The Queensland squad to tour Fiji appears certain to play a game in Brisbane in the week prior to its departure for the three-match Test series.

State coach Bruce Stowell is yet to finalise the opponents for the trial game but wants to play "the strongest opposition possible". He declined to comment on whether that would be the Lions NSL team which contains nine players who were members of the Queensland team which toured New Zealand last season. The other option open to Stowell is to play one of the intercity teams or perhaps a combination of players from two or all of the representative sides.

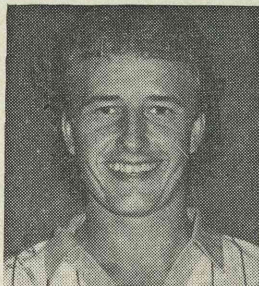

"I will be finalising the match on my return from the national youth championships next week," Stowell said. Although originally believing a trial game would not be possible before the tour, Stowell now believes it is vital to Queensland's chances of success in Fiji and has stressed to the QSF that all efforts must be made to organise a match for the touring squad.

"There is going to be a lot of new faces in the squad who may have not done before what I am going to ask them to do. For those players to fully understand what is required, they have got to be put into a match situation," Stowell said.

After watching the intercity matches between Brisbane, Gold Coast and Ipswich over the past week, Stowell admits he still has some tough decisions to make. And he revealed the midfield was causing him most concern.

DAMIEN IS OUR CAPTAIN

Brisbane and Mount Gravatt defender Damien Butler will captain the Queensland under 19 team at the Australian Youth championships which start in Sydney next week.

Six players who played their soccer in country areas last season are in the final 16, which has been in camp this week and played two trial games — including one in front of national Youth coach Les Scheinflug.

The Qld Under 19 squad is: Domenic Potter (Ips U), Andrew Hobbs (G T), Mark Geritz, Darren Freiberg (E), Butler (Mt G), Andrew Stillman, Clayton Koch (Pine R), Guy Rigby (R'pton), Craig Thompson, Chris Slater, Troy Cranney (C'stars), Glenn Sheppard (Acacia R), Shane Haddow (Nth St-AIS), Michael Clarkson (R'dale), Greg Bell (Mackay), Martin Perrett (Cairns).

Queensland is grouped with defending champions Victoria, Northern NSW and Australian Capital Territory. The Young Maroons finished fifth last year and Stowell believes it will be "a success story" if his team can finish third or better.

He points out the NSW and Victorian teams have been training together since before Christmas and are expected to dominate the titles. South Australia, which now has a state soccer institute, also is expected to be tough.

POINTS TO PONDER

Did the QSF know something? Had there been fixtures scheduled over Easter, most would have been washed out.

Which Division Two coach has backed his team for $200 at 5-1 to make the semi-finals? And we thought he was just an insurance whiz.

It's hardly a record about which to boast, but it took one Slacks Creek Division Three player just three rounds to register the season's first points suspension. A four-pointer in each match ensured he misses this weekend's fixture. It might be timely to remind him of the increased penalties introduced this season for players accumulating 12 points more than once.

Which QSF official has a 100 per cent attendance record at the Broncos home matches?

One promising young player was given a costly lesson in attitude last week. After making the State U19 final 16, he missed the first training session and failed to notify the team officials as to why. He suddenly found himself out of the team.

Full marks to Gold Coast officials for their part in the organising of the intercity series. The food after the Brisbane match could have fed an army and many spectators as well as players and officials benefitted from the tasty Domino Pizza sponsorship.

Anyone looking for a bit of entertainment could do worse than take in a Division Six game this weekend. In just three rounds, the division has provided 98 goals. Beenleigh and Deception Bay have been leading the way in the goalscoring stakes while Woodridge Rodecol, Kingsridge and Goodna have played the other, and more unfortunate part, in the entertainment bonanza.

GEOFF STEAD

The importance of Queensland winning the interstate match on June 13 took on a new significance after the debacle at Lions last Saturday night.

