Brisbane City are Queensland soccer's club champions for 1988 with a round to spare.

The club's convincing performance against Redlands in all four XXXX grades last weekend clinched the title which City has never won. With one round remaining, City has 174 points across the four XXXX grades from 53 wins and 15 draws.

The only real challenger to City in the final stages of the season for the club title was Grange Thistle, whose strong performances in the lower XXXX grades kept them in touch. Thistle in 84 XXXX grade rounds to date have amassed 157 points from 46 wins and 19 draws. More impressive in Thistle's club championship record is their goal against column. In four grades, the club has conceded only 82 goals and looks set to be the only XXXX League outfit which could finish the fixture season conceding less than 100 goals.

For winning the club championship, Brisbane City will receive a set of strips from Attack and the highly-valued $1000 insurance voucher for next season from Bain Clarkson Pty. Ltd.

City already has clinched the premiership in XXXX League and Colts, while Thistle has wrapped up the title in XXXX Thirds, but this weekend when the two clubs meet at Lanham Park, the most interest could centre on the Reserve grade. Thistle must beat City to snatch the title.

While Brisbane City are the official Queensland club champions, Division Two club Acacia Ridge can lay claim to the "unofficial" title. The club's four teams, the three Division Two grades and Division Seven, have so far amassed 184 points with, unlike City, all teams now set to figure in the finals.

Division Four club Darra also have had a strong season across the board. Although the club fielded only three teams this year compared to City and Ridge's four, they have finished with two premierships and a runners-up title.

Other clubs which have performed consistently over a number of grades include North Star and Coalstars in XXXX League and Inala City in Division Two and Seven.

BE QUICK TO PLAY INDOOR SOCCER 6

Places are filling fast for teams to play in the exciting Soccer 6 indoor tournament at Boondall, starting on October 17.

The tournament will be played on a similar court and rules to that used in the highly-successful XXXX Super 6 tournament in May.

All players registered with the QSF are eligible to play in the tournament, but need not enter teams under their current clubs. Club teams are welcome but composite teams also will be admitted.

Nominations for the tournament close on September 11. The tournament will run for eight weeks and will feature $2500 in prizemoney. For further details and entries contact Promark International on 832 6708.

THREE TRAPS FOR TIGERS

Three areas of concern have been highlighted by some Eastern Suburbs supporters in the draft merger agreement now being discussed between the club and Brisbane City.

A copy of the draft was "leaked" to Go Soccer this week with the contentious points clearly marked.

It is pointed out that under the agreement, City must supply 20 players of NSL standard. Yet the fingerprint reveals that the NSL pool will contain players from both clubs. The objectors point out, rather than City putting in 20 quality players to start with which would ensure there was a surplus of top players flowing back to Easts, City will take the best from the Tigers, combine them with their best for the NSL pool squad and leave Easts with the rest.

While only 14 players can be used on any one weekend by the NSL, the objectors point out, those players ranked 15-20 obviously will not be world beaters.

"It's quite obvious we will be handing over a Stein Grodum to get a Phil Kerr back," an unhappy supporter said.

There also is concern over transfer splits. Under the agreement, if any City player is sold outside of Queensland, City gets the fee. If any Easts player who has appeared in NSL is sold outside of Queensland, the fee is split equally. "They're really kidding on that one," the supporter said.

The other point which irks some Easts supporters is the draft stipulates that the NSL and XXXX squads train at one ground, which almost certainly would be Spencer Park, while all other teams train "at the other venue". "All that means is the best is at Spencer Park and the rest can please themselves," the supporter said. "It would mean some Easts players would have no reason to come to Heath Park all season.

"The whole document is a joke and if Easts sign it they are signing a death warrant for the club."

POINTS TO PONDER

Was the Brisbane Lions end-of-season players party last week by invitation only? It seems some well-known players were either not asked or declined to attend.

The blind leading the blind . . . new ASF supremos Ian Brusasco and Alan Vessey headed off from their central city office last week to a meeting on Sydney's North Shore. After seeing a lot of Sydney and doing a three-lane switch in the middle of Harbour Bridge traffic, they eventually got there.

It could prove to be the mis-match of the season. Kieran Cooper's Brisbane City women's team will play the Brisbane jockeys team at Atlanta Field, Geebung, on Sunday October 2 from 9 a.m. Some of the hoops reportedly are good at riding maidens.

