbs' article in Go Soccer (July 24), regarding charges at the gate. I attended an Ipswich United-East's match on July 6 and was charged $3 for male, $3 for female and $3 for 15-year-old plus 50 cents for parking in the ground. That is a total of $9.50, for which I got a Senior Colts game, which I did not see because I arrived at the game too late, a Reserves match and the XXXX League game. I asked the fellow at the game was the charge right and he said it was what he had been told to charge by his committee. I paid the amount without further argument, and did not begrudge the donation.

The point I would like to make is that Easts shouldn't criticise other clubs before looking in their own backyard first. At least at Lions they charge $4 male, $4 female, $2 children and free parking for a total of $10, for which you can watch four games: Colts, Reserves, XXXX Leagues and NSL.

KINGSRIDGE KAPERS . . .

FIRST DIVISION: Kingsridge 0 v Brighton 0

1st DIVISION RESERVES: Kingsridge 2 d Brighton 1

Whilst aware of the fact that, to date, this season Kingsridge have enjoyed few "capers" worthy of report, the matches against Brighton, with their former NSL player, Ian Rathmell, as coach, are worthy of some mention.

Reserve Grade's match commenced with regular First Division player, Paul McHiggins, in goal and two recently recruited Englishmen Stephen Wedge and Darren Polirer, eager to display their skills after an appalling weather restricted debut against St. Albans in Toowoomba the previous Sunday.

The presence of these players, together with a general improvement of regular team members, saw Kingsridge leading 2-0. Brighton were able to register a first goal late in the match, but could not raise their level of performance to impede our Reserves from recording their first "genuine" win of the season. Well done Kings!

Letter to the Editor

Dear Sir,

After reading the recent Go Soccer, I feel a bit embarrassed as to tell the truth I didn't realise I had so many friends. I can't thank you personally so all I will say is keep on supporting soccer, which to me has and always will be the best physical contact sport there is.

Anyhow, after watching the two Ampol Cup semi-finals, I was disappointed not because Lions were beaten by a better team on the day, but by the lack of atmosphere. The only exception were the little fellows at halftime. North Star deserve a wee bit of credit too, their match may not have been too exciting, but it was played in a sportsmanlike manner, and I thought the referee was the best I had seen for some time.

Also it was good to see Brisbane City drawing with the top team and I was sorry to see Lions go down to Sunshine. They did not deserve to be beaten 3-1. Congratulations to Russell Stewart for gaining a place in the Socceroo squad, maybe Frank's beginning to wake-up. Congratulations also to Alan Hunter, he deserves his chance. Both youngsters have proven we have good players in Queensland.

SAM MCGREGOR, Inala.

P.S. — Thanks Thommo, I got your letter.

Our last-placed First Division side were, therefore, encouraged by this fact when the match against fourth-placed Brighton began. The first half showed that Kings were anxious to repeat the performance of the Reserves, and, but for a missed penalty, could have emulated this feat.

During the second half Paul McHiggins showed that, despite his reserve grade effort, he was in no way impaired by it with some fine attacking movements. When Stephen Wedge was called on as a replacement striker, the Brighton goalie found himself confronted with a variety of attacking efforts by Kings. As the referee blew his whistle for full time, it was the Brighton players who most welcomed it as they were, indeed, fortunate to escape with a nil-all draw.

MITCHELTON STABLETALK

INTERMEDIATE LEAGUE: Mitchelton 0 v Newmarket 0

With only six games to go, five points separating the top six teams, and our opponents two points astern of us on the table, one could expect some very tight games.

We were not disappointed as far as this game itself went, for although there were no goals scored, there was some very entertaining football. So often we watch a match where possession is surrendered to the opposition without putting three or four passes together. In this game it was a pleasure to watch the number of times a great series of accurate passes at the least retained possession and on occasion created opportunities. Unfortunately these were not converted, but on many occasions, this was due to determined defence or good goalkeeping.

Probably our best chance came in the 26th minute when following good build-up work, a ball across the goal from the left wing to the right side of the box, was headed back into the goalmouth. It needed cool opportunities to find the net, but unfortunately the ball just cleared the crossbar. Don't write this team off yet, they can score goals — have a look at the table — and they showed today what I have always believed — they can play good football. I am sure their coach was pleased with the performance, even if not with the result.

RESERVES:

Mitchelton 0 v Newmarket 2

A disappointing start for us when in only the seventh minute, trying to build an attack on the right, we conceded possession. They had a man spare and wasted no time attacking up the left and our keeper could only parry the shot for the man following to put away the rebound. Their second goal came in the 24th minute from a cross from the right which our keeper surprisingly misjudged and the scramble behind him found the ball in the net. There were few real opportunities created from then although I thought we started better in the second half, we could not find the net.

Newmarket sent a header from a corner flying goalwards 15 minutes from fulltime, only to find our keeper well positioned to take it safely in his arms. He came to the rescue again in injury time when he made a good save and recovered in time to save a second shot.