There could have been no worse a time for the Lions players to fall in a heap than on Frank Arok's first visit to Queensland in three years. Everything he has said about Queensland soccer and its players was highlighted in the 5-1 thumping by St. George.

And that is sad for Lions and for Queensland soccer.

We all know that the Lions players are better than that result. We all know there are players in our state, who if given the chance, could serve their country well. We know we have been given a raw deal in seeing the national coach just once in three years.

The only way we can gain the upperhand in the argument again is to thrash New South Wales. Only a convincing win and a stylish performance can hope to restore the credibility of Queensland soccer in the eyes of Frank Arok.

But the debacle and backlash of last Saturday's NSL result highlighted a point which our administrators have known but until now have refused to address. Queensland soccer is judged, both inside and apart from the code, by the performance of our National League team. Last Saturday night's loss was a defeat for Queensland as much as a routing of Lions.

We cannot solely rely on Bruce Stowell to perform yet another miracle on June 13. Those at Richlands and Perry Park must bury the hatchet and begin working together to get Lions winning. And they must start this week.

Queensland can win all it likes in Fiji, it won't count a razoo if back at home Lions are getting thumped in the National League. While we are part of the competition, we are a chance of getting players in the Socceroos side. To be relegated out of it again ends any hope.

When was the last time Western Australia had a player in the national squad?

By QSF Executive Director
ALAN VESSEY

ACROSS MY DESK

The success of the intercity series has not just happened and has been a result of considerable pre-planning.

On the QSF front, it was decided to slot the games into our soccer calendar on dates that ensured the matches had a specific purpose in addition to being representative fixtures. In the case of the matches over the past week, they were trials for the Queensland tour of Fiji.

The importance of the matches was reflected in the quality of play and attitude of all involved.

The other factor which contributed towards the success of the intercity matches of the past two Wednesdays was the tremendous amount of work put in by the Gold Coast officials. Their promotion and organisation was a credit to them.

The QSF will look at the expansion of the series, and sponsorship, but the success of any format will be directly relative to the incentives offered to the players. And there is no greater reward than a state team shirt.

TALKING

Are we playing soccer or are we attempting to revive the ancient sport of fighting each other to the death?

Two incidents I saw over the past fortnight have left me wondering. And I am still disgusted that the proper action has yet to be taken against the offenders in both cases.

Soccer is such a beautiful game and as such will attract spectators if it is played properly. But if we allow sheer thuggery into the game, and allow the perpetrators to escape virtually unscathed, then we are putting soccer on a knife's edge. On one side is sport and on the other a debacle.

I don't have to mention names because anyone who has an interest in the game will know the two incidents I am talking about. One took place in an Olympic Games qualifying match and the other in a XXXX League game.

Both players, and I use that term loosely as both are no more than hitmen, should be ashamed of their behaviour.

I am enjoying being a XXXX League spectator this season and gladly pay my $3 at the gate to be entertained.

And in the last round of fixtures I saw a ballplayer demonstrating the skills that will bring me and others back every time. But I was sickened to see the player, the entertainer, the man who is earning money for his club, cruelly taken out of the match.

These type of tactics reduce the game to nothing and spectators will leave our grounds in droves if they are allowed to continue.

There are three areas of responsibility in stamping out undesirable roughhouse tactics.

The Coach is the one who sends his players out with certain instructions or tactics. Are our offenders having their behaviour initiated at this level?

The Player is the next to go under the microscope. Is he ignoring the footballing tactics of his coach or can he simply not discipline himself?

The Referee is the final link, and the last hope, in the chain of responsibility. If a referee gives a freekick then he must have seen the offending incident. Why then can he not take the action available to him and the only protection on the park for those players wanting to play football? — Send the offender off.

If the referee lives up to his responsibility then the administrators can play their part and rid the game of the thugs.

The triangular intercity series is proving a huge success and perhaps its extension could be the re-birth of the State League.

