Editorial

All of Queensland can be proud of the fact that the game between the Socceroots and English club giants Manchest United will be under the control of a Queenslander.

The match being played at the hallowed MCG will be refereed by Mark Shield, who is oveawed at the prospect.

He confided to me that just to referee the Socceroots is important enough but to be officiating at the MCG was something else.

Add to that the Manchester United ingrediant and we are talking major excitement for our Mark.

■ As we enter the final round of the season, the competition is far from over.

Recent history tells us that sides can't afford to be too confident no matter what size their lead. Two seasons ago Taringa held a bigger lead than Rochedale with only seven games remaining yet managed to finish third.

This weekend Rochedale face their first test with a game in Bundaberg. A loss could leave them looking over their shoulder with worried frowns on their faces.

At the foot of the table, Mt Gravatt will be intent on fighting their way out of last place particularly with the rumours shrouding the club's financial position in recent weeks.

There's only one way to take the attention off their off-field position and that's with a few confidence-boosting wins on the paddock.

Player/coach John Stewart, who had an outstanding record as a player and an impressive one as a coach, will be imploring his players to turn around their disappointing year in the final nine rounds.

The Gods could not have given them a tougher start to the final round, with Mt Gravatt to face the white-hot Gold Coast this weekend.

■ The next round of the Queensland Cup will be drawn at Perry Park on Tuesday July 13, 9.30am. Clubs still involved are invited to send a representative to participate in the draw.

The way it was last weekend

The Queensland Cup fixtures took priority over the Premier League at the weekend and put some valuable attention on the game's biggest knockout competition.

There were no real surprises, with the Premier League clubs dominating their less fashionable opponents, particularly at Bellbowrie where Rochedale gave Moggill United a touch-up winning 9-1.

Rochedale have been the Premier League's form side while Moggill United share the competition lead with North Pine in Amateur division one.

But this game was a mismatch, with Rochedale thumping their nine goals past Moggill.

The game was a good hit-out as Rochedale prepare for a tough third round of fixtures, where they will attempt to hold on to their five point lead over the Gold Coast.

In Toowoomba, the home side made Taringa work hard for their win, with only a late Des Hughes goal proving the difference.

Hughes was the subject of heavy attention from local supporters but made them eat their words when his late winner led Taringa into the next round 1-0.

Both sides had opportunities to win a dour game as Toowoomba continue to improve.

At Souths United on Saturday night, Brisbane Lions won a physical game 3-1 against the home side.

Souths were forced to play with 10 men after a sending off and Lions class proved the difference in the end as Miron Bleiberg's side continued their topsy-turvy form this season.

But Lions ground out a tight win, with midfielder Darren Hillier marking his return to action with a goal.

At Lota on Saturday, North Star continued their good form this year with a 7-2 win over Bayside United.

North Star lead Semipro division one north while Bayside are struggling in Amateur division one north.

At Albany Creek on Friday night, the home side continued their good run of recent form with a 2-1 win over University of Queensland.

At Bundamba on Sunday, the Ipswich Knights moved into round four with a 2-0 win over embattled Mt Gravatt.

Striker Peter Vogler and youngster Andrej Gacesa scored the goals as the Knights kept their Queensland Cup hopes alive.

Coach Frank Pimblett was far from happy with his side despite the win as they battle to score goals.

The Knights still have a chance of qualifying for the top four but need to score goals on a more regular basis.

In the only Premier League game of the weekend, Gold Coast striker Peter Dwyer scored a hat-trick as the Coast downed Wynnum 3-0 and moved within striking distance of Rochedale at the top of the Premier League table.

PREMIER PREVIEW - WYNNUM WOLVES v TARINGA ROVERS

Wynnum coach Peter Tokesi believes his side will have to attack early if they are to upset Taringa in their Premier League clash at Wynnum on Saturday night.

The game, which marks the first game at Carmichael Park under the club's new lights, is vital for Taringa, with the club barely hanging on to its premiership hopes.

A loss here would also put their final four hopes in danger and the club would be wary of Wynnum, who scored a gutsy win when the sides met earlier this year.

Tokesi knows the importance of attacking Taringa with speed after guiding his side to that surprising win earlier this year.

