EDITORIAL:

Soccer this season has been badly affected by "wet conditions".

There are still a lot of fixtures to be played if we are to get back on track in time for the scheduled grand final day.

But time spent not playing because of inclement weather needn't necessarily be time wasted.

It's the perfect opportunity for all soccer followers to start boning up on the history of the great game in Queensland.

Soccer in this State has a proud history, a history every player, supporter and lover of the game should know about.

Start off by delving into your own club's history.

Then after whetting your appetite, try researching how soccer first started in Queensland with the first ever club.

You'll find the answer was on an allotment off Melbourne Street in South Brisbane.

This was the base Queensland soccer was built on.

You might also be curious about some of the facts and figures which form the backbone of Queensland Soccer history.

Try some of these on for size - Who has represented Queensland since 1890?; Who were the State captains?; Which Queenslanders have represented Australia?; Who were the Queensland coaches.

Then there are the questions like how many international tours have there been to the Sunshine State?

How many people packed the Exhibition ground to see Graham McMillan lead the Queensland side on to play Manchester United?

Was soccer ever played at the Brisbane Cricket Ground?

Once you start digging you'll be astounded by some of the events which have taken place during the last century or more.

Soccer's great history and the players who made it great should be immortalised in book form.

A museum of memorabilia should be quickly established before many of these historical items are lost for good.

Soccer must not live in the shadow of other sports.

People should be proud of our history, not content in hiding behind it.

Did you also know in 1956 at the Melbourne Olympic Games soccer was played as a competitive sport and five Queenslanders wore the coveted green and gold?

Isn't it time we stood up and were counted? Let's put the history of Queensland soccer on show for everyone to see.

Gather together all the old programs, year books, players' strips, medals, cups and trophies and let's hear from you.

You never know, you might just know something we don't.

June 10 will see the State of Origin match played between Queensland and NSW.

This game marks the centenary of interstate rivalry between Queensland and NSW.

Let's make sure our children's children know where it all began so they can celebrate the 200th State of Origin match in grand style.

CLUB PROFILE CLUB PROFILE CLUB PROFILE

THE GAP PASTIME

The Gap Pastime Club was officially formed on February 17 1955 at a meeting of Gap residents held under the house of the founding President, the late Mr Oliver Twist.

Mr Twist envisaged it as a Club embracing as many sports as possible in order to make The Gap Pastime Club a fitting place for the youth of The Gap.

Since then, while the main sporting activities have been junior and senior soccer, junior and senior cricket, the club has been represented at various times, in men's tennis, basketball, women's softball, soccer and netball.

Affiliation

The Gap Pastime Soccer Club affiliated with the Brisbane and Ipswich S.F.A. in 1956 with one team in the Fourth Division.

The Club initially played at Jubilee Park, Bardon, where they shared the lease with the now defunct Caledonian Soccer Club. Having obtained the lease of the Walton Bridge Reserve in 1959, the club moved to its home ground in 1960.

Currently, there is the main floodlit oval (The O.S. Twist Oval), a minimum sized senior field, and Under-7 and under-8 fields.

The club colours were derived from the name of the suburb, Gold and Purple and the first club coach was Mr Frank Cansick, brother of the former State player Wally Cansick. Under his guidance the club held its own in Fourth Division for a number of years, being promoted to Second Division when a lot of clubs joined the newly formed Q.S.F.

The club's first junior side (under-14) was registered in 1958.

With the residential explosion in The Gap during the 60's and 70's, junior soccer expanded rapidly to our maximum in 1974 of 34 teams.

To supply all these teams with jerseys, balls, coaches, managers and transport was a major undertaking but it is a credit to loyal supporters that the job was accomplished.

With such a large junior "tail" the money to pay senior players was rather scarce and, up till now, the Gap Soccer has been mostly amateur.

It was because we were an amateur club that we were reluctant to join the Q.S.F., but finally joined in 1961.

The Gap's first great season was in 1966 when the first team under coach Joe Menadue won the Third Division premiership Cup, thus gaining promotion to Second Division.

The goalkeeper in that team was Martin Coe. Martin had progressed through the junior ranks and went on to play with First Division clubs, the State team, N.S.W. and Australia.

The Club's red letter day came in the 1987 season when all three grades Third Division, Third Division Reserves and the Sixth Division won their respective Premierships and grand finals.

Because of our amateur status many good junior players have left for the lure of First Division clubs. They include Ross and Ken Swann, Mark Brusasco, Mark Aponas, Mark Gilbert and Jeff Keating.

Other notable people from our club have been Mr Jim Gilbert, now Q.S.F. Secretary, and coaches George Pagan, Jim Bell and Maurio Saftich.

The Gap Pastime Club has always planned for the future with its excellent licensed clubhouse and good ground facilities, and it won't be long before we make that push for First Division status.

REFEREEING INTO THE 90's _____ with DES MILES

Refereeing at youth level

MY entire four year refereeing career has been spent in youth soccer, a level at which many referees will not consider officiating.

Some say youth matches are more difficult to control than senior football, mainly because of the attitude and behaviour of club officials and spectators.

Fortunately, I have had very little trouble to date and like to think that this is due to my positive attitude to each match irrespective of its relative importance.

I remember Ray Hearn saying every match should be treated as though it were a cup final and I have tried to adhere to this basic principle in terms of appearance and attitude.

Most junior games are officiated by team managers or other non-qualified volunteers and teams are always grateful to have a qualified and impartial referee.

Like any other match you are there to be shot at but you can help yourself in various ways.

One is the way you treat your linesmen, who are usually club officials, team managers, unwilling parents or spectators who have been pressed into service.

I always make a point of trying to find out their Christian names prior to kick off and in my pre-match briefing inform them politely that if I detect any bias then I will ignore them.

This is always done in a firm but friendly manner and I never forget to thank them for their help and hope that they enjoy the game.