The reason behind the success is that with State team berths on offer, there is much to play for. I have already suggested one curtain-raiser for the interstate match, and under 21 interstate game, which I believe Bruce Stowell is keen to see take place.

But if finances don't cover such a game, why not play a South-east Queensland team against Bundaberg. The SEQ team could be selected from those players involved in the triangular series who miss State team inclusion. It would be a deserved reward for their efforts and I am sure Bundaberg would love to be involved in such a prestigious match.

And perhaps in future years a North Queensland versus South Queensland game could be initiated.

DIVISION TWO: Mitchelton 2 v Wynnum 4:

After forays at both ends we were unlucky to lose Garth Moloney with a pulled muscle very early in the game and Joe Kelly received a cut below the right eye which had to be taped. A cross from Michael Black on the right wing in the 13th minute seemed too long for Brett McDonald near the edge of the

VALLEY TRIDENT

DIVISION TWO:

Valley T. 0 v Acacia R. 4:

This was the biggest defeat by Acacia Ridge for over a decade. It only took them 10 minutes to post their first through David Richardson. In the 40th minute David scored his second. But for two brilliant saves by Paul Antonelli, they could have had a greater scoreline at halftime.

In the 60th minute Acacia Ridge received a dubious penalty. Frank Marenic's attempt was well saved by Antonelli, but the referee ordered a re-take and Ian Proud made no mistake. With 10 minutes remaining Enzo Cupo almost scored but from an acute angle his shot went inches wide of the goalmouth. Ridge scored their fourth goal in the last seconds.

RESERVES:

Valley T. 2 v Acacia R. 3:

Acacia Ridge scored in the 25th minute when Robert Monteverde jumped in and was easily beaten on the righthand side. A well-weighted cross was headed and the ball was going out but the diving keeper Leo Chiamura's body deflected it into the net. Mohammed Rafiq's boomer beat their keeper in the 37th minute. In the 56th minute Acacia Ridge went ahead then scored their third in the 68th minute when our defence made a very poor attempt at clearing off the line. In the 75th minute Sam Dean scored our second from a corner.

THIRD GRADE:

Valley T. 2 v Acacia R. 1:

An Acacia Ridge defender sliced the ball into the net for our first goal. Ridge scored their equaliser just before halftime and in the 70th minute Corrada Alba made a challenge and Adrian Hill fisted the ball to the oncoming Doog's feet and his first time shot gave the keeper no chance.

MITCHELTON STABLETALK

box on the left, until he got in his left foot volley which flew across the goalmouth, through the stunned defence, and into the far side netting.

A long ball through from the re-start, a defensive error, and an opportunist goal made it 1-1. Then 10 minutes later a converted penalty gave them the lead. Wayne Marstella had no trouble converting his penalty in the 36th minute to even it up again.

They went ahead again in the 73rd minute with a powerful low drive which flew up from the keeper's hands and deflected in off the crossbar. Wynnum's fourth goal in the fourth minute of injury time came when we had a player off being treated for obvious severe cramps after he had been on the ground for one and half minutes with treatment denied.

RESERVES:

Mitcheleton 0 v Wynnum 1:

A repeat of last week's performance where everything was keenly contested. If and when this team, who have only had a few camps together, get their act together, they could well provide a few surprises. The decider came in the 25th minute in a two-on-one situation when our keeper came out well. But the ball fell for the second runner with an open goal. Good defence broke up numerous attacks and good keeping denied the real chances.

SAMFORD R.

DIVISION FOUR:

Samford 0 v Albany Ck. 1:

We could easily have won this match. John Kearney, back after a serious knee injury, found the crossbar with a glancing header early in the game and later hit the upright twice. Albany Creek scored a first half goal after a defensive mix-up left the keeper no chance. Samford's defence was solid with Greg Affleck and Rod Thompson tireless. Keeper Jason Wyeth was tidy without being called on to make a difficult save. A missed penalty also didn't help. Best for Samford were Kearney, Affleck and Thompson while Steve Forsyth worked hard.

