Editorial

The extension period for clubs applying for entry into next year's semi-professional competitions ends this weekend, with the QSF Board now preparing to sit down in earnest to decide on the fate of these clubs.

One of the aspects of the restructured competition that I feel may need clarification, involves the composition of next year's competitions.

The notion that there will be three semi-professional divisions next year, each involving eight teams, seems to be a popular belief amongst pundits. Yet it's a real mystery as to where they received these ideas from.

The correspondence applying to the restructuring process makes it quite clear that the QSF Board will decide on the number of semi-professional divisions, along with the number of teams to be admitted to each one.

Clearly, this will all be determined by the quality of the applications the Board receives from clubs wishing to gain entry into the top grades.

Applications for the amateur divisions close at the end of this month and all will be revealed on September 30 this year.

On another note, it's great to see the QSF forging new links with the Quest Newspapers group.

I've said many times that I believe this is the best way for local sport to go, as the metropolitan media tend to now focus more and more on National sporting teams.

The one thing I have noticed is that many clubs are not taking advantage of the relationship between the QSF and Quest, by not communicating with their local paper.

These papers are looking for local angles on sport and more often than not are only too happy to take submissions from the public, for use in their papers.

Examples of clubs using their local papers on a regular basis are Redcliffe City, Margate, Southside Eagles, Mt Gravatt, and there are many others. They are to be congratulated.

Maybe it's time other clubs appointed a reliable person to take up some media liaison responsibilities to help improve their profile and that of their sponsors!

State Team or Pub Team?

I have been involved with local soccer for about 20 years and during that time I have never come across the ridiculous situation which apparently occurred at Speare Park last Thursday when a Queensland "Select" team played a Singapore team. I say "apparently" because I had the good fortune to miss the game but I have received reports from several "victims" who did attend.

The match was promoted in your last edition and in the local media as featuring the Queensland team. The fact that admission was by a donation to a charity does not alter the fact that the Queensland team was playing. Ten minutes prior to kick-off there were 6 players in the Queensland dressing room! A frantic search ensued of the crowd and the licensed club by the Queensland coach, assistant coach and team manager, looking for players who happened to have their boots with them. Those selected to represent Queensland that night included the following: A first grade Taringa player who had ordered a beer and was about to consume it. Two further Taringa players who have not played any higher than reserve grade standard. A current Brisbane Lions team manager also playing reserve grade. The teenage son of the assistant coach. A player who needed to be replaced because he had stomach cramps from eating hot chips prior to his selection.

Whilst I mean no disrespect for those who volunteered to play, I always believed that state team selection was an honour which was achieved by outstanding performances. The "Queensland" team managed a 2-2 draw with the visitors, who were thrashed 4-0 by Taringa earlier in the week. Can you imagine what amateurs our Singaporean visitors must think we are?

Do the players who participated get to keep their Queensland shirt? Are they entitled to a QSF Gold pass entitling free admission for life? I was not good enough as a player to be selected for Queensland. Since last Thursday night, I have been down to A-Mart All Sports and picked up a pair of boots, which I now keep in the car at all times. You never know when you'll get the call up. Lawrence Oudendyk

Lions fighting to keep name

Brisbane Lions will use a legal ruling brought down in the recent ARL v Super League court saga to prevent AFL club Brisbane Bears from using their name, according to club secretary Lawrence Oudendyk.

Last week's merger between AFL clubs Brisbane and Fitzroy sent the sporting media around the country into a frenzy, with the immediate reaction being that the new club would "automatically" be renamed Brisbane Lions.

This reaction outraged club officials at Richlands, who have vowed they would not lose their name of some 25 years.

A solicitor by profession, Oudendyk said officials at the club met earlier this week and decided they would attempt to talk the matter over with the Bears before any discussion of legal proceedings was to take place.

"The initial reaction from members of the club was one of outrage," Oudendyk said.

"But we have sought a meeting with the Bears, which will take place next Tuesday, and perhaps we will be able to sort the matter out then.

"We're extremely confident we will retain our name, and we will be using a ruling handed down during the recent ARL / Super League court battle, where the judge held that the "market" was not just confined to rugby league, but involved the entire sporting and entertainment arena.