Always take your own flags - a fair proportion of clubs do not possess any or those that are supplied are invariably unsuitable or grubby.

It is sometimes difficult to pick up a linesman's signal when he is using a dirty handkerchief, a track suit top of, as in one game that I observed, a black dustbin liner!

Of course, spectators are always a potential source of trouble. Females can usually be ignored as their knowledge of the Laws of the Game is normally non-existent - their main concern being (not unnaturally) the welfare of their offspring.

The male element can be a nuisance and it may be necessary from time to time to intervene if touchline arguments or comments are interfering with your control of the match.

A few words with the offending spectators telling them that they are making fools of themselves in front of the young players is generally sufficient but in most cases, such incidents are as a result of their own team's performance and flare-ups are quickly forgotten.

A different attitude to the Laws needs to be applied to youth football, particularly at the very young age levels.

Of course, the Laws still apply but I will bend them if necessary using a common sense approach.

Obviously, the higher the age group, the more experience the players have and consequently you need to apply the Laws more rigidly.

The levels of skill increase as the players get older but bad habits are picked up and need to be dealt with accordingly.

Like the senior game, offsides are probably the most troublesome decisions that you have to make and it is, of course, essential that in your pre-match briefing to your linesmen, you inform them that you have the final decision and the authority to overrule them if in your opinion, the player(s) being flagged offside are neither seeking to gain an advantage nor interfering with play.

It is much more likely that they will accept your decision if they can see that you are looking for their flag in attacking situations and acknowledge clearly that you have seen it.

When penalising offenses, I always tell the players the reasons for so doing and this helps them to understand the Laws, particularly in basics such as throw-ins.

There are, of course, occasions when cautionable offenses are committed, but generally a strong word will suffice, or in more serious cases a suggestion to the manager that the offending player be taken off or substituted.

Having said this, I would not hesitate to send a player off and report it if I felt the offence was serious enough to warrant it - fortunately this has yet to happen to me.

A word of warning - except in cases of dire emergency, do not referee matches in which you have an interest, such as a son or relative playing for one of the teams.

You will inevitably (if unconsciously) be biased, usually towards the other team in an effort to show your impartiality, and such matches are thus best avoided.

For those of you who have not officiated in youth matches, or if you are reaching the end of your active careers, I urge you to consider it.

The attitude of the players is usually good-natured and you can help them to enjoy their football with words of encouragement and a smile.

If just one muddly little urchin comes up at the end of the game and says "Thank you, ref," it makes it all so worthwhile. Alan Hook

FRANKLY SPEAKING

with Frank Liddell

With last week's fixtures being washed out, most teams are in for a very demanding second half of the season.

There is 13 weeks between now and the start of the Grand Final play-offs. Most teams have at least 13 games to play with some having as many as 15 games left.

Thirteen games in 13 weeks should not really pose a problem, but then there is the State of Origin games, Ampol Cup fixtures and the South Pacific tournament to get through as well.

The reason we shortened this season was to allow for a Brisbane entry into the National League. That now seems unlikely to happen in 1990, although the candle still flickers.

What the QSF might have to look at doing if our bid for the National League does indeed fail, is to extend the current fixture season.

This would allow teams to get through their fixtures without putting too much stress on players.

The latest recommendation of a new South-East Queensland league with the teams being structured in a zonal system sounds like a reasonable idea on the surface.

I suppose it could be like our own little National League, but within Queensland, with players being used from teams in a zone to make one strong side.

The idea appears to have had strong support from the management committee, but the biggest stumbling block is still to come.

Any such proposal will need the backing of the Council of Clubs. And anytime there is moves or attempts to change league format or try new ideas, the clubs cannot agree because it may effect them individually.

The suggested new league would be asking some clubs to give up players to the zonal side which would create a situation similar to three seasons ago. Back then Brisbane Lions required entry into the National League and wanted a reserve team in the Fourx League.

The rest of the clubs saw this as a threat to their sides. They therefore knocked it back and we had a National League side with a reserve team in Second Division. This new move to change the league could very well cause the same unrest among clubs.

What a great sight to see Frank "mad-dog" Arok with his young band of hopefuls on television last weekend.

Frank may not be as mad as some people would like to think as this is a fantastic opportunity for these young kids to be virtually full-time professional soccer players, in a country that has only semi-professionals.

If this idea of Arok's works, and I sincerely hope it does, then we may eventually see more full-time professional teams in Australia.

It may have the opposite effect being just a breeding ground for overseas teams to continue poaching our top players.

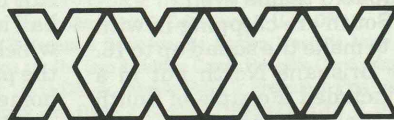

There was an interesting situation in Italy two weeks ago when Fiorentina sold their star player to Juventus for 17 Million Dollars and caused a riot outside their headquarters. We may wonder why there is so much value put on players around the world.

But in the Italian league it has been proven if you want to be competitive it costs money.

Just last week A.C. Milan won the European Cup and completed a clean sweep for Italian clubs in Europe.

Sampdoria and Juventus won the Cup, Winners Cup and the E.U.F.A. Cups respectively.

But the underlining factor in the strength of the Italian League is that the league title was won this year by Diego Maradonna's Napoli, and not any of the teams who cleaned up in Europe.

WOMEN'S SOCCER

KITCHING

A NAME SYNONYMOUS WITH SOCCER

Most long time soccer supporters, especially in the Ipswich area would know the name Kitching.

In the 1930's and 40's "Fats" Kitching was the goal-keeper for Bundamba Rangers.

His representative career was still on a high at 34 years of age when he represented his country.

"Fat's" son George, was also a great stalwart of Ipswich soccer.

He was a representative for Ipswich as a youngster and played goal-keeper for Coalstars as a young man.