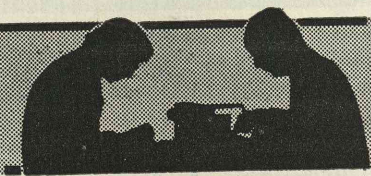

RESERVES:

Samford 3 v Albany Ck. 3:

In a match played for the most part in pouring rain, Samford led 3-1 after goals by James and Dave Clarke and Gary Schafer before letting Creek back in for a draw.

FACE TO FACE.

WITH SOCCEROO COACH, FRANK AROK

GO SOCCER: This is your first visit to Queensland since April 25, 1985. Do you think your absence has given Queensland-based players a fair opportunity to push for national team inclusion?

FRANK AROK: In a time when the Brisbane teams were still playing in a first division and before that in the National League they had a disastrous season, the selection method we have been using is that someone is consistent, playing in a high standard and in a winning team. That wasn't the case in Brisbane. But I still had one of your players in the squad for the tour of China. He played well but when his team was relegated, I couldn't maintain his position. With the two teams playing in the local competition and not the National League, it was not the best starting position for anyone to make the national team.

GS: The last time you were in Brisbane you said Alan Hunter was too overweight to play in the national team. Given that Hunter is now only fractionally lighter than he was then, what has changed?

FA: Hunter lost in our camp eight and half kilos and still wasn't really in line to be included and he is still in a broad squad of 32 players. He was lucky only because of the injury to Robbie Dunn. It is not to do with coming from Melbourne or Brisbane or anywhere. If you are a good player only a fool would really be stubborn enough not to use him. I tend to think I am not a fool.

GS: Reaching the Olympic finals is a tremendous achievement for the Socceroos. But the Australian sporting mentality will be for them to compete for a medal in Seoul. What can we expect from your team at the Games?

FA: I am not worried about the Australian mentality because we are always competing in World Cups where six to eight teams compete — I am talking about rugby league, rugby union, cricket. But really Australia hasn't got a chance to compete with distinction for a gold medal in any sport. This time everyone will be there and I don't think Australian sport will be proud of its achievements at the 1988 Olympic Games. Our achievements are already bigger than the other sports because we are there in the final 16 out of 122 starters, so we have done something already. Luck will be very important, and the groupings will have a big bearing on what we are going to achieve over there.

GS: Had you failed to qualify for the Olympics, your national team job could have been in jeopardy. How can you continue when you know there are people involved who a month ago were waiting to sack you, and why did you turn down the reported rich offer from Israel?

FA: People are not aware that we are a big family, the national team. The rapport between the players and the coaches is very important. I was never worried about my job and I am not worried now. I was always absolutely certain we would go to the Olympic Games and as a competitive person, I am always competing for everything in life. Regardless of what you are trying to achieve in life with details put on paper or some kind of signed agreement or contract, if you are not producing the goods, you will be sacked. I wasn't worrying about another three years or whatever. I think everywhere in the world if you are producing results and new players and that's what we have done, and that's just not myself. It is a good trademark of the coaches. I am a very relaxed person and if they can get someone better good luck to them. The Israel offer is better than what they are reporting. But we decided to go to the Olympic Games and I will be over there. I also have decided to lead the team against Brazil, Argentina and Saudi Arabia and that is a big thrill in my life. I have targets and I am working towards them. At the moment I am not interested in anything else.

GS: The ASF promised you will be in Brisbane for the Queensland-NSW game on June 13. Will you come to Perry Park, and is it an opportunity for any players involved in the match to force their way into the squad, or do you intend to stick with the same players for Seoul?