Lutwyche United, who gained much sporting admiration with their extended undefeated run, had their image tainted at Kingsridge last weekend when their player refused to leave the field after being sent-off then proceeded to clash physically and verbally with members of the host club and his own team.

FRONT COVER: Brisbane City's Kieran Cooper (front) shields the ball from North Star's Danny Lobwein. Cooper, who netted a hat-trick last weekend, is now certain to finish the season as the XXXX League leading scorer again.

EDITORIAL

By Go Soccer Editor
GEOFF STEAD

As the curtain comes down on the 1988 season, Queensland soccer finds itself at yet another crossroads.

This season has in many ways proved to be a disappointment following a bumper 1987. While the State team again gave an admirable showing, Lions' NSL season was a tragedy, the standard of the XXXX League plummeted and the contribution offered by many lower division clubs bordered on dis-interest.

And the prospects for 1989 are confusing.

Definitely, we will be without the two leading administrators that have guided the code for more than a decade. We may, or may not, have National League representation.

Filling the executive director's position should not prove difficult. Indications are that a number of qualified people will apply for the job which should ensure the eventual appointee is of the highest standard. But whoever he may be, his job will be infinitely more difficult unless the Council of Clubs selects the right QSF president.

Queensland soccer has had, and continues to need a president of strong personality, innovative ideas and foresight and high community standing who can ensure our code is heard and recognised among the sporting community. The attitude of too many clubs this season has been such that they are likely to jump at the first candidate because that is the easiest solution.

Clubs should realise that the selection of a new president could prove their most crucial decision. It could make or break the code.

Responsibility is what is needed now and is what will be needed in 1989 to cope with a season of uncertainty. The time has come for a few others to put something into the code rather than continually taking.

This is the final edition of Go Soccer for this season, although a Grand Final souvenir program will be on sale at Perry Park on Sunday, October 9.

As Editor, I would like to thank all those clubs that supported the magazine over the weekly correspondence this year, the many others who assisted in providing information throughout the season.

In particular I would like to thank Andy Thompson and the QSF office staff, whom without, the magazine would never appear.

By QSF Executive Director
ALAN VESSEY

ACROSS MY DESK

As this will be my final column in Go Soccer, I would like to take the opportunity to thank all those who have helped and worked with me during my 13 years at Perry Park.

It has been an enjoyable time and I leave with very fond and everlasting memories of Queensland soccer and its many characters.

Soccer in Queensland has much to be proud of and I believe through the work of the management committee and the commitment of many at club and affiliate level, the structure is in place for the code to continue growing.

Through this column, I have aired and highlighted those points I believed were relevant although sometimes overshadowed by more glamorous issues within the game. I would hope that the columns have at least made those within the code, at all levels, more aware of how the QSF works.

After this month, I will no longer be at Perry Park, but in my new role as ASF secretary-general I will still very much be a part of Queensland soccer as the Australian Soccer Federation is the states.

Similarly, and the final point I would wish to make, the QSF is the clubs and the affiliates, and it is they who ultimately decide the policies and direction of soccer in Queensland.

WITH BOBBY HAMILTON, COACH OF PINE RIVERS WHO HAVE WON PROMOTION TO THE XXXX LEAGUE

GO SOCCER: What will be your aim in the club's initial XXXX League season?

BOBBY HAMILTON: My aim wouldn't vary any from the first year I went to the club. And that is to maintain and improve on the standards that have been set at the club. Of course the main thing for us to do is to maintain some kind of stability in the XXXX League and make sure we stay there in the first season anyway.

GS: What kind of team-strengthening will you have to do in the off-season and which current Pine Rivers players do you expect to go well in XXXX League?

BH: I feel I am quite well off in the forward-line department, but I believe I will still need three or four players in the first team squad who are experienced at XXXX League level. Those players I expect to go well include four or five young players who have come up through the club. Players like John Preston, Clayton Koch, Noel Carroll and Steven Kluss, who are all only around 18 years old. And there are quite a few others like John Cartwright who are not old players either. I have built the team around them and I don't think it will take too much more for us to be competitive. If we keep our current squad and add three or four more, then I will be pretty confident of consolidating in XXXX League.

GS: A lot of Division Two clubs have been critical of the offside trap employed by Pine Rivers teams, yet it has won you promotion. Why do you use the tactic and do you think it will work in XXXX League?