George was also President of Coalstars Soccer Club from 1981 to 1986.

Two other Kitching boys, Spencer and Colin, fairly distant relations, were also great names in Ipswich Soccer. Colin was playing around the early 1960's about the time of the formation of the Queensland Soccer Federation.

Now in 1990, the Kitching name still lives on in Ipswich soccer circles.

George has two daughters, Belinda and Tamara, both of whom play for Coalstars.

Belinda is playing in the Second Division side and Tamara holds her place well in First Division.

Both girls are currently members of the Under-16 Queensland squad and both are representing their school in the Regional Schoolgirls Team.

Tamara has only played for two years and Belinda for three, but I would say the talents of Grandfather "Fats" and dad George have well and truly been passed down to these young girls.

We will see great things from them in the future, I'm sure.

While of the subject of Women's Soccer at Coalstars, I'm pleased to report that all three of the Women's teams there have secured sponsorship.

Boral Industries have sponsored the First Division, Pioneer Concrete the Second Division and Cobb & Co Grill Bar at the Royal Mail Hotel, Goodna, are supporting the Fifth Division.

Coalstars have continued their involvement with the training of junior players.

The Fifth Division has three players who turn 14 before July, four aged 13, three aged 12, one aged 11, two aged 10 and one 8 year old.

This team is holding their own against older players having two draws and two losses in their first four games.

The club also has players in the West Moreton team for Women's State Titles and the Under-16 team for the State Titles and there are four girls in the Second Schools Regional Team.

And all womens players at the club are very fortunate to have Mr Keith Barclay, a driving force behind women's soccer, at Coalstars.

He has been on the Women's Executive for many years and is a Life Member of the Association.

I hope there is someone at Coalstars with very big feet because when Keith retires next year, his shoes are going to be very hard to fill.

They will need someone with boundless energy, total commitment and a great love of the game to replace him.

JUNIORS IN THE LIMELIGHT

Q.S.S.S. FEDERATION

State Championships

Things are moving along nicely in preparation for the Boys' and Girls' Championships with venues and selections well under way.

Not a lot of information has come my way yet, but I have been informed that Justin Playle will make an appearance for Brisbane South and Darren Bender has been seen at the Brisbane North trails.

Justin played well in Adelaide last year for the Qld Schoolboys and Darren was named as a shadow player.

Both were contenders for last year's trip to Germany.

This year the South Coast Region has taken on the job of producing a President's side to make the draw in the Girls' competition up to 8 teams even.

Brisbane South are chipping in with a few players to make the squad up to 16.

Last year Brisbane North put in a team which included a couple of South Coast girls to make up the numbers.

This allowed us to give 16 more girls a run in the Championship and maximum participation.

South Coast and Sunshine Coast could be the two teams to watch again this year, but West Moreton and Brisbane North are sure to be competitive.

Brisbane North will be minus Peta Quail, Margaret Abrew, Kim Revell, Zoe Smith and Alysia Swanborough, all of whom played for Qld Schoolgirls last year and are still at school.

* * * *

There are still a couple of teams dragging the chain in round 1 of the Commonwealth Bank Bill Turner Cup, otherwise we are moving along into rounds 2 and 3 quite well.

I feel I must add to my comments on the Clontarf v St Pauls game the fact that the St Pauls boys played their game on the same afternoon as their cross-country run.

This is a fair indication of their ability considering they held out into extra time.

Dakabin had to call off its game last Tuesday against Redeemer at Rochedale because of the wet conditions, and I feel that other games may have suffered the same fate.

I have received a sketch of the Kingaroy v Murgon game and it indicates that Kingaroy dominated both halves scoring once in the first half and twice in the second to win the match 3-0. (For their next game they play a Bundaberg team.)

Brendan Emery, Murgon's goalkeeper, played very well for Murgon and made quite a number of good saves, particularly in the first half.

For Kingaroy David Burgess scored two goals (the third was an own goal) and sweeper Bryan Norcott repelled a number of Murgon attacks.

Shailer Park have sent me their side of the Shailer Park v Iona College game which they won 2-1.

Apparently the wind made ball control difficult with Iona having it to their advantage in the first half and Shailer Park in the second stanza.

Iona's goal came from a free kick for hand ball on the edge of the area and Shailer Park's goals came from a good run by Justin Klementsens who put the ball in the back of the net, and a free kick which rebounded off the cross-bar into the path of Wayne Bruton who headed it home.

Best players for Shailer Park were Klementsens, Darren Stachowicz and Richard Duffy.

In other matches Bundaberg 3 d Aldridge O. Bundaberg will now play Kingaroy.

Les Killer at Shalom college in Bundaberg said he had nothing but praise for the way in which Tony Buesnell had supported this competition.

In 1991 we hope to change the Queensland draw from two areas to five or six smaller areas to try to encourage more schools to join in.

* * * *

I managed to see the last 10 minutes or so of the Qld v Charlton game, and must agree with the comments in the match report in the last issue (yes, I don't just read what I write), especially with reference to Qld Soccer.

I'm glad that Andrew Stowell put away the equaliser as it helped silence the critics as well as bringing the crowd to its feet.

I feel that I know Bruce well enough to say that Andrew would have had to work harder than most to earn his spot in the side because Bruce tends to look very critically at a player's ability to perform before he selects him. Congratulations to all of the players on a fine effort against a fulltime professional side, it was a great result and I'm sure that all of the junior players in attendance went away with new local heroes. Roger Holcroft (President).

BRISBANE SOUTH

Great to hear a large number of southside supporters enjoyed the Charlton Athletic v Queensland game last week. Those lucky enough to be there earlier would have seen the Under-15 representative teams, Brisbane South and South East Queensland do battle on the park.

Both teams were joint winners at the recent State Titles and this clash was probably a final to that event for the players.