FOURTH DIVISION:

Mitchelton 0 v North Pine 2

Last time we met North Pine was a rescheduled game under lights and I predicted then a possible top four spot for them by the end of the season. They are a young team and fit combination who are getting their act together. Today they had us under pressure from the kick-off and only good keeping and determination restricted the scoreline.

It was not all one-way, we did create chances but failed to capitalise. Unfortunately we had to play a man short for a while when Glenn Bartkowski who was having a very good game, suffered a nose injury during the first half and then had to be replaced at halftime. Their first goal was scored into the resultant one and a half minutes into the first half injury time when a shot from the left was put wide of our keeper. His outstretched hand could only deflect it just inside the post. Good switches of play from left to right and back again earned them their second goal in the 24th minute of the second half. Probably our best chance was lost when an unfortunate error resulted in an off-side ruling, but the advantage was gone.

A Letter to the Editor . . .

Dear Sir,

Although I am now a former Lions official, I am sure I speak for the club when I say Sam McGregor is welcome at Richlands every day of the week. He is one of the few faces that were there when the National League started and will be there when the curtain goes down at the end of this season. Sam always occupies a position farthest away from the main crowd and enjoys his football more than anyone else I have seen at a game. If A. Jervis (ex-ref) doesn't like what Sam says or writes, then don't sit near him or read his letters,

ROCHEDALE REPORT

INTERMEDIATE LEAGUE: Rochedale 4 v Sunnyside 0

It took just 45 minutes for Rochedale to gun down a shell-shocked Sunnyside United in one of the best halves of attacking football seen at Underwood Park by a senior Rovers team.

Goals from Kevin Coleman, John Fox and two from Jim Kelly within the first half gave the players and the spectators plenty to talk over at halftime. Rochedale were relentless and ruthless in executing any attack. The visitors must have been somewhat embarrassed as the barrage of attackers poured on the early pressure and ran at will into the box looking for the early strike. It came soon enough . . . after a half chance the ball rolled towards the edge of the box and for the first time this season, Kevin Coleman was able to wind up his favoured left foot and send his shot straight and true into the back of the net.

Soon after, it was Foxy's turn to get on the scoresheet. John had already had two previous efforts cleared off the line and it was a case of third time lucky when after a good lead-up work down the right flank, Jim Kelly unloaded short and square for John to hit first time in his stride. The ball curled across goal and away from the keeper and went comfortably inside the far post.

Jim Kelly, who was kept quiet in the last fixture was on hand to take both opportunities that came his way. Up until now, Jimmy was keeping the attack going, ably supported in the air by Gary Carter, when after a cross from Brian McNichol he headed in off the far post. His second goal came in similar circumstances and was equally well-taken. The second half was not to be the spectacle of the first and developed into a more even contest with few frills. It was however in similar first round matches that we failed to "go on with the job" when playing teams in the lower half of the table. So from this aspect, we were heartened by this performance which was a good character builder for the team.

Nigel Lownds' only real job of the night is worth a mention. A shot from a Sunnyside attack midway through the first half from outside the box was all but in. With virtually no time to react and the ball screaming towards the net through a crowd of players, Nigel somehow managed to parry the shot to safety. With goal difference being of importance, we may look to this save as a vital one. Special mention to Gerry McMahan, Steve Donald and Key Coleman, who were outstanding in defence. Rarely were they caught out and they also injected themselves with menace into the attack. Despite the high of the night's game, let's not forget it is still a week-by-week proposition with all League positions still very shaky.

Reserves: The Reserves probably blew any chance of reaching the semis when they were beaten 4-1 by Sunnyside.

Fourth Division: The Fourths stretched their unbeaten run to 11 games when they defeated Griffith University 4-2. Goals from Mark Korst, Jim Swason, Gary Elwood and Jeff Robinson ensured the valuable two points.

P.S. Welcome back, Harry.

CZECHS GO DOWN

Hosts Malaysia upstaged favourites Czechoslovakia 3-0 to win the 30th Merdeka soccer tournament.

The Malaysians led 1-0 at the interval. The Czechs, making their debut in the tournament, were the early aggressors and had a good opportunity in the 10th minute but Zdenek Koukal shot straight into the hands of Malaysian goalkeeper R. Arumugam.

The Malaysians, who scored in the last minute of extra time to win their semi-final against Japan on Friday, had their first look at goal in the 15th minute but ace striker Zainal Abidin could only attempt a tame shot which was easily caught by Zdenek Tulis.

The Czechs wasted a nice chance in the 25th minute when Koukal shot wide with Arumugam and his defence in disarray.

Three minutes later, off a stunning counter-attack, the Malaysians opened accounts.

Zainal, who raced into the Czech penalty box, was brought down by Oto Vyskocil, and referee Jasim Mandi of Bahrain pointed to the spot. Wong Hung Nung easily converted the penalty.

