Editorial

Well it appears the referees are really taking this crackdown on foul and abusive language very seriously as evident by the post weekend reports that have arrived to date.

Around 40 players were sent from the field during last weekend's round of matches for foul and abusive language, a statistic which has been the subject of many conversations amongst the Queensland soccer fraternity in the last week.

It seems one of the glaring problems with the QSF directive on the issue of foul language is the lack of consistency and common sense being used when referees are enforcing the law.

The directive was brought down by the QSF last week in an attempt to clean up a problem that was growing in cancerous proportions and turning spectators away from the local competitions.

Since the weekend's crackdown, concerns have been expressed by club officials over the way the law is being enforced.

It appears at some of the grounds around Brisbane, a number of players were sent from the field for cursing their own poor play under their breath and out of earshot of the spectators, while at other grounds players in similar circumstances were given numerous warnings and were not automatically dismissed.

Obviously the quietly muttered curse under the breath, which would travel no more than two feet through the air, is totally different to the loud statements that float right across the park and offend the ears of the spectators.

Two observations should be made here. Firstly, no matter how frustrated players get, they are grown men who should be able to control their tongues, and secondly the referees must develop some consistency in their application of the law.

Surely "Law 18" of the Rules of the Game must prevail in this instance... the law of common sense.

- From the Sideline -

The inaugural Mitre Golden Goal competition gets underway next Sunday, April 21 at Perry Park. The Golden Goal concept is a competition played over a day incorporating a Round Robin series of 20 minute matches, where the first team to score wins the match. Next weekend's Mitre Golden Goal competition will be a pilot contest involving U14 junior sides from clubs throughout Brisbane. It is envisaged that should the concept take off, it may also be incorporated at the senior level in the near future. The concept has enormous potential and is designed to bring soccer in line with other entertaining concepts from the other football codes, such as rugby union's "Sevens" and the AFL's "Lightning Cup".

The 1996 XXXX Queensland Cup competition commenced last week, with three matches played. Wynnum defeated Taringa Rovers 2-1, Pine Rivers had a comfortable 4-1 victory over North Star and Nerang downed Beenleigh 1-0. Another match was played last night between Coalstars and Eastern Suburbs at Bundamba. There are two XXXX Queensland Cup matches next week. Grange Thistle play host to the Gold Coast next Tuesday April 16, while Brisbane Lions will meet the highly fancied Toowoomba side at Richlands the following night, Wednesday April 17. The competition will get into full swing during the Labour Day long weekend which is on the 4th, 5th and 6th of May.

Capalaba reserves' coach Chris Beswick got more than he bargained for when he turned up for the first of three matches against Olympic on Monday. Youth team coach Doug Prentice was ill so Beswick took his place in the first match. He followed up with his own reserves match and then took the reigns again in the absence of first team coach Eric Thompson for the final game of the day. Apparently Chris slept very on Monday night.

Soccer Australia last week announced the restructuring of the Ericsson Cup top six Championship series, which will see the Grand Final played on Sunday May 26, 1996. As quoted in last week's edition of Australian and British Soccer Weekly, the Ericsson Cup Executive, together with club representatives, including Alan Vessey representing the Brisbane Strikers, met over the weekend the decision was made and voted in favour of the rescheduling. Interestingly, Alan Vessey was absent from the meeting and Brisbane was the only club to oppose that option. Talk about railroading! ▶

Lions keelhauled by Pirates

by Andrew van der Beek

Rochedale gave league leaders Brisbane City something to think about with an emphatic 6-0 thrashing of Lions on Saturday night.

The Pirates knocked in five goals in the second half to put themselves back in the title race following last week's frustrating result against Beenleigh.

Lions were competitive for the opening half hour and actually had the first chance when Anthony Brown shot narrowly wide.

But two minutes later Kieran Cooper set Rochedale on the way to victory when he latched on to a Brenley Jefferd through ball and buried his shot in the bottom corner.

Rochedale nearly found a second goal just before the break but Lions defender Jeff Lombardo was perfectly positioned to clear Andy Lees shot off the line.