Both teams performed well with action at both ends.

Our lads had to rally in the second half to overcome being down 0-1.

Brisbane south supporters were delighted when we drew level to be 1-1 and even more so when the lads netted another goal to take the lead and the game 2-1.

Congratulations to our team who end their zone representative commitments on a winning note and with a good sportsmanlike manner.

Five players, Michael Grazier, Simon Kalaba, Christopher Roche, Robert Le Cocq and Scott Moran shall now continue their club commitments with extra State team training in preparation for the National Titles later this month.

We say thanks to the South East Queensland team who played well on the day.

I'm sure their supporters are equally proud of them and their efforts.

On the local front we wish to advise that Jimboomba Soccer Club now has a phone installed at the clubhouse.

The number is (075) 460 526. Any teams having trouble finding them can now phone for assistance.

A reminder to all! Coaching from the ends of the fields is completely out from Under-7's upwards.

Spectator lines are there for a purpose and are to be used by all.

WORLD CUP UPDATE

Winning the World Cup in Italy will mean more than just pride - it will mean money, big money.

Bonuses from National Soccer Federations and shares of sponsorship contracts could total as much as $300,000 for each player from countries like Italy if they win the coveted cup.

Each of Italy's 22 players in the 1982 World Cup reportedly earned $220,000 for winning in Spain, while Argentina's players earned about $80,000 each for winning in Mexico in 1986.

The Italians, whose Federation is one of the richest in the world, could receive up to $270,000 each if they win this year.

The British players are expected to receive $100,000 each if they win the trophy and half of that if they can make the semi-finals.

In West Germany, each player is guaranteed $73,500 from their soccer federation for a victory in the final.

Players also get a share of sponsorship deals and are assured another $23,500 even before they arrive in Italy.

West German players will also get money from a record they made with local pop star Udo Juergens and will share in 60 per cent of all World Cup related contracts signed by the federation.

Players from the Spanish team will have almost as good a deal.

Each player has been guaranteed $29,000 for qualifying and that amount increases for each successive round reached up to $97,000 for the championship.

For some nations, where qualifying is as major an accomplishment as winning the cup is other nations, players have already been rewarded.

In the United Arabs Emirates, the smallest nation to qualify, players received nearly $368,000 each for reaching the 24-team World Cup final field.

Half the money was contributed by President Sheik Zayed bin Sultan Al Nahyan, with the other half from various rulers of the seven emirates in the UAE.

The UAE Football Federation has made an official offer of $13,000 a player for every match they can win in Italy, and half of that for a draw.

The players are also expected to be showered by money, villas, limousines from the rulers, sheiks and rich, avid fans.

For Australian soccer players, money of this magnitude is still quite a few years away.

And after all, all these teams have one thing in common - they made the final 24 for the World Cup while regretfully Australia didn't.

FAR NORTH QUEENSLAND

Last weekend's fixtures was expected to be a week-end of formalities, but instead blew the FNQ premiership race wide open.

The second, third and fourth last placed teams all stole points off teams in the upper half of the ladder.

It happened at just the right time too as results were beginning to have a monotonous regularity.

In their second trip from the Tablelands within a week, Mareeba notched the biggest upset of the sixth round of FNQSF fixtures when they held onto a single goal lead to upset third placed Edge Hill.

It was the first away win in the league for the Bulls.

Second last and pointless Innisfail were only minutes away from upstaging that event with a 1-1 draw at home to second placed Leichhardt.

Dean Hargest who had been robbed by Michael Corica, brother of Australian schoolboy Stephen, to set up Innisfail goal, turned into the hero with two minutes of time left and half-volleyed a screamer.

It saved the red Lions from red faces.

The final upset was only marginal when Stratford forced a 1-0 win at Marlin Coast for whom Dave Watson missed a penalty and went ahead of them on the table.

Apart from blowing the premiership wide open, the upsets did a big favour for Dimbulah who although playing well were brittle after having just suffered their first loss of the fixture season at home to Edge Hill the previous week and had a relatively easy tie against wooden-spooners elect, Mossman. They are now a point clear of Leichhardt and three ahead of Edge Hill.

There were similarities in much of the two big upsets, Mareeba and Innisfail scored first in the 16th minute of the second half.

Even though the goals were important, the real difference was the less-fancied teams' approach to the game, to hassle for everything and even though they looked tired at times, especially in Mareeba's case, they kept going for ninety minutes. Red McLellan.

Our Primary School Boys Peninsula side has been selected and we wish them all the very best.

The team coached by Graham Lamperd and managed by Ron White in a competition in Rockhampton from July 9-12.

The team is Brendan Coleman (St Johnstone S/S), Michael O'Shea (Edge Hill S/S), Scott Ferguson (Mother of God Catholic School), Shane Roberts (Mundoo S/S), Glenn Hurney (St Clair Tully), Glen Fairfoot (Our Lady Help of Christians), Aaron Klwein (Edge Hill S/S), Vern Copley (Woree S/S), Shaun Knudsen (Cairns West S/S), Michael McGill (Woree S/S), Jacob Anderson (Edge Hill S/S), Lachlan Urqhart (Trinity Anglican School), Nat Dunstone (Balaclava S/S), Travis Pittman (Trinity Anglican School).

The Colts Carnival run by Saint Augustine College at Endeavour Park last weekend was a great success.

The carnival was eventually won by Johnstone River with the Saints unable to repeat their inaugural win last year.

The Club President Angelo Borzi announced the winners Johnstone River and thanked them for travelling to attend.

Second was Saints, third Edge Hill United and Stratford United were fourth. John Spilstead.

NORTH QUEENSLAND

A "Meet and Greet" evening was arranged by the N.Q.S.F. last Friday to welcome the Charlton Athletic Team and Socceroos, Mike Peterson and Paul Trimboli.