BH: That makes me laugh actually and the answer to that is to look at our goals for column. We scored more goals than any other teams in our division so I don't think we can be accused of concentrating on offside. I have never at anytime even mentioned anything about offside. The boys have never been coached on that factor. The only thing that has been said to them is quite simple. If you are playing against a forward line or a team who are prepared to make runs without thinking about the offside, let's not run back and chase back into defensive situations when it is not needed when we can just hold our ground and let them play themselves offside. But even on that point, we have never been through it in training runs. Basically, that's as far as the issue has been discussed.

GS: Pine Rivers have produced some fine young players in Jason Polak, John Koch, Lindsay Dines and Jarrod Austin to mention a few other than those still at the club. Why then has it taken Rivers so long to get into the top Queensland division?

BH: I can't really answer that. Obviously steps have had to be taken to get us playing at the highest level possible simply to encourage players like that and in that mould not to leave but to have the desire to stay at Pine Rivers now that they can be given the highest grade of football in the state. Things probably happened at the club quicker than they expected with top juniors coming through like they did. The club probably only needed a little direction to capitalise on that.

GS: What advice could you give to those clubs which just missed promotion this year in Division Two?

BH: My advice to two or three clubs in the division, would be to try and maintain what they have done this season and try and take it one step further next season. From what I have seen I am pretty sure that the top three or four teams in the Second Division could compete quite favourably in the XXXX League.

GS: After a distinguished career overseas and in the National League with Brisbane City, what motivates you to keep playing and how much longer will you continue in a player-coach capacity?

BH: The simple motivation for me is I love the game. I love being in the game and I love being involved in the game. As far as how long I am going to play, I don't know. But depending on how the squad shapes up next season, I might start filtering myself out then, playing only if or when I am needed.

GS: As a former Brisbane City NSL player, do you think the club can return to the competition next year on their own or do you support that Queensland's only chance is a united front in the NSL?

BH: Although I think a united team in the NSL would be good for Queensland, I can't see it happening in the near-future. I think it is something that is probably needed but with the ethnic bases still at some clubs I don't think it would be possible to amalgamate or join forces. I think if City can get the financial backing they could compete on their own. They have the facilities comparable to anyone's and that is an important factor in my mind as a player. Once they get in they will have to add to the squad they have got and having been there they know the standard required. But I think the hardest thing will be to win the promotion play-offs.

TALKING

It is hard to review this season without being cynical. But as I pondered this week on the highlights in Queensland over the past eight months, I found few events sprung to mind.

Without a doubt, the efforts of the Socceroos in the Gold Cup and qualifying for the Olympics were magnificent, but with not one resident Queenslander in the team, it left me feeling as if we were getting left behind as renewed enthusiasm in soccer was sweeping the southern capitals.

A 17,000 crowd in Sydney for the NSL further enhanced that feeling. Up here, we couldn't wait for the National League season to finish to end our embarrassment.

This is the third season I have written this column in Go Soccer, and yet in that time, where have we gone? If anything, after losing our two top administrators, we now probably find ourselves in a more worrying position than we did in 1986.

The Queensland team and the XXXX Super 6 stand out as the major highlights of this season.

When Bruce Stowell finally got to put out his best state team, they beat NSW. In Queensland sport, that's what counts and given the Blues had several Olympians in their side, the win was a tactical brilliance from Stowell and sheer commitment from his players.

The Super 6 was a type of soccer which finally caught the imagination of the Australian public. The performance of the overseas teams was superb, but the final night clashes between the Australian state sides remain firm in my memory.

It was classic Australian sporting rivalry and showed that given the right circumstances, even exists in soccer.

Need I call yet again for a Sheffield-Shield type soccer competition?

The demise of Ipswich United continues a peculiar record for Matt Carson.

United join Merton-East and Southside Eagles as clubs that have fallen on hard times once Carson has left the scene.

And there are two ways to look at it. Either the man is a brilliant coach whose work could not be matched once he left and the team suffered accordingly.

Or, he is a coach that works purely for the moment, ignoring any kind of long term team building or junior policy.

I believe he is the latter and in terms of trophies won, it is hard to criticise his methods.

But the warnings are there. Anything built from the top without a sound base will topple. In attempting to turn themselves into Queensland's "Super Club", Brisbane City should remember that.

The finals series in the top divisions should be played at Lions' Richlands stadium. The surface at soccer headquarters is a disgrace.