"This effectively means that the soccer club, Brisbane Lions, is in the same market as the Brisbane Bears AFL club."

Oudendyk suggested the Bears would possibly attempt to register themselves as Brisbane Lions Australian Football Club Ltd, to avoid any legal hassles, but said this would not solve the problem.

"We see the real problem lying in the fact that both clubs operate in the same market and the media would drop the Australian Football Club Ltd tag, and any media references to the AFL side would be as Brisbane Lions.

"With two clubs in the same market sharing the same name, the concern would be that confusion would be created amongst the general public."

Oudendyk said his club had already taken steps to protect its name, in what is looming to become a real David and Goliath battle.

He also said the club was not at this stage seriously contemplating any form of compensation.

"We're not changing our name. The issue is whether they (Bears) get to use it or not, and if so under what circumstances," Oudendyk said.

ACTION REPLAY

Youth was on their side but it wasn't enough for Thistle when they went down to the Wolves 4-0. Wynnum's Jamie Macpherson opened their account with a solid drive, Thistle's Shaun Molenda, Fenton Healy, Ryan Brydges and Randall Banks gave it their all. Derek Crawford used the one card for a double on Maltby & Armstrong while Thistle's keeper came close too.

Wolves dominate Thistle

The Wynnum Wolves took another step closer to ensuring a place in this year's XXXX League semi-finals with an emphatic 4-0 victory over Grange Thistle at Boundary Street on Sunday.

The Wolves currently hold down fourth spot on the ladder and now have a four point break over fifth placed Beenleigh, coming into the last three rounds of fixtures.

Wynnum dominated from the outset but it was not until the 26th minute that they took the lead through Scottish striker Jamie Macpherson.

Ben Wood won possession in midfield and found an unmarked Macpherson, who hammered a low drive beyond the reach of Gary Hartzenberg in the Thistle goal.

Thistle rarely threatened, but almost equalised through Glenn Kolpak, his attempt was cleared off the line by Wynnum skipper, Tony McKinless, though.

The Wolves continued their dominance into the second spell and in the 55th minute stretched their lead to 2-0 when Paul Wilkins found the back of the net after a clever build up by Wood and Geoff Maltby.

Maltby again provided a fine through ball for Tony McKinless to net the Wolves' third goal in the 62nd minute.

McKinless was replaced shortly afterwards with a back injury and substitute Simon Graham quickly found himself in the action.

A cross from Billy McDermott was flicked on by the ever present Wood and found Graham unmarked at the far post to finish with a stinging drive to complete the 4-0 victory.

In other XXXX League games on the weekend, Brisbane Lions held their spot atop the ladder following a comprehensive 4-0 win over Pine Rivers, at Lions Stadium.

City remain locked on 37 points with Lions and had little trouble disposing of Eastern Suburbs 3-1 at Spencer Park on Sunday.

Beenleigh are struggling to remain in finals contention following their 2-2 draw with Coalstars and are now just two points ahead of the rampaging Taringa Rovers.

The Rovers sounded a warning to the League's finals contenders when they thrashed Nerang 8-3 at Jack Speare Park on Sunday. Taringa's Marc Flemington now heads the goalscorers list following his four-goal haul.

Rochedale were too strong for North Star on Saturday night, downing the youngsters in front of their O'Callaghan Park supporters 6-1.

The real Bris Lions victorious

by Andrew van der Beek

The "original Brisbane Lions" put behind a tumultuous week of name duplication and possible legal action to trounce Pine Rivers 4-0 at Lions Stadium on Sunday afternoon.

Media speculation has been rife since Brisbane's AFL side announced they would be called Brisbane Lions Australian Rules Football Club, after last week's merger with Fitzroy.

Courier Mail sports writer, Gary Legg and several photographers were on hand at Richlands to see a convincing performance by a football team who have played under the moniker of Brisbane Lions for the past 25 years.

The home side made the running early in the game with half chances falling for Roy Huth and Cliff Tuck in the opening 20 minutes. But it was Kevin Meacock who nearly opened the scoring when Martin Matula found him with a sweeping cross-field pass. Meacock controlled and turned inside before unleashing a dipping 20 yard strike which thumped the crossbar.