"They get everyone behind the ball," Tokesi said. "Any team is hard to break down if they get 11 men in one half of the field.

"I am sure Taringa are out to make amends for us beating them in the last game. Obviously they have the personnel to do that.

"They're an exciting, young team."

Taringa scraped through their Queensland Cup game with Toowoomba at the weekend, with Des Hughes popping up with a late winner.

Taringa still own one of the league's best defences but struggle to score goals regularly.

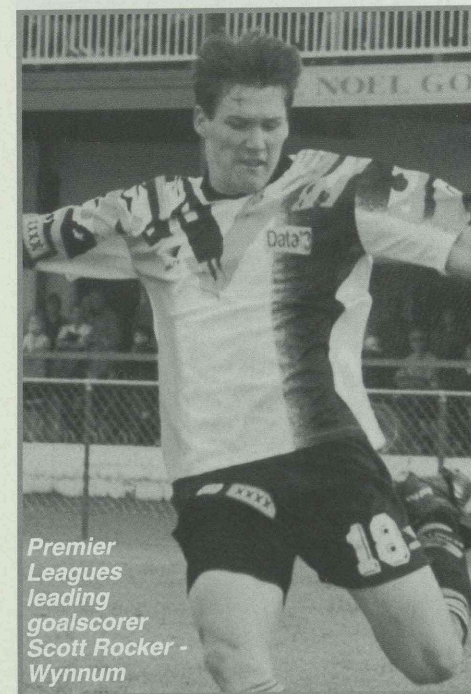

That defence is likely to be put under pressure again this weekend by the inconsistent Wolves and the league's leading scorer Scott Rocker.

Rocker missed a chance to extend his lead on the goalscoring chart when he was shut down in the club's 3-0 loss to the Gold Coast at the weekend.

"I think we've probably lost a little bit of confidence," Tokesi said. "We had a couple of really easy chances on the weekend which we didn't put away.

"I think we're probably trying too hard because we're not getting results. Obviously when a team is confident things will come off and the simple things work.

"I think at the moment the simple things aren't working for us."

PREMIER PREVIEW - BUNDABERG WAVES v ROCHEDALE ROV

Bundaberg's finals hopes could rest on the Waves producing the upset of the round against competition leaders Rochedale in Bundaberg on Saturday night.

Bundaberg have slipped off the pace after opening the season with a wave of optimism, with the club trailing fourth-placed Brisbane Lions by eight points.

Striker Wayne Knipe has been scoring goals but they have been conceding them at the other end and face a crucial few weeks starting with the Rochedale game.

If any team in the league can prise open a leaky defence it is Rochedale, who have massacred sides this season.

Rovers hold a five point lead over second-placed Gold Coast with nine rounds remaining in the premiership race.

They are far and away the competition's form side and continued their goal scoring rampage with a nine-goal barrage against Moggill United in the Queensland Cup at the weekend.

Coach Peter Bannon has been using most of his strong squad this season, with strikers Kieran Cooper, Clayton Koch, Matt Olley and Mark Luburich sharing time in the forward line and contributing to their wins.

Rochedale's midfield has also been in good form and David Pilic is rumoured to be in the eyes of National League scouts after a strong year.

Pilic scored in the club's 3-1 win over Wynnum two weeks ago and will be intent on giving his hopes of a national league contract impetus over the coming weeks.

Rochedale and Bundaberg played out an entertaining game in Bundaberg in round one and all signs point to another interesting tussle this weekend.

While Bundaberg would want to play more than a spoiling role as the season draws to a close, they may have no choice if the top four continue to pull away from the chasing pack.

PREMIER PREVIEW - Gold Coast City v Toowoomba Utd

The Gold Coast need to keep the momentum going with a win over Toowoomba this weekend if their premiership charge is to retain any credibility.

The Coast upped the ante at the weekend, scoring a 3-0 win over Wynnum to move within five points of Rochedale at the top of the table.

Striker Peter Dwyer was again the star, scoring all the Coast's goals and moving into striking distance of the league's leading scorer Scott Rocker.

Dwyer has nine goals and trails Rocker by only two with nine rounds remaining.

Amazingly, Dwyer has barely played half the season and one wonders how many goals he would have chalked up by now if he had started the year with the club.