Lions is the best surface in Brisbane and if we want the best football played in our showpiece matches, then the players have got to be given a chance to play.

I realise logistically and as a matter of principle, the finals have to be at Perry Park. But what is wrong there? For so long people have been complaining about the ground, money has been spent on it, yet come every September it is a cow paddock.

People have been slow to nominate for the three courses being run next month by Bruce Stowell and that's hard to understand.

The Level Two coaching course is a must for anyone with a serious involvement in the game. Whether you pass or not is irrelevant, but you surely will learn.

The fitness for Soccer and Injury Prevention courses should be a must for every player, coach and team manager. Both courses are a chance to get expert tuition at a minimum cost.

KINGSRIDGE

up but the send offs — one from each side — of Larry Lazarevski (Kings) and Paul Brennan (Lutwyche). The next ten minutes was a testing period for both teams to adjust to a 10-man side. Kings settled the best and began to pile on the pressure and it wasn't long before the first goal came.

Kings were awarded another penalty from a hand ball with the goal at Rod Pommer's mercy. Pommer took the spot kick and Kings were one goal up. Ten minutes later from a set piece, Paul Welsh put the ball on Astro Boy Andrew Swatton's head for him to score well. Murphy added number three with five minutes to go to the break.

Pommer added the fourth goal in the 15th minute of the second half after a great run from Darren Gray. Murphy had three opportunities to add to the score but he again hit the crossbar, the post and the keeper saved at his feet.

With 10 minutes to go Lutwyche were given a penalty much to the amazement of the players and the crowd. After 90 minutes it was still 4-1 but the referee played five minutes overtime for some reason. Lutwyche scored twice in this period and Kings finished 4-3 winners.

Kings reserves sent Lutwyche home sore, sorry and humiliated 9-nil, to help their chances of a top four place. Before the main game, Kings U10 and U11 teams played a 15 minute exhibition game to delight the crowd, with the U11's winning 4-2.

The Committee ran a multi-draw raffle last Sunday and would like to thank local business Freshy's Fruit Mart from Centrepoint, McDonald's at Woodridge, The Barber's Chair at Kingston, Banjo's Roosters and Ribs at Woodridge and Woody's Records and Tapes from Woodridge Plaza for their very generous donations of prizes. Other prizes came from Lucky's Liquor Barn at Waterford, Diamond Meats (Woodridge Plaza) and Logan City Sportscentre.

REDLANDS WIN

Redlands last weekend won the Brisbane Division One women's grand final, beating Grange Thistle 2-0. Redlands scored a goal in each half, with the scorers Rayann Dower and Lise Hadley.

The last home game of the season will not be forgotten by the Kingsridge supporters.

Kings fielded a depleted side but still wanting the win and from the start they took the game to Lutwyche. It wasn't goals that warmed the crowd

TOOWONG

By The Phoenix

For only the second time in 21 premierships matches this season, Toowong failed to score a goal when they received a 4-0 drubbing from minor premiers Darra.

The match shaped as an even contest for the first 25 minutes but then uncharacteristic defensive lapses were decisively punished as Darra raced to a 3-0 lead by half-time.

The second half produced little football to enthuse over from either side, with the result a foregone conclusion once Toowong had failed to make an early breakthrough.

Although the team will welcome the return of key forward Bobby Russian for the major semi-final against the same opponents in two weeks' time, some back-to-basics lessons will need to be learned for Toowong to reverse the result.

Unfortunately it must also be recorded that the refereeing was less than satisfactory. Crude fouls repeatedly went unpunished, leading to increasing frustration and eventually a send-off for what appeared a trivial misdemeanour.

This did not affect the result of the match but it highlighted once again the difficulty in finding referees of a high standard for the lower divisions.

The reserves turned in one of their better displays to hold the undefeated Darra side to 1-0 until late in the game before going down 3-0.

With strong running by midfielders Ronan O'Connor-Cox, Dirk Lootens and Max Magnussen, Toowong turned in an excellent team effort.

In defence, goalkeeper Sandy Jenner, Peter Bridges, Dave Scholes and sweeper Dave Bray held their own for most of the night against the most prolific forward line in the competition.

CLOSING DATE FOR COURSES

A closing date has been set for applications for the three soccer courses to be held at Perry Park at the end of the season.

Those wishing to take part in any of the courses, which offer something for everyone in the game, are urged to notify the organisers before Monday, October 3.