A minute later it was Rivers who came desperately close to the opening goal when John Cartwright stole in on the far post and demanded a fine save from Lions keeper Rob Farrow. Queensland striker Clayton Koch was first to the rebound but could only turn it over the bar.

However, Lions youngster Rob Pudja finally broke through on half-time when Rivers custodian Peter Underhill charged out to clear but kicked straight to the former QAS player. Pudja showed great composure to control and chip the ball over the back-peddalling Underhill.

Lions should have gone further in front a minute after the break when a Stephen Starr cross found Anthony Brown in the box but the striker contrived to turn the ball over the bar.

Brown redeemed himself two minutes later when he ran onto a Meacock throughball and hit a sweet left-foot strike which was too hot for Underhill, extending Lions lead to 2-0.

Meacock was everywhere in the second half and highlighted an outstanding personal performance with a fine goal 20 minutes from time. Frank Mengotti showed the quality distribution which saw him recalled to the State side this year, delivering an inch-perfect cross to Meacock, who headed home for 3-0.

Two minutes later Lions were down to 10 men when second half substitute Warren Allen was shown the red card for some overly colourful protests over a refereeing decision.

But Lions wrapped up the match with a fourth just before full-time with Mengotti again the provider. He turned on the edge of the box and found Brown who struck his second of the match beyond Underhill's despairing dive.

Some further trivia. In Division 2 St Helens have won only three of their ten home matches, their away record is more dismal with only one win in eight, conversely Rocklea has only lost one match whilst on the road. In the goal scoring The Gap and Willowburn have scored in every single home game, whilst Mt Gravatt and Olympic have scored in every single away match.

In Division 3 Slacks Creek still lead the goal scoring with an incredible 40-1 home record. Goodna are near impregnable at home and have only suffered one loss in their nine home matches, Latrobe Athletic have only been held scoreless in one match at Murray Street. In Division 4 Moggill Utd really delight their supporters at Bellbowrie as in their home games have only conceded two goals and suffered one loss but have scored an impressive 28 goals, North Pine, are in a similar position, they have only failed to score in one home game to date! At the other end of the scale, the champagne corks popped at Beenleigh last Sunday, when the 9A side got up to post their first points of the season with a nail biting 4 - 3 win over Wynnum. As they say, it pays to be persistent.

DIVISION 2

With only three matches (and in some cases four) to go, it's now really hotting up for prime positions. This weekend matches split 50-50, on Saturday evening Capalaba should pick up 3 points over an inconsistent Willowburn, Rocklea, likewise, should take maximum points in their home match with St Helens, whilst it will be a very dour struggle at Acacia Ridge with Albany Creek the visitors, a score draw is likely, or a narrow, and I do mean narrow home win.

On Sunday marginal leaders Olympic are home to The Gap and should take maximum points, provided that is, they come up well from their mid-week catch up game against Logan City. Mt Gravatt v Inala should be a 3 pointer for the home side, in view of Inala's erratic form of late. In the remaining match a cert 3 points to remain with St Albans after Logan have visited.

DIVISION 3

Majority of matches are Saturday, the one between Darra and Uni should be a win for the lads from St Lucia, however a draw is a possibility, tight match at McCook Park with Newmarket narrowly coming up trumps over Redlands. In the night games Mitchelton will take maximum points over Clairvaux, whilst Annerley will have a much tighter game on their hands with visitors Goodna and a home win is likely. The only match on Sunday should see a win for a resurgent Souths over Latrobe.

DIVISION 4

Only one match on Friday between Moggill and Samford should see the points remain at Bellbowrie. In the two day games on Saturday Eagles should be successful in their visit to Browns Plains, whilst Ipswich may pop up with a rare win over the visitors from Greenbank. At night North Pine will continue their claim for a semi final position at the expense of Pine Hills.

On Sunday a tight match in prospect at Kangaroo Point between Brothers and South Star where the leaders will have to be at their best as Brothers, since moving back to home base have been in excellent form, it still looks like a 3 pointer for the visitors, remaining match between Redcliffe and Bayside will be very tight indeed but it would appear to be a narrow 3 pointer for the 'Southside' Bayside team.