The Coast are regaining strength after injury and suspension hurt the club going into its loss to City two weeks ago.

Midfielder Eddie Lees is back from suspension but teammate Mark Bennett is still out with a shoulder problem and faces up to another three weeks on the sideline.

Toowoomba continued their recent improving form despite going down 1-0 to Taringa in their Queensland Cup game at the weekend.

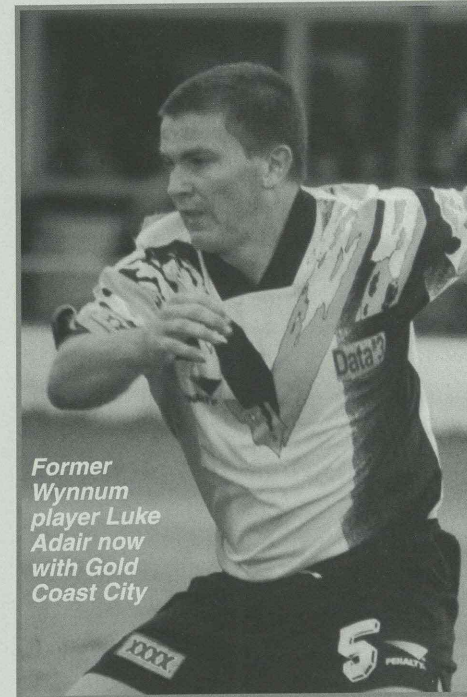

They had numerous chances to win a tight game before conceding a late goal.

In their last league game two weeks ago, Toowoomba upset Brisbane Lions to move off the bottom of the Premier League table.

But the club has had trouble scoring goals this year and that was a tangible factor in their loss to Taringa at the weekend.

Toowoomba are the only club in the league with less than 20 goals to their name.

The Coast have been almost unbeatable at home this year and go into this game as strong favourites to continue their momentous surge through the latter part of the season.

PREMIER PREVIEW - BRISBANE LIONS v MT GRAVATT

Mt Gravatt will look to put their recent club problems behind them as they go searching for an upset in their Premier League game at Lions Stadium on Sunday afternoon.

After entering the season with plenty of optimism, Mt Gravatt have suffered through a shocking year and have dropped into the wooden spoon position.

They are coming off a 2-0 loss to the Ipswich Knights at the weekend while Lions scored a 3-1 win over Souths United in a fiery game at Runcorn.

Lions coach Miron Bleiberg has refused to rule out his side's chances of winning the premiership despite trailing Rochedale by nine points.

With Lions to face all the sides above them on the run home, they still have an opportunity to put pressure on Rochedale if they can beat the other sides in the top four.

But even Bleiberg admits his side would have to win at least eight of its remaining nine games to have any chance of overhauling Rochedale.

His cause has been helped by the return of midfielder Darren Hillier from a back injury.

Hillier has missed almost two months with the injury but responded with a deflected goal at the weekend.

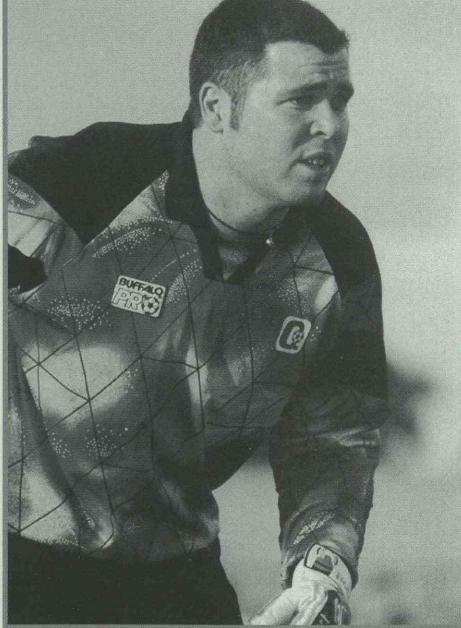

The former national league midfielder will have to be keenly watched by Mt Gravatt, who have conceded goals at will this year.

The one shining light for the club this year has been striker Andy Brayshaw, who has picked up 10 goals to trail Wynnum's Scott Rocker by a single goal.