The function, held at the Seagulls Holiday Inn, Townsville, who also sponsored the visiting team for their match in the city, was well attended by local club officials, players and supporters, proving to be a good public relations exercise.

Prior to the "Meet and Greet", a clinic was held for Under-12 junior players at Broлга Park, the Townsville Junior Soccer N.Q.

Sixteen players in that age group from each local club were invited to attend, and were given excellent instruction in the skills of soccer by either a Charlton player or one of the Socceroos allocated to their group.

This will have been an evening that will stay in the memories of these young players of the future for many years, and is sure to prove beneficial.

The big night in N.Q. soccer, the match between the N.Q. Invitation side and Charlton Athletic, came and so did the rain.

But the un-tropical cold weather, that accompanied the wind and rain, could not keep away the crowd of over 2000 that turned out to watch this thrilling match.

Charlton officials had remarked that the N.Q.S.F. had furnished the best playing surface they had seen on their visit to Australia.

But that was early in the day and before the heavy downpour that, following on to the wet conditions of the previous three days, had left surface water in places on the field.

Lennie Lawrence, Charlton's Manager, commented that whilst wet conditions were common in England, the game would not have been allowed to commence under the conditions prevailing on the night of the match.

However, whilst disappointed that his players were unable to fully demonstrate their soccer skills for the benefit of the Northern public, he had no regrets over his players playing and said they had enjoyed the game and being able to play.

North Queensland did well to contain the English team in the first half and the teams changed ends with the score sheet still blank.

Charlton took control in the second period, despite some excellent work by guest players, Socceroos Paul Trimboli and Mike Petersen, resulting in a 4-0 win for the visitors.

An outstanding performance by the N.Q. keeper, Ken Mitchell, limited the score, as did some excellent defensive work by North Queensland Skipper, Lance Vickers, whilst former Brisbane Lions player, Mick Tonner, instigated many good attacking movements dictating much of the mid-field play.

Guest players, Socceroos Mike Petersen and Paul Trimboli, combined well, Petersen feeding Trimboli, and the latter making numerous dangerous runs, although unable to find the net.

Of the Charlton players, Andy Peake and Welsh International, Andy Jones were most impressive, with Mike Flannagan making a difference to the team when he came on to replace Scott Minto mid-way through the second half.

Goal scorers for Charlton were, Andy Jones, Scott Minto, Paul Williams and Gordon Watson.

MACKAY

The results of week four of the Mackay Powers' Premier League saw Rangers continue on it's undefeated way, accounting for Wests 5-1.

The other results saw Lions lose for the first time, going down to Wanderers 2-0, and Magpies recorded their second win on the trot beating City 4-1.

Rangers, under Coach Steve McDowall, is the form team and they were far too classy for Wests.

Goal-scorers for Rangers were Geoff Icardi 2 (one a penalty), Willie Carter, and Steve McDowall with the fifth being an own goal.

West's lone goal was a penalty by Rodney Mifsud.

Wanderers outplayed Lions in all facets of play, but their two goals were relatively "soft efforts".

The first was a penalty despatched by Allen Millican, and the second was an own goal - a header by Lions' defender off a corner.

City held Magpies to 1-1 for much of their game but crumbled in the final twenty minutes to allow the black and whites a further three goals.

Tony Britton scored for City (a penalty) whilst for Magpies Alan McKerihan netted a hat-trick, and Terry Sam scored the fourth.

The referees are awarding points for each game with the Player of the Round to receive a prize from the League's sponsors Powers.

After four weeks the leading players are Bill Perry (Wanderers) 8, Andrew Burston (Lions) 6, Alan McKerihan (Magpies) 6, Brendan Pratt (City) 6, Rodney Mifsud (West) 6.

With just one week of games left in the round Wanderers Bill Perry must be favoured to win.

ROCKHAMPTON

Former English First Division side Charlton Athletic used its superior fitness to cruise to a 5-1 win over Rockhampton at Ryan Park last week.

But the visitors had a battle on their hands early in the second half when Rockhampton scored from a brilliant piece of play to claw its way back to within a goal.

Guest player John Kosmina, played only 39 minutes because of a virus, was full of praise for the local side and said it was a great night for Rockhampton soccer.

"If the Queensland Soccer Federation got State League back in order, the standard of Rockhampton soccer would pick up a lot, and we could see a few Rockhampton players playing National League," Kosmina said.

He rated the goal scored by Rockhampton's Grant Beevers early in the second half as the best of the night.

Charlton dominated in the first half, catching out Kosmina and fellow striker Brad Smith with an off-side trap and pushing forward repeatedly to have the Rockhampton defenders and keeper David Fox working overtime.

Captain Steve Lines, Guy Rigby and Fox kept Charlton at bay for the first 20 minutes, but they were finally caught out when the visitors switched defence into attack.

Stephen Gritt took the ball deep into attack then crossed to Darren Pitcher on the far post, who looped a header past Fox. Charlton moved the ball forward with greater authority than Rockhampton, and it was not until the 32nd minute that Rockhampton had its first real chance of scoring.

Kosmina broke Charlton's trap, took the ball past a defender then crossed to Wilson outside the penalty area.

Wilson was on target, forcing keeper Robert Bolder to concede the corner.

Charlton went 2-0 up in the 36th minute when Andrew Peake beat the defence and curled the ball past Fox.

Youngster Jason Wyer, who replaced Kosmina, immediately had an effect on the game, breaking free in the 39th minute but without support.

At half-time Rockhampton coach Bevan Dingley and regional director of coaching John Reid pleaded with the players to have more confidence in each other and to use the ball more.

They took heed of this advice and soon Rockhampton found gaps opening in the Charlton defence.

After eight minutes Wyer made a break from inside Charlton's half and put up a cross for Grant Beevers to score a brilliant goal.