The second half belonged to Cooper though, as he turned from scorer to creator and made three goals in the space of 15 minutes.

Andy Lees was the first to benefit as he beat the offside trap and ran on to an inch-perfect Cooper pass before rounding Robbie Farrow in the Lions goal and side-footing in from a tight angle.

Next Cooper showed surprising pace to run down a speculative through ball before holding it up and waiting for Darren Hillier whose swerving shot flashed into the top corner.

Three minutes later Cooper made a third goal when his measured pass inside to Hillier was deflected into the net by Lions substitute Anthony Cotton in trying to stop the Rochedale onslaught.

With the scoreboard reading 4-0 even Rochedale's defenders were getting goal hungry

Kieran Cooper proved to be the playmaker in the Rovers demolition and Damian Harris made it five with an awkward looking, but effective bicycle kick, ten minutes from time.

But it was Jefferd who drove the final nail into a battered Lions coffin. That man Cooper again found space in the box and laid the ball across the goal for the late arriving Jefferd to finish the scoring at 6-0.

Rochedale coach Kim Wishart couldn't have been happier after the match saying his team was starting to play the way he wanted.

"We had a slow start but we're getting back to somewhere near our best".

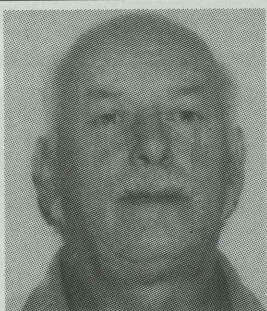

"The Cooper/Lees combination is starting to work very well for us and they are starting to look to make chances for each other" he said.

Miron Bleiberg was at a loss to explain Lions' performances so far this season but said he believed there was still time to mount a challenge for a finals berth.

"Manchester City had a terrible start in the English Premier League but have turned it around. Hopefully, if the luck starts going our way we can do something similar". ▶

John Alfred Folling

Queensland soccer will be saddened to learn of the passing of Queensland Soccer Club employee John Folling.

The sudden passing of John occurred last Sunday morning at his Sandgate residence.

John had been employed by the QSC for some two decades, during which time his friendly face became well known behind the Club Bar to many a patron.

A past senior referee and Referees Inspector for the junior whistle blowers over the last three years, John migrated from London with his family and soon became heavily involved with Queensland soccer.

John's favourite phrase of , "Hang about!" will be missed in the corridors of the club.

John leaves behind wife Brenda, his two daughters and three sons. Our sympathies go out to his family and close friends.

Fair play award

This year sees the introduction of the Insurance Exchange of Australia Fair Play Award. An award that will make the winning club $1500 richer at the end of the season.

The rules are quite simple and the object is to score the least number of points as you can.

Yellow cards attract their face value as per the referees allocation and the red cards attract six demerit points.

As you can see by the table after just four rounds, Pine Rivers has leapt to the top - or is that bottom? Taringa and Nerang share the distinction of no red cards. The award covers all grades of the XXXX League in this pilot year.

QSF NOTICE BOARD - EXTRAS

■ Since the crackdown on the eradication of foul language, it would appear the Disciplinary Committee will not be the only sub-committee being kept busy. As coaches, managers and even spectators are now being reported for the over-use of certain words, the Football Committee will now be required to meet on a more regular basis. It is to be hoped that the referees' reports will become fewer, as the season gets longer.

■ Based on a number of comments received at Headquarters over the weekend, it appears that many teams were short of players over Easter and the start of school holidays. Clubs are reminded that fixtures have been played over Easter for many years and preparations should have been made to fill the gaps.

■ The QSF, like our clubs and supporters, is most concerned that weekend results are not being published in our lone daily newspaper. You may be assured again that all results are sent every evening when matches are played. However that is where our contact ends. If the results are published well and good. If they are not used, the only resource is to write or phone Qld Newspapers and register your protest.

State Coach true blue maroon

As a born and bred Queenslander, new state coach John Stewart knows what it takes to represent Queensland in the cauldron of interstate football.

The eight cap veteran, now captain-coaching Slacks Creek in the third division, has been involved in Queensland soccer for over a decade at senior level.