DIVISION 5

The top three in this Division are playing musical chairs, will this weekend be different? On Friday night Goodna will have no joy with visitors Jimboomba, similarly Slacks Creek will not relish the visit of second place Capalaba. On Saturday University will pick up 3 points over St Helens, whilst there will be a boomer between The Gap and Acacia Ridge, score draw would not surprise looking at the teams goals for and against column, however home side to get up. Sunday, Bethania to make a surge for a semi place at the expense of host's Woodridge.

DIVISION 6

In the Friday match at Cleveland, Redlands look too strong for Redcliffe, however on Saturday visitors Mooroondu will enjoy the trip around the corner to Bayside, Oxley will pick up a needed 3 points over Souths, Mitchelton will have an excellent match against Mt Gravatt and may do enough at the whistle to celebrate, whilst bottom marker Annerley will have no success with their visitors from Park Ridge. On Sunday a win to Margate over Albany Creek will cement the title for the Bayside Club.

DIVISION 7

Very tense in the top 3 as the gap is narrowing, particularly after the first match to be previewed between Uni and Margate. Another slip up by the visitors could see their chances disappearing, therefore I think Margate will take the points. In the Saturday games, The Gap will be too good for Clairvaux whilst Jimboomba should pick up 3 points on their trip to Dakabin. In the Sunday games Darra host Mooroondu with the points to return to Thornside, Newmarket host a resurgent Samford with visitors to take the points, the remaining match will see the points remain firmly at home, with Kingsridge the victors over Park Ridge.

DIVISION 8

Two matches on Friday could see results go one each way, Rocklea to take the points from Annerley, with Redlands to keep the points at home over Pine Hills. On Saturday The Gap will be marginally better than neighbours Mitchie, Inala will be too good for the Ridge, but the mould will be broken in the other match with Bethania (as visitors) far too strong for hosts Oxley. On Sunday, Samford will consolidate their top four placing over Albany Creek.

DIVISION 9A

A top four spot is at stake in the match between Lions and Grange, host looks marginally better, the other Friday night game between Coalstars and Beenleigh should go to the host yet again, particularly with the visitors hung-over from last week's win! On Saturday a derby between Rovers and Taringa looks to be a result for the 'visitors' similarly Brisbane Lions will enjoy their trip to Heath Park.

DIVISION 9 B

The premiership is up for grabs in the early Friday match between Coalstars and Capalaba and looks as if the points may remain at Bundamba, in the other Friday games Slacks Creek will be too good for Brisbane Lions, and Lions will retain the points over Wolves. On Saturday, Wynnum will have a win over Park Ridge and Mt Gravatt won't like the visit from Taringa. □

The appearance of Singapore side Tiong Bahru last week, provided Queensland soccer with an ideal opportunity to promote the code.

Plans were made to stage a clash between a Queensland XI and the tourists, but unfortunately things didn't quite go as expected.

Amazingly, half the Queensland squad failed to make an appearance for the clash. Several players weren't even informed they were required to play.

The match ended up being not only an insult to the maroon jersey, but an insult to our Singapore visitors. They deserved to be treated with respect, not disdain.

The Queensland jersey has also been demeaned in this whole excursion. At a time when we should be promoting our best players more than ever, instead we insult them and the teams that come to play them.

The Queensland side will play only one game this year because New South Wales has the foresight and ambition to send its side on a tour overseas.

Excluding a trip to New Zealand, when was the last time a Queensland team had the opportunity to go on a high profile tour.

After last week's column mentioned the disillusionment amongst several of the league's top scorers with Kieran Cooper's tally increasing by one, Marc Flemington hit back in the best way on the weekend.

Flemo's four goals took him to the top of the list. After playing for Acacia Ridge several years ago, Flemo only returned to Australia this year.

He took his time to settle down and consolidate a place in the Taringa side, making

Taringa striker Marc Flemington, on top of the goal scorers list following his four goal effort last weekend his goal scoring feats even more meritorious.

He and Cooper are very similar. Both are natural born strikers. They have qualities so few of us possess - a coolness in front of goal and a nose for any chance that may arise.

It should be a ding-dong battle between the two of them as the season winds down.