The club is by one point behind Toowoomba at the foot of the table but can move off the bottom of the league ladder if they win the game they have in hand.

PREMIER PREVIEW - Ipswich Knights v Brisbane City

Ipswich and Brisbane City are playing for their premiership survival this weekend, with both sides in the chasing pack which is after competition leaders Rochedale.

Rochedale hold the competition lead on 39 points, with the Knights on 28 points and City on 33 points.

A loss to either side would leave them with a forlorn hope of catching Rochedale with only eight rounds remaining.

Knights coach Frank Pimblett realises the importance of Sunday's game, claiming his side is "kidding itself" if it can't win games against City, Rochedale and the Gold Coast.

"We have to win them all," Pimblett said. "We have to start winning games.

"I think Rochedale and the Gold Coast are the only consistent sides in the league. But everybody is beatable as far as I am concerned."

City are coming off a quiet weekend and will be freshened up for this game, with the defending premiers slowly approaching their form of last season.

Striker Chris Slater is back from injury and will be a valuable addition.

Slater's return should help the club as they struggle to overcome the loss of goalkeeper Daniel Duke to injury for up to four weeks.

While Slater should enhance City's firepower, the Knights are searching for the answer to their scoring problems, with only Toowoomba boasting a worse scoring record than the Knights this season.

The Knights scored two goals against Mt Gravatt at the weekend to advance to round four of the Queensland Cup competition, with striker Peter Vogler contributing one.

Vogler is among the competition's leading scorers, with seven this year.

"We are back to where we were about 10 weeks ago," Pimblett said. "We have to score more goals.

"In a nutshell that's it. That's our downfall at the moment. We've got to keep working in training.

BEFORE THE WHISTLE

With Jim
Gilbert

The matches last weekend brought up an interesting array of results, with the last two amateur clubs now having fallen by the wayside in the Queensland Cup.

Based on my viewing of one and the report I received on the other, they certainly weren't disgraced.

Moggill Utd took a pummeling from the Premier League leaders Rochedale Rovers, but judging by comments received from the Underwood Park Club, the hospitality given to the visitors was much appreciated.

It's to be hoped that the Division 1 high flyers don't let last weeks drubbing deter them from their current task, which is to take up the title in their own division.

I took in the Bayside and North Star match along with Eye on Soccer editor Morris McGiffin, and we were both suitably impressed by the verve and flair shown by the home side.

Even though the scoreline appeared to be top heavy, Bayside gave their all, and when they scored a goal early at the commencement of the second half, this stung their visitors into a quick reply.

North Star shifted up a gear and away they went. It was a top match, well refereed, and a joy to watch.

As stated last week, Bayside were against a good footballing side, whose team work and support of each other was a credit to the 'Star's coach and it certainly was no disgrace for Bayside to be beaten by such a quality team.

The home side even had the temerity to score a second goal, which shows that it was certainly an open game.

If only the Bayside team could put in this performance every week, they certainly wouldn't be positioned in the table where they are now!

The QSF is desperately trying to have all matches rescheduled and played, but life is not being made very easy by some grounds apparent slowness in drying out, so all players be warned, you've got a lot of mid weeks coming up.

Only five matches to go now, so clubs also be aware of the eligibility ruling in relation to finals.

Division 1

Three daytime matches, with Bayside home to a struggling Southside Eagles, probably the hardest to predict, if last week's form is any guide it could be a home win. Samford make the trip to Redcliffe who pulled off a surprise win over high flying Brothers last week, can the peninsula team do it again.

Remaining day match is between Darra and South Star who are locked together in mid table. Both still in with a chance of a semi spot, could be a draw.

At night second place Moggill take on third placed Annerley, with the visitors having come off a big win away to North Pine last week thus setting the mood for a tremendous end of season tussle for honors, I think the home side may just sneak it at the death.

Remaining match is between Ipswich City and North Pine and with the visitors having played a very hard match mid week against Brothers, that could be the telltale as to how they front up in this one, I suspect a draw is on the cards.

The only Sunday match is between Brothers and Margate with the home side now only having a tenuous hold on fourth spot, but I still think they'll have too many guns for their visitors.

Division 2

Just have another look at the tables, it's certainly tightened up at the top!