During that time he has captained the Maroons, represented Brisbane Lions in the National Soccer League and led Rochedale Rovers to grand final success in 1993.

Stewart said he was looking forward to taking over the reins from former state coach Juan Cutillas.

"My ideas on the game are very basic," the 36 year old said. "Work hard, play the game very simple and let the players enjoy it."

"If they don't enjoy it, they don't express themselves."

With the proposed interstate series up in the air subject to financial viability, the program for Queensland this year remains in limbo.

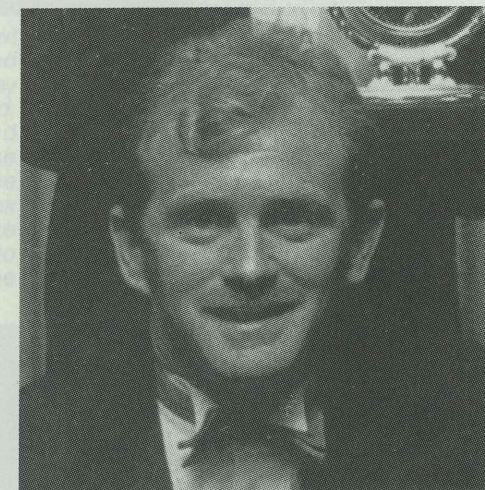

However, the side will meet traditional rivals New South Wales in a home and away series, continue its yearly clash with Auckland and face a one-off game against the Northern Territory.

Stewart has a decided advantage over his predecessors with the availability of Queensland's NSL stars subject to their finals itinerary.

"I'll liaise with Bruce (Strikers coach Bruce Stowell) on the subject of his players," Stewart said.

As in the past, the side won't be limited strictly to National League players and Stewart will be heavily reliant on his yet to be appointed assistant when it comes to local talent.

On the subject of country players, while not denying the talent existed in the remote areas, Stewart believes those with ability generally gravitate to XXXX League clubs.

"Clubs themselves have been bringing people down and they get looked at for the Queensland side," he said. "It's very unusual that a quality player remains in the country."

With his club facing a series of Friday night clashes over the next seven weeks, the newly appointed coach is free to probe the local league for quality players.

"I'll listen to people's opinions," he said. "If Stowell wants to look at a player I think should be looked at I'll use him."

"It's a learning experience at that level. It's my goal to have the team play entertaining soccer, particularly in the one off friendlies where the entertainment value is the most important thing."

Stewart remains committed to helping Slacks Creek earn a place in the streamlined XXXX League next year, but his long term ambition remains to coach at the highest level.

A successful season in charge of the mighty Maroons would be the perfect springboard. ▶

City work hard for the points

Competition leaders Brisbane City had to work overtime against the courageous Wynnum Wolves at Carmichael Park last Sunday, to keep their immaculate record intact.

The Wolves had a golden opportunity to open their account in the very first minute of the match when City keeper Daniel Duke attempted to clear a backpass and presented Wynnum with a would be Easter gift, which the home side declined to the relief of numerous City supporters.

The game reached few heights in the first half and although City had a slight territorial advantage, the Wolves defence, marshalled by Danny Valle and Tony McKinless, stood firm.

Wynnum keeper Kevin Tatton made a number of fine saves and dealt confidently with the attempts at goal by the star studded City forward line.

They made it easier for Tatton by attempting a majority of their shots from outside the box.

In the 33rd minute the Wolves were awarded a spot kick when striker Geoff Maltby was brought down in the penalty area by City's Wayne Strange.

City's Lee Scriggins in one of his attacking raids, rounds Rob Hilton Skipper Tony McKinless, who has missed very few penalties during his career, blasted the ball over the crossbar to the dismay of the local fans and delight of the visitors.

City began the second half very positively and strung together a wave of attacks, which featured some good combinations between John Schiavo, Lee Scriggins, Nick Seeley and Ian Hutchison.