Rockhampton continued to look more dangerous and the crowd was anticipating an equaliser when Charlton's Paul Williams latched onto a long ball, beat the defender and pushed the ball past Fox to put the result out of contention.

Michael Flanagan made it 4-1 in the 44th minute when he rocketed a shot into the net from 20m and Minto sealed the game in injury time with a clever chip over Fox.

Kosmina praised the efforts of the Rockhampton players for lifting themselves for the night.

"The night was great for Rockhampton soccer."

Rockhampton coach Bevan Dingley said "Brilliant, our standard is not too far behind."

Dingley was thrilled with the efforts of his players for playing as a unit, singling out keeper David Fox and replacement Jason Wyer.

"You won't see a better goal than that one we got, ever. That was a great team goal, they played well as a unit."

Rockhampton captain Steve Lines said he was pleased with the match, but a bit disappointed with the last two goals.

"It was the fitness of the last 10 minutes. They are fulltime professionals and we are just twice-a-week trainers."

SOUTH BURNETT

South Burnett soccer league Knock-out cup finals will take the eye of South Burnett soccer fans at Kingaroy this weekend.

Kingaroy Wests, who narrowly defeated club-mates Easts 2-1 in their semifinal, will meet Murgon in the main game.

Improvers Murgon, beat league leaders Wondai 2-0 in extra time to win the right to meet Wests.

They cannot be taken lightly despite the likelihood of being without "Boars" midfielder workaholic John Moores who broke an arm in the Ampol Cup match against Toowoomba on Labor Day.

The likely return of Joe Watt (ankle) to the midfield however will add strength in defence and finish to attack in a team whose new signings Ross Cutmore, Ono Kamst and Ken Hendry, have now settled into a formidable unit.

Wests on the other hand showed depth as well as quality in their ranks when coach Willy Burns was able to promote under-15's Damien White and Brian Norcott from Wests seconds for their semi with Easts and lose nothing in performance.

Wide Bay schoolboy representatives Paul Stronge and Scott Tucker will be fresh from their recent training camp in Bundaberg and will welcome the return of Guy Hand who has recovered from blood poisoning.

Hand, Stronge, Tucker and Brendan Andrea have an uncanny understanding which, when combined with their ability to run at defenders, spells trouble for all sides.

Wests will have to finish better than they did against Easts if they are to convert possession and position into goals to take this game from Murgon.

While Wests have a better defensive record, Murgon have tightened theirs in recent games and Wests won't find them the same 9-3 easy beats in their league Round Three match.

Wests meet Easts in the all Kingaroy Second Division final. With Easts undefeated after five league rounds and a better defensive record than Wests one would think Easts would start favourites.

However Wests used master keeper Mick North in goal for the first time this year, in their semi with Nanango and used usual keeper Steve Burns at left fullback to good effect.

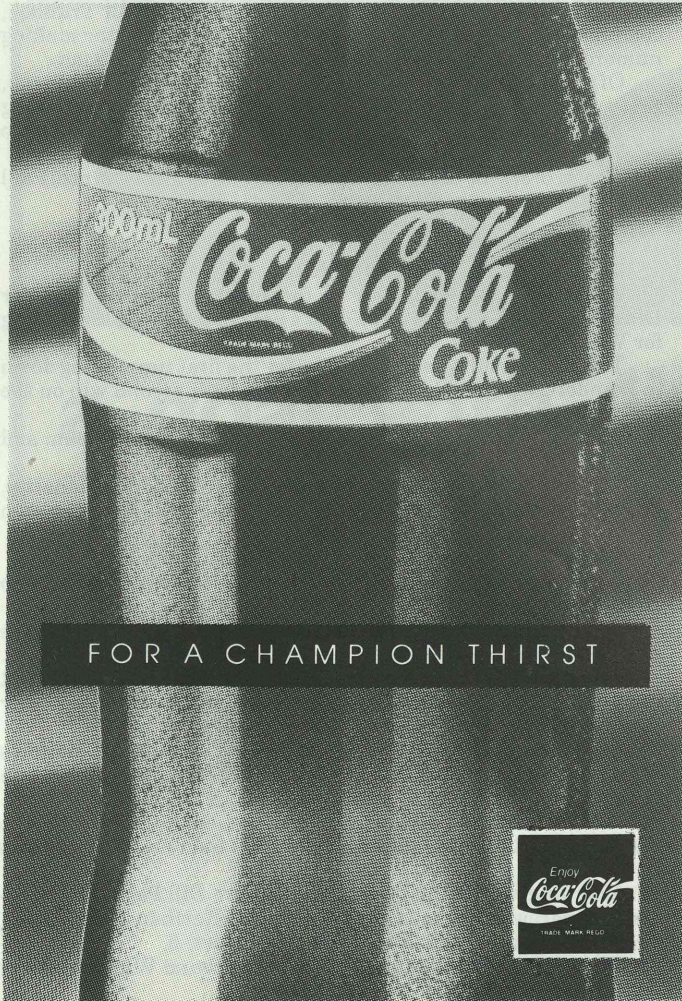

Easts experienced back line will give few chances and in form keeper Scott Prendegast is sure to give Wests finisher Danny Bowers few free opportunities to goal.

In the Womens final, Kingaroy meet Premiers and present league leaders Wondai, whose team boasts eight representatives for the forthcoming women's State Championships.

Kingaroy will field five "Caltex Stars" and up to five "Starlets" in a team which improved to beat Nanango 2-0 in their semifinal.

Undefeated Wondai have struggled lately to find goal scoring form and although improvers, Kingaroy will not want to take Wondai lightly.

Either way this women's match will more than complement the two men's matches in what will be a fitting set of finals.

PLAYING THE GAME RIGHT

with BRUCE STOWELL

If this was simply an exercise in identifying faults and suggesting solutions, then a section on goalkeepers could probably be omitted.