On Friday a very much in-form Clairvaux take on Wilston with the points to remain securely with the hosts.

On Saturday afternoon Goodna will need to pick up all three points over Oxley if they wish to remain in contention for the title, whilst leaders Jimboomba should take a maximum against Greenbank.

At night Bethania will be backing up for their third match in eight days with a home game against Archerfield but should still be too strong for the visitors, whilst there will be a very close match indeed at Meakin Park between Logan City and Park Ridge, visitors cannot afford to drop any more points or they could drop out of the four completely whilst the hosts are not out of the woods yet with respect to relegation, could be a draw or at a pinch, a home win.

The Sunday match between Mooroondu and Pine Hills, judging by recent form, should go the way of the visitors, as the hosts appear incapable of stopping their slide.

Division 3

This is another division where the teams are jammed at the top of the table, so any faltering and it will be all change yet again. On Friday two teams who will not have a say in the top four meet with Samford hosting Kingsridge and I fancy a home win.

On Saturday Easts will have a tough one on their hands against Margate but should be too strong come 4.30pm, North Pine make the long trip out to Park Ridge but should return successful, whilst Bethania, despite their high goal scoring prowess, will probably not receive much sympathy from visitors Souths.

Two matches are on Sunday with Moggill to be successful in their trip to Dunlop Park, but the other one between Woodridge and Annerley will be much tighter and much harder to predict, but I suspect there could be a win for the hosts.

Division 4

If Slacks Creek are going to fight their way off the bottom of the table, their Friday night against Souths could be one of the ones where they may secure points. Form doesn't assist with this prediction, but pride certainly will.

The other Friday night match between the Ridge and Lions will be a cracker, if the visitors win they are in with a shout for the title, and if the Ridge lose they will have blown their top four chances, which is why I think it'll be a win for the hosts.

On Saturday Newmarket should pick up a rare win at the expense of the Knights, University will be too strong for Mt Gravatt whilst Taringa will certainly know they've been in a match when they host leaders Wynnum, it has all the ear marks of a draw, or a narrow away win. Remaining match on Sunday could see The Gap stretch the daylight between them and Capalaba a little further.

Division 5

The three Friday matches should see wins for the visitors, if current form is any indication, Grange to take maximum on their trip to Albany Creek, North Star to continue with their recent good form with a win at Redlands, whilst current leaders Brisbane City will have a tough one at Samford, but should still come up trumps.

In the Saturday matches Mitchelton will be too strong for Park Ridge, despite strong resistance being put up, whilst Ipswich Knights should consolidate their mid table status with a win over Rivers, remaining match is between Redcliffe and Souths with the hosts picking up their third win in their short tenure in this division.

Division 6

There will be two tight matches on Friday with Slacks Creek in with a chance of fourth spot being too strong for Moggill. Redlands should pick up a win at the expense of North Star, although this one may be a touch closer.

Remaining matches are on Saturday with the two afternoon ones going the way of the hosts with Taringa to be far too good for Albany Creek and University too strong for Brisbane City. The evening matches should see Newmarket put up strong resistance against the Knights, points could even be shared here. The Eagles host current leaders Capalaba where the visitors should win, but it won't be as easy as they think.

NORTHERN SEMIPROS AND CONS

Creek out to consolidate spot

Albany Creek will be eager to consolidate their position in the top four when they meet competition cellar dwellers Mitchelton at Mitchelton this Saturday night.

Over the past month or so, the Creek have shown the sort of form which won them last year's grand final and once again they look to be a genuine championship and indeed premiership contender.

Just four points adrift of the top two sides in the competition, North Star and Eastern Suburbs, Albany Creek now find themselves back in familiar territory on the league ladder, and this week have a real chance of consolidating a top three spot and mounting even more pressure on the sides above them.

With the out of sorts Mitchelton standing in between Justin Kilshaw's men and the three vital competition points, it appears this weekend's match should be a formality for the strong Creek outfit.

Three points at this important stage of the season is more valuable than gold to many of these teams.

Last weekend's round four Queensland Cup victory against University, another side striving desperately to make the top four, has given Kilshaw and his charges a solid preparation for this weekend's match.