In the XXXX League, Brisbane City and Brisbane Lions have brought back memories of the grandiose days of Queensland soccer with their neck-and-neck battle at the top of the table.

Lions have looked sensational in recent weeks and the Brisbane Bears merger with Fitzroy has brought them some extra attention.

While the focus seems to be on legal action to stop the Bears using the Lions moniker, a merger between the two could be a feasible alternative.

Collingwood and Carlton will have teams in the NSL within the next two years and the Bears financial windfall from the merger would place them in a position to be able to support an NSL side.

It is highly unlikely, but stranger things have happened. □

Capalaba will be looking for maximum points when Willowburn come to John Fredericks Park for the second division fixture on Saturday night.

The "Draw Kings" need to improve on their last two tied matches if they are to secure a position in the top half of the points table.

Cosi La Frenz scrouged the equaliser in a disappointing catch-up meeting with an under-strength Logan City Kings, but Saturday's 2-2 draw with Acacia Ridge was a tough encounter.

Both sides played pressure football for most of the 90 minutes.

Ridge scored first from a corner, with Phil Deloryn's skill placing the ball well out of Craig Blackburn's reach.

Once again Simon Kalaba's power as a sweeper played a big part in keeping the Bulldogs on the attack. His hard running opened the game up, and his smashing drives found their mark in the Capalaba front line.

Ridge keeper Bert Van Manen made a magnificent save from an Alan Prentice free kick, but found himself in deep trouble just moments later.

From another free kick, Prentice sent an accurately flighted ball into the box. Van Manen had no answer to Denny Whitfield's delicate glancing header which pushed the ball just an inch out of his reach for the equaliser.

With Terry Henry outstanding in the air and Prentice in full control of the midfield, Capalaba always looked comfortable. Their biggest difficulty came from Deloryn, who ranged freely and caused all sorts of problems with his accurate reading of the game.

From one of his crosses, Brett Hamlet nudged the ball just over the crossbar, and Tony Delahaye also did well to force a corner soon after.

Then Prentice took a free kick after Whitfield was fouled and his screamer tore into the top left hand corner of the net.

Ridge came on strongly after the break and Chris Banner proved his value, breaking up a number of their attacks, in particular a dangerous run by Dave Richardson.

Despite the tough Ridge attack, the Bulldogs defence kept their cool. Robbie Ashcroft added to his reputation with fine work, and Banner ensured the ball moved smoothly across the backline.

Ridge player Tim Brown, who had been outstanding in holding his side's defence together, scored the equaliser with a bullet header from a magic Dave Asnicar free kick.

Asnicar produced a replay of his magic just moments later, but this time the ball was cleared.

Capalaba missed its chance of pushing in front again when a great ball from Whitfield rolled along the crossbar. Inns was quick to snap up the loose ball but his shot was wide.

Eye On Soccer Match of the Week

ROCHEDALE ROVERS V WYNNUM DISTRICT

The main game of this weekend's Perry Park double header is sure to sort the men from the boys, as finals time fast approaches.

Both Rochedale and Wynnum are firmly entrenched in the top five and look certain for the play-offs, so this match should give fans an idea on just how far these two sides can go. Both teams are coming off impressive wins but this weekend is sure to be a much tougher assignment.

Rochedale are just four points outside of Premiership calculations at this stage, but another loss would almost certainly rule out their 1996 Premiership aspirations.

They have the best attacking record in the League with a huge 60 goals to their credit, along with one of the best defences in the competition. Wynnum will definitely have their work cut out for them.

But the Wolves can not be taken lightly, and on their day can produce the goods required to knock over the big teams in the competition.

Geoff Maltby and Jamie Macpherson make a lethal striking partnership for the Wolves.

They will have to be serviced adequately by their midfield though, which is capably led by last year's Gold Medal winner Tony McKinless.

Likewise Rochedale have two of the top scorers in the League, in Kieran Cooper and Andy Lees, a formidable front line indeed.

Look out also for the attacking brilliance and speed of young Sean Carey for the Rovers, a player who appears to have a very bright future.

The second match of Sunday's Perry Park double header kicks off at 2.30pm. Come early and you will get two games for the price of one, when Easts take on Grange at 12.30pm. □