FA: One game, or two games, or five games or even 10 games would not change my mind about a player. The players in any team should be able to produce one or two good years. Look for example, nine players in my starting line-up never missed a game because of injury or suspension or anything. I am not looking at a player to produce a brilliant performance in one game then nothing for six or seven weeks. The likes of Olver, Savor, Jennings, Yankos, McDowall, Grino, Wade, Farina, Arnold, they are ready every time. They never have a bad game, they give everything, that is the type of player I want. If someone plays well in one game it doesn't mean anything. It is a winning team, a winning player who is always setting a high standard. Unfortunately, what has happened with soccer in Queensland, its ups and downs all the time, no real stability in the whole thing. It is hard, hard on players. If I have a club game there is no chance in the world I will come to Brisbane for the interstate match. But if we have no game on that day, I will be here.

DIVISION THREE:

Lutwyche U. 2 v St. Albans 1:

This win maintained Lutwyche's undefeated home record which stretches back to the beginning of 1936. St. Albans led 1-0 at the break with the first half dominated by bookings for wild and late tackles. Halftime motivation from player-coach Greg Vitulano spurred Lutwyche to better form after the break but St. Albans soaked up the pressure until the final 20 minutes when two flashes of brilliance saw the Toowoomba team go home empty-handed.

Vinnie Antonini played a brilliant ball through for Anthony Napoli, who ignored the pressure of a defender, to chip the oncoming keeper with the class

TOOWONG

By The Phoenix

A convincing 3-0 away win over RAAF kept Toowong's 100 percent record intact in Division Four.

The scoring was opened by the consistent Trevor Bray, whose first-half strike was followed in the second by Neil O'Connor-Cox with a penalty and Stuart McCrae.

Bad news for Stuart and for the club, however, was that the match might be his last for some time because of recurring knee problems. Midfielder Graham Tone was instrumental in the build-up to all three goals before being substituted late in the game.

In a spirited second half, goalkeeper Kosy Varfis also earned credit with two good saves.

A crashing angled drive into the roof of the net by Robert Apolloni highlighted a comfortable 3-0 win by the reserves.

The goal, early in the second half, followed strong pressure in which the only first-half reward was a goal neatly tucked away by David Bray after a quick break caught the RAAF defence flat-footed. ...

Apolloni clinched the points with a third goal but once again the score could have been higher but for missed chances. At the other end, central defenders Peter Bridges and Dave Scholes turned in solid efforts that ensured RAAF had few opportunities.

LUTWYCHE LINES

of a European professional. With two minutes remaining, Antonino squared a low, hard cross for Adriano "Reggi" Regano to put into the net.

RESERVES:

Lutwyche U. 2 v St. Albans 9:

The Toowoomba team deserved its victory here. United never got going. Scorers for Lutwyche were Adnen Katakovic and Tony Pagano.

PINE HILLS

DIVISION FOUR:

Pine Hills 2 v Logan C. 3:

Three points wasted! We led 2-1 and were playing well but finished 2-3 down and struggling. Why? Our marking was below standard and our workrate not sufficient or consistent enough. On the positive side, there were glimpses of what we can do and some fine individual performances. Both our goals were tremendous solo efforts with Francois Boule scoring the first after a bustling run across the goalmouth and the second by Peter Tong, who beat two men and drove the ball home from 25m. Replacement goalkeeper Stuart Stephenson also gave a fine performance and worked overtime with determination.

RESERVES:

Pine Hills 8 v Logan C. 0:

We gained more than three points from this win, we gained confidence on the ball and with each other. Our passing was good but we didn't talk consistently and our concentration lapsed at times. The game was a fine example of teamwork but it is hard to ignore the hat-tricks from Kevin Boan and Kenny Bowden and two goals from the ageless Gilbert Bechart while coach Mike Melberg must be pleased with the instant success of his team.

Easter eggs are understandable, but Easter flowers? Still, a red-faced QSF office worker didn't seem to mind last Thursday but pointed out they were from "Ian" and not "Andrew" as we had linked her with in a recent item.

Is there more to a long, tall Lions official's visit to the land of the long, white cloud this week?

This week's guest is Brisbane and Easts midfielder, Craig Collins. Last week's guest, Brisbane City's Wayne Evans, scored a success rate of 58%. The success rate, including that in the guests' column, is a progressive average.