The Czechs, who also went into extra-time to defeat India in the semi-finals on Friday, had their chances but forwards Machala Oldrich, Koukal, Ladislav Kucernak and Roman Sedlacek wasted them.

The Malaysians increased their lead to 2-0 in the first minute of the second half when Zainal Abidin volleyed in a centre by Nassir Yusof from the right flank, giving keeper Tulis no chance at all.

BRISBANE SOUTH TABLES NEXT WEEK

OLYMPIC AIRWAYS NATIONAL SOCCER LEAGUE OF AUSTRALIA

BRISBANE CITY v BRISBANE LIONS

Spencer Park, Sunday, 3 p.m. Referee: BILL MONTEVERDE

Brisbane City has six reasons to beat Lions in this derby match — possibly the last time the two clubs will ever meet in the national competition.

Six is the number of goals Lions put past City in the first round derby at Richlands. The 6-1 defeat was then a record loss for City and to avenge that result is surely the only motivation Billy Wilkinson's side should need this weekend. Lions on the other hand also have much to play for. For four years now they have regarded themselves as a better side than City. The current standings of the two clubs doesn't suggest that. Both are on 10 points in equal second last place in the Southern Division.

XXXX LEAGUE — ROUND 14
MT. GRAVATT v LIONS

Dittmer Park, Sunday, 2.45 p.m. Referee: DAVE NUGENT

TEAMS

After a few weeks in the doldrums, Mount Gravatt really hit form last weekend when they tore apart defending champions Ipswich United at Ebbw Vale.

Even Ipswich United coach Matt Carson had words of high praise for the Hawks showing and predicted that if they could continue the form to the end of the season there would be few who could stop them.

While Mount Gravatt coach Eric Thompson refuses to look that far ahead, he too last weekend could not hide his admiration for his team's effort. It was a classic Mount Gravatt performance.

If the Hawks can show the same commitment and finishing this weekend they will storm Lions, who were un-impressive in going down to Olympic United last weekend. Few Lions players seem to have much motivation at the moment and that could prove costly against the hungry Hawks.

OLYMPIC U. v GRANGE THISTLE

Goodwin Park, Sunday, 2.45 p.m. Referee: GARTH GOODWIN

TEAMS

About a month ago Olympic United slipped very quietly into the top four.

And now with the end of the season only a month away, Juan Cutillas' side is still there, still hanging around quietly, still picking up the points.

Low key has been Olympic's approach all season, and a few hiccups aside, the results have come their way. This looms as another match in which Olympic can pick up points.

But Kim Cox's Thistle will be no easy beats. It should not be forgotten they beat Easts a fortnight ago and lost to Coalstars only in the dying minutes last weekend. The young side is growing in stature and will be a team of the future. But Olympic are the team of the moment and should be too strong.

XXXX LEAGUE — ROUND 14 COALSTARS v EASTS

Bundamba, Sunday, 3 p.m.

Referee: ALAN KIBBLER

These two teams have dominated the competition this season, and but for a recent lapse by Easts, this match could well have been a premiership decider.

Coalstars could still go close to clinching the title by scoring a convincing win and banishing their rivals further down the table.

Easts though, after three losses on the trot, must win to keep the flag hopes alive. The Tigers were very unimpressive in being outplayed by Taringa last weekend. Coach John Sime will be looking for a marked improvement and more commitment this weekend.

Coalstars waited until the last five minutes to beat Thistle last weekend, but then did it in style with two great goals. This game should be tough but the home ground advantage should see Coalstars through.

XXXX LEAGUE — ROUND 14 WYNNUM v TARINGA R.

Maramba Stadium, Sunday, 2.45 p.m.

Referee: LEE HANNA

Taringa underlined they are far from a finished side this season when they swept aside Easts last Sunday.

Iain Kesson's "Turkeys" showed a great commitment and will to win, something which was lacking in the Tigers' effort.

Taringa's scoring duo — Calvin Daunt and Phil Mulvey — engineered the win and now have 19 goals between them for the season. But Mulvey will be absent this weekend, because of a skiing trip. How that affects Rovers strike power remains to be seen.

Wynnum's 1-5 loss to North Star last season was the side's first real thrashing of the season and the test of the team's character will be whether it can pick itself up off the floor. But Taringa might be a bit too strong.

This match heralds a big week for North Star.

The clash with Ipswich United offers Iain Fagan's side with the opportunity to get right back into the premiership race after an indifferent month.

And then next week North Star attempt to win the Ampol Cup for the third consecutive time. Fagan says his team is taking every match as it comes, and winning this weekend is their first priority.

If Ipswich United are as uncompetitive as they were last Sunday against Mt. Gravatt, they will be easy pickings for North Star. But it is unlikely Matt Carson will let his side perform so poorly on consecutive outings. This one could be close, perhaps a draw.