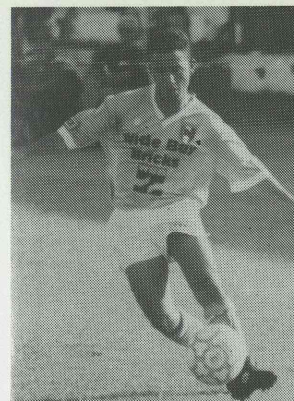

Scriggins fired off a shot in the 71st minute that hit the upright, after a brilliant piece of play from Mark Greer and Damien Waugh.

Wynnum came back with a number of counter attacks and came close to clinching the game five minutes later when substitute Billy McDermott sent a scorcher into the City goal only to see it rebound off the inside of the post.

Both teams had further chances but the game seemed destined to end in a scoreless draw until the second minute of injury time when Seeley picked up the ball for City near the half way line and sent in a superb cross, Schiavo's dummy was sheer magic and allowed Warren Cooley to blast the ball from close range into the net.

Story by Jerry Vogelbusch

ACTION REPLAY

It took all day, but City finally snared the Wolves... Seeley tried, Schiavo tried, Paulett tried and Maltby even came close for the Wolves... but it took City substitute Warren Cooley to slot one home in the 92nd minute.

Before The Whistle

Judging by some of the scores last weekend, it would appear a few players took the weekend off, with others maybe requiring to double up! Except for the two Divisions 9, where only 3 Fixtures have been played, Clairvaux in Division 3 is the only team yet to register a point, whilst its not panic stations yet, with over a quarter of Fixtures already played, they will need to start picking up points in the next couple of matches.

DIVISION 2

Matches spread evenly this weekend with three on Saturday and three on Sunday. In the Saturday games Logan City look to be too strong for St Helens, Acacia Ridge v Olympic looks to be an absolute corker, with the visitors undefeated record at stake, home game advantage may just see this record broken.

In the remaining Saturday match between Albany Creek and Capalaba, both sides promoted from Division 3 last year, will be most difficult for the visitors, but by the whistle I think they may have the edge.

In the Sunday games, Mt Gravatt will certainly will not relish the trip to Toowoomba to play Willows, both sides highly unpredictable at present, but a narrow home win looks on the cards.

The Gap v St Albans looks, on paper at least, to be a banker for the away side, which is the way I think it will finish up, remaining match between Inala and Rocklea looks as if, yet again, the away side will triumph at the whistle.

MODULAR BUILDINGS

DIVISION 3

One day game on Saturday, between Wests and Goodna with both sides having very erratic form, visitors defensive credentials may see them through at the end.

Three matches being played at night should see Souths triumph at the expense of Clairvaux, Mitchelton and Redlands will be a rather dour match but judging by recent form, a draw would not be out of place, and Annerley v Latrobe, with both sides hitting a purple patch of late, home side the tip. On Sunday, Newmarket will be looking to retain second spot at the expense of University, and in the remaining match Slacks Creek should retain pole position to the detriment of their hosts Darra.

DIVISION 4

Made the trip to Bulimba last Saturday to see a potential top of the table clash between Moggill and Southside Eagles, alas, only one team turned up. Judging by the performance on the park Southside Eagles may just as well have stayed at home, as I must confess I was bitterly disappointed in their performance, that is not to take anything away from Moggill who were by far the more hungrier of the two sides and attacked every ball, which they duly won, and most deservedly ran out 3 - 0 winners.

This weekend in the afternoon match Bayside should be far too strong for Browns Plains, whilst in the night games North Pine will be severely tested when they play host to South Star, with the visitors tipped, Moggill, as mentioned above will be far too good for their visitors from Greenbank, and in the remaining night game, Eagles make the trip up to Sutton Park in Ipswich, and if last week's performance by both sides means anything, a home win could be the tip.

DIVISION 5

Three games being played on Friday evening, with Acacia Ridge to quite enjoy their trip to Goodna, Logan City will be far too strong for their visitors St Helens, whilst the match between Slacks Creek and Jimboomba will be a much closer affair with visitors narrowly favoured. In the Saturday games The Gap will have too many guns for Bethania, a possible first placing is at stake in the match between University and Capalaba with visitors narrowly favoured, and in the one match on Sunday Woodridge now pick up three points without even going onto the park, as Olympic have withdrawn from this Division.