XXXX LEAGUE — ROUND 4

NORTH STAR v BRIS. CROATIA

O'Callaghan Park, Saturday, 6 p.m.

Referee: BILL MONTEVERDE

North Star have been a free-scoring team of late scoring seven goals in the last two outings.

And against a defence which is currently the second worst in the League, Iain Fagan's team must fancy themselves to get a few more, particularly at home.

But while things have not gone Croatia's way in the opening rounds and they are yet to post their first point, their team includes a number of players who cannot be taken lightly.

Joe Cairney, Mick Gerritsen, John Russell and Brett Beves boast between them an incredible amount of experience while the Valle brothers, Claudio and Danny, are yet to show Brisbane their best.

But in Ross and Ken Swan North Star have two busy players, who along with the ageless Gerry Lindsay, should dominate the match.

COALSTARS v TARINGA R.

Referee: TONY SLATER

Perry Park, Saturday, 7 p.m.

There will be a lot of feeling in this match with a few former Taringa boys keen to score against their old club.

Mark Gilbert, Calvin Daunt and Frank Byrne were signed by Coalstars from Taringa. Of the trio, Byrne has been in the best goalscoring form and has two already this season.

Taringa broke through for their first win of the season in the last round against Olympic. But the victory was not unexpected as Rovers has turned in two good performances prior without earning any points.

In the pre-season, the two teams played a 2-2 draw at Perry Park with Taringa's Chris Fegan scoring from a freekick in the final minute. This match could be just as tight, and a few goals again would not surprise.

Brisbane City is the only team in the League that can still boast a perfect record and have a handsome goal difference to match.

Rochedale led City on the table for the first two rounds, but came back to earth a week ago when defeated by North Star. This match looms as a real test of the character within John Reid's young side.

For some City players, who perhaps did not go as well as they would have hoped in the intercity game, it may be a last chance to push for State team inclusion.

Keiran Cooper netted a hat-trick in the last round and netted five against Rochedale last season. The Irishman will be determined to get among the goals again this weekend to further enhance his Fiji tour claims.

Olympic United are starting to make a habit of playing well at the beginning and end of the season.

As in past seasons, they went extremely well in the pre-season and this year even carried that over to the first fixture. But since then they have fallen into a form slump.

Mount Gravatt on paper had the toughest opening three matches of any side in the competition and have not done so badly to emerge with four points. They could easily have had more.

The Hawks are likely to be without injured Simon Ireland and their attack will be weaker for his absence. In losing two games, Olympic have conceded only three goals and past matches between these two sides always have been close.

Next games: Ipswich U. v Olympic U.
Mount Gravatt v Coalstars

EASTS v IPSWICH UTD.

Heath Park, Sunday, 2.45 p.m.

Referee: GORDON NICHOLSON

For a team that was widely tipped to be among the pacesetters this season, Easts have had a slow start to the fixtures.

Admittedly, the Tigers team that played in the pre-season was not that which began the first fixture, although it seems that situation is slowly changing with Dave Mewburn this week expected to join Billy Mc Dermott in transferring from Wynnum.

But Ipswich United's start to the season has been worse and just one goal in three games is all Jim Hermiston's side can show. That was to be expected considering it takes times for a new coach to organise his players into a new pattern — and the absence of Peter Vogler and Dallas Graham.

Ipswich United are now getting back to full strength, but Easts are also getting back into some rhythm.

Redlands coach Steve Perry pulled a masterstroke in the last round by bringing back Barry Kelso.

The big-man's inclusion at the back helped cover for the absence of Perry and Kevin Coleman. It would surprise if Kelso turned out again in this match, but his presence up front would give Redlands extra firepower.

Thistle seem to be able to do no wrong so far this season and scored more goals last weekend than they did in the first nine rounds in 1987.

Both teams rely heavily on home-grown talent and enthusiasm as much as skill is certain to be evident. In Perry and Thistle coach Steve Dolan are two great players putting something back into the game, and both deserve success.