If you're scratching your head, I should explain that from what I have seen of goalkeepers at this level over the past few seasons, I would class only about 5% of them as 'poor'. This is possibly because:

- a) Good teams have good goalkeepers otherwise they would not be successful.
- b) Poor teams almost always have good goalkeepers due to the enormous amount of pressure they endure.
- c) Potentially poor goalkeepers decide they have more future playing upfield, or a different game.

However I feel that goalkeepers tend to be forgotten at training sessions.

Many clubs think that the goalkeeper is amply catered for while playing in goal during the '5-a-side' at the end of the session, but is treated as an ordinary player otherwise. Observing a local club training recently I counted the number of times the goalkeeper actually handled the ball during the session. The number was five!

Goalkeepers are specialists and should be treated as such. With a little thought they can be incorporated into most practices as goalkeepers.

For example in Passing and Receiving, goalkeepers should always handle the ball in the drill and other players should be asked to test them with drives or chips.

In the keep-ball practice, goalkeepers can go down at opponents' feet to win the ball.

Goalkeepers need power in the upper and lower body and flexibility in the middle.

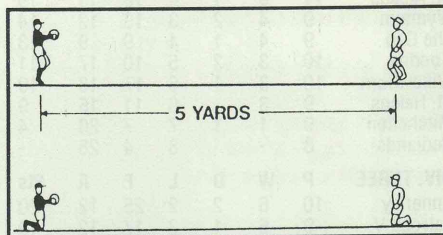

So in activities like weight-training or circuit-training they should be included as normal players.

However, when it comes to running, I see no point in goalkeepers being involved.

At such times they should be doing specialised work. If you are lucky enough to have two or more goalkeepers at your sessions, they can work together.

If not, anyone from an injured player to an interested bystander can be co-opted.

WARM-UP DRILL

PROCEDURE:

The goalkeepers stand about five yards apart and initially push the ball firmly at each other from the chest.

Encourage them to reach for the ball and absorb its force. Develop the drill to maximum speed. It is surprising how demanding it becomes.

VARIATIONS:

Have the goalkeepers in kneeling position. The ball is still pushed from the chest to the side of the partner so that it is essential to stretch for it as far as possible without falling over.

That is only a starter, the variations are endless. Get goalkeepers to develop their own repertoire.

KICKING, THROWING AND CATCHING PRACTICE

PREPARATION:

Mark out an area as shown. The length of the shaded portion will be determined by the ability of your goalkeepers.

PROCEDURE:

The goalkeepers practice a) throwing, b) kicking from the hands and c) kicking from the ground over the shaded area to their partner without the ball touching the ground.

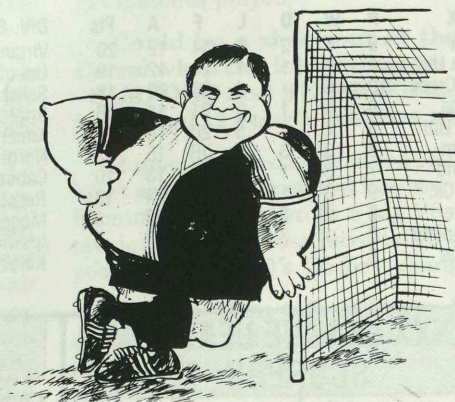

NOTES:

Aim for as much height as possible so that the receiver gets the maximum opportunity to deal with balls coming through the air.

VARIATIONS:

Make a game of it. Each goalkeeper has to catch the ball from the other's throw or kick before it can touch the floor in the end zone.

XXXX LEAGUE LEADING SCORERS

INTO THE NET

Hats off to BUNDABERG SOCCER FEDERATION and ACROSS THE WAVES CLUB for the effort they put into promoting the CHARLTON match against WIDE BAY. The organisers had the town buzzing and 1,500 turned up in the rain to watch a very good match. Given fine weather that figure would have more than doubled. Unfortunately, a mini-cyclone swept Bundy 15 minutes into the second half causing the referee to correctly abandon the match. Charlton were leading 1-0.

More Charlton snippets-

- * That mini-cyclone left canefields flattened and aircraft damaged at the airport.
- * Management at the Don Pancho Resort at Bargarra who accommodated the team described them as "lively but very well behaved."
- * An in-store promotion by the whole team saw autograph hunters being treated to an impromptu fun game of cricket outside the store.
- * The next time you see Q.S.F. President Wal Dann, ask him who nicked off with his rain coat during the storm.
- * And ask Bruce Stowell about how he and two media men dined with death in the commentary box atop the grandstand as they were lashed by rain and 100 knot winds.
- * IN ROCKHAMPTON Charlton came away winners 5-1.
- * IN TOWNSVILLE, before a rain-defying crowd of 2,000 Charlton took out the match 4-0.

Queensland Soccer says "THANK YOU" to CHARLTON ATHLETIC and the code's supporters for showing what can be done if we all work together. The success of the tour will no doubt see finalisation of plans which are already underway for 1991 for other teams to tour here.

Q.S.F. Committeemen, President WALDANN and DON LOOK, were both in Bundaberg for Tuesday night's match. Missing that night's Management Committee meeting in Brisbane spoilt Don's 100 percent attendance record. Not to worry, we're sure he's been a few meetings in credit somewhere along the line.

BE THERE for QUEENSLAND!
Perry Park, Sunday 10th June.

MATCH REPORTS

PINE HILLS MATCH REPORT

Fourth Division - Pine Hills 0 dr Samford 0.

As with most local derbies, this was a very hard fought match which was at times spiteful.

Once again Hills had several chances in front of goal, but failed to convert.

When they finally did find the net late in the second half, Peter Tong was judged to be offside at the final touch. Samford, content to pump long balls forward had several eager chances but never got close enough to the Hills goal to be of concern.