That 2-1 victory reversed the result between these two teams in their last fixture outing and has given Albany Creek plenty of confidence, with the club now set to have a shot at even higher quality opposition in the next round, in the form of a premier league side.

This augers well for Creek as they prepare for this weekend's fixture match and chances are that Kilshaw's men may move one step closer to the top two by the end of this round.

Gap facing daunting task

The struggling Gap outfit faces the daunting task of hosting in-form North Star this weekend in a match which really bares little significance to the home side.

Struggling towards the lower end of the ladder and with no chance of making this year's playoffs, The Gap must now unfortunately go through the motions for the remainder of the season.

This week they take on the ladder leaders North Star, who will be primed and highly motivated to claim another win and more importantly another vital three competition points.

Steve Faulkner's North Star side has been playing some of the best football the club has seen in recent years and there is little wonder they have come out and stamped their authority on this year's competition.

Although sharing top spot with last year's premiers Eastern Suburbs, North Star would surely be favoured to claim this year's title at this stage of the season.

Apart from a superior goal differential, the young side also has a game in hand on the reigning title holders, which will be caught up again during next week's round of fixtures.

In the meantime however, the talented North Star outfit must overcome a Gap team with little more than lost pride to play for.

There is no doubt The Gap has some very talented players within its ranks, however the side has not functioned at all well this year, save for one or two matches since Mauro Saftich has taken on his manager type role.

This weekend presents an opportunity for the club to make some sort of lasting mark on this year's competition, with a victory against the top side certain to set a cat among the pigeons at the top end of the table.

NORTHERN SEMIPROS AND CONS

Rivers after that top four spot

Pine Rivers will be eager to cement their place in the top four of the northern conference when they host Grange Thistle.

The Rivers outfit is safely in the top four, four points ahead of University and Newmarket, however a win this weekend and the subsequent three points would give the side a much needed buffer as the season draws nearer to an end.

On paper and given the current records of both Thistle and Rivers, the weekend's match looks as though it should be a mere formality for John Rhule and his men.

However on closer analysis, Grange has not been playing all that badly in recent weeks and is one of the few sides that has done well on trips to Wendy Alison Park.

This weekend's match could be a very different proposition however for the inexperienced Thistle outfit, mainly because of how much is riding on the match from Pine Rivers perspective.

Should Rivers drop this weekend's match, it will give some of the other sides below them the slightest sniff at a top four finish and this is a scenario Rivers could well do without this close to the end of the regular season.

Indeed Newmarket and the University of Queensland have not given up on their finals aspirations and they would be only too happy to see Rivers drop some of their games in the final rounds of the competition.

Both of these sides are just four points away from Rivers, a seemingly safe margin, but a margin that is easily closed should results go their way.

For Rivers, this weekend could be a genuine opportunity to shut both of these sides out of top four contention and put them far enough out of the four, that psychologically, it would be near impossible to come back.

Uni in a must win situation

University have everything to play for this weekend when they host reigning premiers Eastern Suburbs at their St Lucia campus.

The students have been struggling in the middle part of the season and with four points separating them from the top four, they must pull out all stops this weekend if they are to gain maximum points and threaten for a finals spot.

Going against the students is not only the fact that they are presently four points adrift of the top four, they have also played one or two more games than most sides above them.

And that all equates to just one thing... they must start winning matches and they must start winning them this weekend.

It will be a tough ask for the young University side, with Eastern Suburbs also having plenty to play for this weekend.

Three points would be extremely handy for the Tigers at this stage, as their grip on the premiership has begun to loosen in recent weeks following North Star's brilliant run.

To complicate things even more for the reigning premiers, there is now a new player hunting for the title.

Albany Creek have found their early season form once again, and even though they remain four points adrift of both North Star and Easts, they too can sense a title is not too far away.

Should they continue their impressive form for the remainder of the season, while at the same time enjoy some favourable results in other matches, they will almost certainly be at the top of the tree come finals time in September.

Three points will be vital for both University and Easts this weekend. For Uni it will be a case of survival and the chance to fight another day, while for Easts it will be almost imperative if they are to continue to mount a successful title defence.