DIVISION 6

Two matches on Friday night with all four teams very close together on the table, however Redlands are marginally favoured over Mt Gravatt, similarly Albany Creek will be too good for Park Ridge. In the Saturday games Mitchelton and Souths look even in the points table, but home side should pick up the three points, Bayside will certainly have no fears for their visitors from Margate, but the wooden spoon is at stake between Annerley and Redcliffe with visitors again marginally favoured. One match on Sunday should see Oxley account for Mooroondu.

DIVISION 7

This table is a very close one, any slight shuffling of points will turn the table completely upside down to that at current.

This weekend North Pine should defeat Clairvaux, The Gap will be too good for Samford, and an excellent match will be on show at Gould Adams Park between Kingsridge and Jimboomba, with home side favoured, remaining match between University and Park Ridge should be no contest with hosts expected to be far too strong. In the morning matches on Sunday it should be most beneficial for the visiting teams in both cases, Mooroondu to defeat Newmarket, and Margate to topple Darra.

Enjoy
Coca-Cola
TRADE MARK REGD

DIVISION 8

Friday night again sees three matches being played, and all of them look to be very closely matched on paper, Albany Creek may just have the edge over Mitchelton, Annerley will probably not have any success with Samford, and in the remaining match Acacia Ridge should be too good for their hosts Redlands.

On Saturday The Gap should be marginally better than Pine Hills, an excellent match in prospect at the top between Inala and Bethania with the visitors the tip, and the remaining match on Sunday sees the length of the table between Oxley and Rocklea with visitors seemingly having no contest in front of them.

DIVISION 9A

No runaways in this Division as yet, but look just how close all teams are at present. On Friday Taringa will enjoy their visit to Wynnum, but Brisbane Lions will ensure the points remain at home after Beenleigh have paid them a visit. In the two games on Saturday, Rovers should down Lions, and Coalstars, judging by the evenness of their goals for and against, should be too good for Easts.

DIVISION 9B

Three matches on Friday night should see wins all round for the visitors, Coalstars to defeat Slacks Creek, Taringa to make the trip down to Wynnum and return with three points, similarly Capalaba should advance up the table at the expense of Brisbane Lions.

The two matches on Saturday will be a lot closer with Mt Gravatt and Lions battling for second placing where the Hawks better defensive record should see them through, whereas the other match is a veritable battle of the bottom between Park Ridge and Wolves, the visitors fractionally better goal-scoring attributes may see them pick up their first win of the season.

READ between the LINES

All the goss with Brent Read

Brisbane City's win on Monday maintained its five point lead at the top of the table, but it's Grange Thistle which is proving the surprise contender at this early stage of the season.

Although Thistle's draw has been fairly tame up until now, the side has been winning games and you can't ask any more than that.

With former coach Danny Docherty controlling the midfield, Thistle's young forwards have scored the goals needed to win games.

But the true test of their mettle will come in the next few weeks when they face league heavyweights City and Rochedale.

They've already beaten Taringa and drawn with Lions, two of the league's traditional glamour sides. But to be perfectly honest, neither side is currently playing its best football.

However, there's an old saying made famous by Al Davis, owner of the Oakland Raiders in the American National Football League.

"Just win baby!" he used to say. Well, Thistle are just winning and that's all that counts.

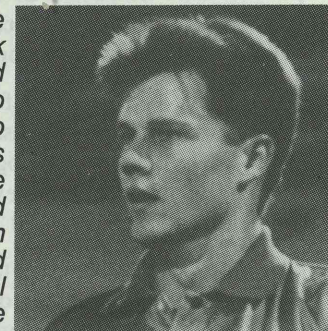

Talking to Sean Armstrong, the "former" Grange sweeper recently brought to light the depth the club now has and the inadequacies of the current transfer system.

Sean's recently been on a loan period at Wynnum and has no intentions of rejoining Grange. The experienced defender is currently looking for a club but remains hamstrung by his inability to agree to terms with Thistle.

It's always a shame when a quality player is forced to sit on the sidelines whilst in dispute with his club.

One final note concerns the new edict by the league to stamp down on swearing by players on the football field.