The rough and tumble nature of the match continued through to the final whistle with both teams giving their all and although Hills had a slight territorial advantage it must be said a draw was a fair result.

Fourth Division Reserves - Pine Hills 4 d Samford 1

The one sided score-line does not reflect accurately on the game.

Although Hills first half performance was very good, Samford matched them in most departments.

The difference was service to the forwards and more importantly, "finishing".

Gavin McLeod was the first Hills' player on the score sheet followed by Gavin Staggis who fought hard to get onto a far post cross from Phillip Encustrom.

John Henderson added a third before half time to almost seal the match for Hills.

In the second half Samford with nothing to lose were content in pumping long searching balls forward.

The Hills back-line were at times a little clumsy with their clearances.

With some added pressure, Samford were able to score midway through the half.

But Hills quickly fought back and added to their scoreline through Phillip Encustrom.

Full marks to Samford who fought hard until the final whistle.

Ampol State Cup Round 1

Monday June 4, Perry Park

6.30pm Wynnum v Olympic Utd

8.30pm Grange Thistle v North Star

ONE Miss Queensland Soccer Quest entrant doing very nicely, thank you, with her fund-raising. Seems she has raffled the same prize three times. Word is she is such a cutie that the winners (all males naturally) have donated the prize back to be re-raffled.

Good one! While enjoying a couple of cold liquid ambers, a Grange Thistle supporter casually mentioned to his mate how good it felt to have his club ahead of North Star, the club his mate supported. The North Star man, a little the worse for wear, emotionally slapped twenty dollars on the bar and challenged our man from Thistles to "put your money where your mouth is!" He did, then calmly produced SOCCER 90's points table which showed Grange Thistle were indeed leading North Star - but in 8th Division not the XXXX League. Guess who was pretty dirty but paid up anyway.

Spectators did a double-take during the rainswept Fifth Division match between ANNERLEY and CABOOLTURE last weekend when GORDON NICHOLSON took the field as referee. Nice to see someone making an effort to get matches played.

Could be a shoot-out at the HB Corral when two lots of Rangers meet - SAMFORD and KENMORE that is, in a round 11 Fourth Division match.

Rumour around town says a young at heart association President has been seen hooning around town in a big V8. The movie "Grease" must have left a great yearning for the 60's. Go for it younguns.

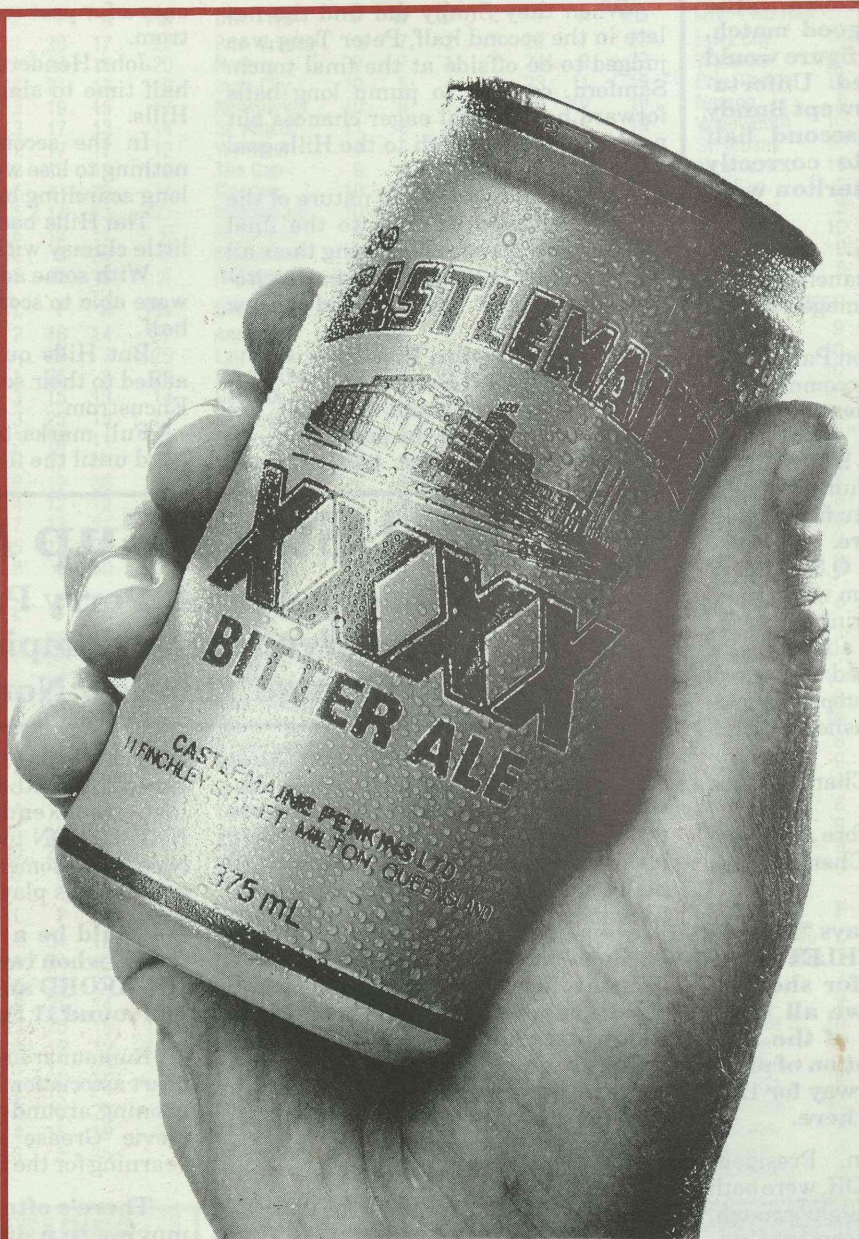

There's often talk of Perry Park moving to a different location. The address on a letter received recently may even have the postman in doubt.