A Level Two coaching course will be held at Perry Park from October 15. The cost is $70 which includes the invaluable BHP manual.

MITCHELTON STABLETALK

RESERVES:
Mitchelton 2 v Pine Rivers 2:

A corner after four and a half minutes was crossed to Garth Moloney who beat defence and keeper to open the account, but it was another 20 minutes before Moloney had made it 2-0. A lot of doubt was expressed about the 32nd minute penalty and a top save by Peter Underhill seemed a just result. Moloney was in with another chance with two minutes to lemons when he was deliberately restrained by the last defender. The offender gets a yellow card, we get a freekick from 45 yards out and their defence is back into position — the type of offence I believe warrants a penalty.

I was disappointed in the 71st minute when, after their player had been booked, the ref took no action over the player's obvious and persistent dissent. This was not the only instance of double standards displayed. A minute later, a good cross from their left was pounced on by their runner to beat our keeper and it was 2-1. They equalised with a good goal in the 82nd minute, but I believe we were unlucky to finish with only one point.

Rivers seemed to have a slight edge but it was 32 minutes before they had a chance denied by Noel Imison's fingertip control and another two minutes before a well-taken corner gave him no chance with a header. They went further ahead before Scott Campbell pulled one back with an easy goal and Mylo Ward equalled the score. Although they lost a player, they came back to take the points.

THIRD GRADE:
Mitchelton 3 v Pine Rivers 1:

It took less than 10 minutes for us to put David Wallace away to beat the defence and give Ivan Castro an easy goal. They equalised seven minutes after lemons. A good ball from Mark Cruse was put in off the bar by Ron Kidd in the 68th minute. A handball in the 81st minute when Richie Puttock had almost walked the ball in was converted by Kidd.

Croatia's match against Ipswich United at the Croatia Community Centre at Dunn Road, Rocklea this Sunday now looms as our most important game of the season.

After failing in our bid to climb above the last two places and avoid relegation, we now must hinge our hopes of staying in the XXXX League on gaining 11th place and relying on Brisbane City to win the National League promotion play-offs.

Admittedly, it is only a faint hope, but it is one we must play for on Sunday. While we must beat Ipswich United to leap-frog them on the table and be in with a chance of retaining XXXX League status, we also have our own pride to play for this weekend.

At times this year we have played far better than our position suggests but inconsistency combined with a lack of discipline from some players has cost us valuable points. Had the rules have been the same as last year with two points for a win and only one side relegated, we would be going into this match needing only a draw to stay in XXXX League.

But we must be realistic and start thinking about building a strong team for the 1989 season.

Last weekend we played Olympic United, who like Croatia play good thoughtful football. But two goals in the first half ended our hopes of grabbing a win and staging an 11th hour escape bid this weekend.

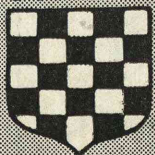

If we play our best football this weekend, we should have no trouble in scoring a final victory and grabbing 11th place. Our team, although down, are not out and need all the support the Croatia Community can offer this weekend.

If we win, we just might be lucky.

XXXX LEAGUE — ROUND 22

BRIS. CROATIA v IPSWICH UTD.

Dunn Road, Sunday, 2.45 p.m.

Referee: HENRY MARRON

The winner of this game will have some hope, for the next few weeks at least, of retaining their place in the XXXX League next season.

If Brisbane City win the NSL promotion play-offs, the 11th team in the XXXX League this year will not be relegated. Ipswich United hold that spot currently on goal difference only.

Croatia must win this clash to grab that thread of hope out of United's grasp.

After such a bleak season, it will be hard for either team to get motivated, but at least by avoiding last place, the winner can finish the year with some kind of consolation.

Croatia beat Ipswich United 2-1 at Ebbw Vale in the first round with all the goals coming in the second half. This one should be just as close.

MOUNT GRAVATT v ROCHEDALE R.

Referee: ALAN KIBBLER

Dittmer Park, Sunday, 2.45 p.m.

After a mid-season relegation scare, Mount Gravatt have rallied well in the final stages of the season and are set to finish a respectable sixth.

It certainly is lower than many Hawks fans would have liked, but considering the upheavals of earlier in the year and the poor mid-season form, the team has done well to add respectability to their season.

They have one more task though to achieve — avenging a first round hiding by Rochedale. After their initial clash was washed out Rovers outplayed the Hawks 3-1 in the rescheduled match at Underwood Park with Craig Low tearing huge holes in the Mount Gravatt defence.