Referee Mark Shield had call to issue two red cards at the weekend for on ground foul language

This magazine was recently a critic of the lack of action taken by referees in this area and it seems the higher powers decided to take it on board.

For some players, asking them not to swear in the heat of battle is like asking Kate Fischer not to show cleavage.

The fact is it's almost impossible when its been running rampant for most of their playing careers.

Whilst this aspect of the game certainly needs to be tempered, the referees need to show a little tact in enforcement of the rule.

Mark Shield, probably the best young referee in the game in this country, is a good example. In the Taringa-Grange Thistle game, he had the opportunity to take red card action against two players.

Taking into consideration the fact that neither utterance was done with malice or audible enough for the crowd to hear, Mark issued two warnings.

It's not often the referees get the praise they deserve but in this case it's justified. By the way, for those who question my motives behind this and think I may be looking to earn some brownie points.

You're damn right - I'm suspended this weekend!

Capalaba claw back to draw

A courageous and highly motivated Capalaba side handed out a lesson in determination in Monday's second division match against Olympic at Yeronga.

Still seething over what they felt was unfair criticism from their fans after last week's loss at home to Mt Gravatt, the Bulldogs had a point to prove and did just that when they fought back from 2-0 down for a well-earned 2-2 draw.

Although they began slowly, taking time to adapt to Olympic's skills and conceding two goals through their own mistakes, the visitors always looked capable of turning in a top performance.

Starting with their usual 3-5-2 formation, the on-field players soon realised this was not working well against the more experienced Olympic and reacted well, switching to 4-4-2 and making more use of their wide men.

Despite their efforts, Capalaba came in at the break 2-0 down after Olympic had taken ruthless advantage of confusion in the defence and a Bulldogs back header which fell sweetly for the home side.

Rugged defender Mark Curran said the dressing room talk was full of confidence.

"We never felt the game was over," he said. "Every player was convinced Olympic was not a two goal better side.

"Everyone was determined to produce a clean, hard game and prove we did not deserve the criticism dished out after Mt Gravatt."

The players reinforced their belief in themselves and resolved to work for each other and become more adventurous on the field.

The second half was all Capalaba, with keeper Jason Parkes making a brilliant save on one of the few occasions the opposition crossed into their half.

Simon Kalaba signalled the new determination when he bent a free kick across the wall and into the net.

Kalaba was later sidelined with a pinched shoulder nerve, Denny Whitfield was carried off with concussion after a brave goal-mouth challenge, Alan Prentice had to be replaced because of a calf injury and Mark Pritchard was an early victim of the new crackdown on swearing.

But Vince Kelly settled the issue with a well executed shot in the closing minutes of a thrilling match. Story by Allan Watson

Eye On Soccer Match of the Week

TARINGA ROVERS V ROCHEDALE ROVERS

The battle of the Rovers has produced some epic clashes in recent seasons and Sunday afternoon's game promises to be no different.

The two sides' only previous encounter this season in the final of the pre-season Silver Boot Cup at Brisbane Lions, was one of the finest games in recent memory, Taringa running out eventual winners 4-2.

Rochedale have been in scintillating form so far this season and are coming off a 6-0 demolition of Brisbane Lions last weekend.

Former Taringa midfielder Brenley Jeffery has forced his way into the competitive Rochedale midfield in the last few weeks and will be looking to unleash his skills on his old side.

Meanwhile the Pirates' strikeforce of Kieran Cooper and Andy Lees, who top the League's leading goalscorers with five a piece, is certain to test Taringa's defence.

The home side has had an exceedingly disappointing season to date but traditionally saves its best performances for the Taringa Rochedale battles.

Poor finishing has cost Taringa dearly in recent weeks and the loss of midfielder Brent Read to suspension will not help their cause.

Taringa will be looking to striker Marc Flemington to continue his recent goal scoring run and along with former Rochedale midfielder Demetri Theochari, put some pressure on the Pirates' backline.

Jack Speare Park at Indooroopilly is the venue for this week's Eye On Soccer Match of the Week, which will kick off at 2.45pm Sunday afternoon.