To their credit, Rochedale also have finished the season strongly and after being relegated candidates a fortnight ago, they too are set to finish comfortably in the middle of the table. What rests on this clash is typical derby rivalry.

Speare Park, Sunday, 2.45 p.m.

Taringa's season has been one of high and lows and it is hard to predict how they will play in this game. After being top five candidates, they slipped dangerously close to the relegation zone, recovered then last week dropped points again at Rochedale. Survival was always the club's first aim but consistency must be found in the off-season if Taringa are to achieve anything more.

North Star appear to have put their bad spell well behind them and look to be returning to their best for the finals. Against Grange Thistle last weekend, the score could have been anything on the first half, although Stars slipped in old habits after the break.

Speare Park has not been a happy hunting ground for North Star in past seasons, although Taringa have not used any run of late season home matches to their favour. But if North Star are to be serious finals contenders, they must win this one hand-somely.

If Brisbane City are in any chance of winning the NSL promotion play-offs, they should tear Thistle apart in this match.

City are now at the real business end of the season. Their side has to start playing its best football. They began to show that against Redlands, although against nine men makes it easier, and they must show it in this match.

Thistle are among the least experienced sides in the League. They have missed relegation by a too-close-for-comfort margin. The difference between the bottom of the XXXX League and the National League is even too great to consider.

As such, City's winning margin should begin to reflect that.

In the first round at Spencer Park, City accounted for Thistle with a workmanlike 3-0 win but didn't find the net until after the break. It's got to be goals all the way this time.

Easts were the odd-man out among the top-five sides last weekend when they failed to record a victory.

The Tigers had quite a few players on the sidelines, but winning it what it is all about at this stage of the season and Easts chances of rolling Olympic in the finals will hardly be boosted if they stumble in this match.

Redlands' resources will be stretched to the limit with the sending-off of Barry Kelso and Kevin Coleman last weekend and with the club's XXXX League place guaranteed for next season, nothing would be lost in bleeding youngsters in this match.

Easts scored one of their biggest wins of the season when they thumped four past Redlands in the first round. A similar win would be just the tonic to get the Tigers roaring for the finals.

Redlands' conceded four last weekend and another routing would not be the best way to end the season.

Olympic's run in to the semi-finals has been impressive and a win in their final fixture could set them for a string of upsets in the play-offs.

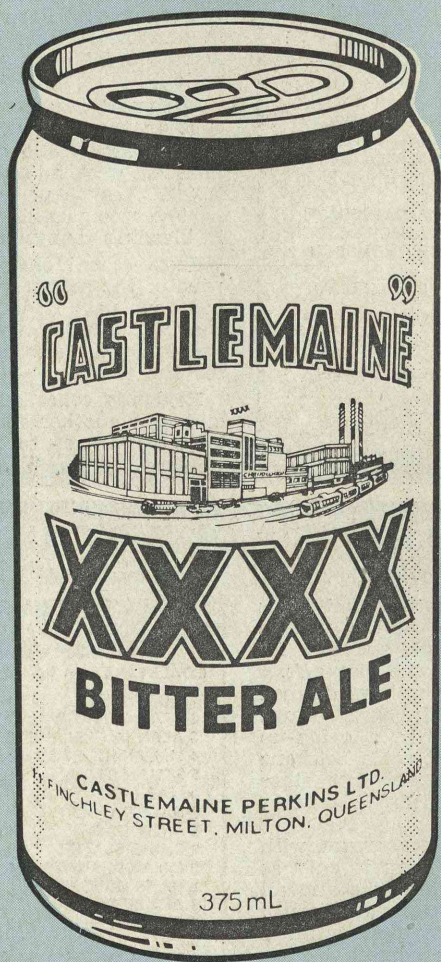

In recent weeks they have downed Brisbane City, North Star, drawn with Easts and City in a catch-up game and have swept aside Brisbane Croatia. They have not lost since being beaten by Rochedale six weeks ago.

Team confidence has grown with each match, but a team is only as good as its last performance and all the good work of the past month could be blown if Olympic suffer a hefty defeat in this game.

And Coalstars are in the mood to rout someone. In their last two matches the Bundamba side has created enough chances to win 10 games. They have had numerous shots cleared off the line and bombed a few opportunities themselves.

If they can keep creating the chances, and they start going in, their opponents could be in real trouble.