SOUTHERN SEMIPROS AND CONS

Ridge searching for lost pride

The struggling Acacia Ridge outfit will have little more than lost pride to play for when they host Redlands United this week.

In what will be the battle of the cellar-dwellers, the match will have little significance to the final standings in this year's southern division, with both sides almost destined to claim the bottom two spots on the ladder.

For both teams it has been a very disappointing year. Redlands promised much under new coach Brian Hastings and although at times showing glimpses of brilliance they have really made very little impact on the competition.

Likewise Acacia Ridge has been the standout disappointment for 1999. After two relatively strong seasons, Ridge have never looked like getting off the bottom of the ladder this year, with some very ordinary performances throughout the season.

Goal scoring has been the side's biggest problem, with the team troubling the scorers on just 16 occasions, from as many matches.

One goal per match is not good enough to win each week and there really is little wonder why the side has just one victory to its credit this season. No doubt club officials will be searching high and low for a genuine goal scorer in the off-season.

But that will not help the side this weekend against Redlands, who have shown that they can score goals at different times.

Although almost an impossible task at this late stage, Redlands will also be motivated by the extremely slim chance that they could still be a play-offs threat as well.

This seems a very unlikely scenario, however it is still mathematically possible and this will no doubt serve as adequate motivation for the side to win this weekend.

Inala & Slacks in fourth spot fight

Inala and Slacks Creek will go a long way to deciding who will claim the last finals position in this year's southern competition when the two sides meet at Inala on Sunday afternoon.

Both of these sides have been in or around the top four for the duration of the season. However with seven points separating them from the top three, it looks like they will be contesting for just the one finals spot for the remainder of the year.

Even though there are a few other sides below both of these teams which could still make the top four if they pull out something incredible before the season's end, the likely scenario is that the fourth spot will be claimed by one of either Inala or Slacks Creek.

Just one point separates these two sides, with Inala currently enjoying the upper hand. Whichever side wins this weekend's match, will not only move into outright fourth on the table, they will also almost certainly strike a handy psychological blow on the other side.

And with just eight weeks of the season remaining, that sort of victory would be very timely and immeasurable in terms of its value.

Amazingly, just two goals separate the teams. Both have conceded 36 goals this season, with Inala scoring 29 times and Slacks Creek finding the net on 31 occasions.

In fairness though, Slacks Creek have had two matches this year where they have allowed their opposition to do irreparable damage to their goal difference, indicating that overall, their defence is possibly a bit better than what the table indicates.

With the sides very evenly matched in all departments, this weekend's game should be a very close affair, with the stakes extremely important for both teams.

SOUTHERN SEMIPROS AND CONS

Crunch time for Bulldogs-Souths

In what is set to be certainly the match of the round and quite possibly one of the matches of the season in the southern competition, Capalaba and Souths will be fighting for maximum points Saturday night.

With both sides striving to knock Rocklea United off the top perch, maximum points are vital this weekend, although probably more so for second placed Capalaba.

The Bulldogs are five points short of the league leaders on the table at present, and even though they have a game in hand on Rocklea, they have played one more match than their opponents of this week.

Souths on the other hand are a clear six points shy of Rocklea and have played two fewer matches than the ladder leaders.

Victory this weekend is imperative if they are to not only move into outright second on the ladder, but more importantly keep the pressure on the young Rocklea side and mount a serious challenge for this year's premiership.

Traditionally, matches between Souths and Capalaba have been entertaining affairs, with this game certain to show off the high standard of football that can be found in these ranks.

Even though the Bulldogs will have the upper hand in front of their home supporters, Souths have been playing excellent football in recent weeks and there is little wonder that they are currently in the position they are in.

A 3-1 loss to premier league giants Brisbane Lions in last weekend's round of Queensland Cup matches would not have done the Souths outfit any harm either.

Although going down in the match, Souths have been one of the few semi-pro teams to face premier league opposition and that sort of preparation coming into a match like this weekend's cannot be underestimated.

Rocklea can't be complacent

Rocklea will be looking to consolidate their hold on the top spot when they take on fierce rivals Olympic United this Sunday afternoon at Dunn Road.

Currently enjoying a five point buffer at the top of the table, Rocklea has not been playing its best football of late and the side will be keen to play themselves back into the sort of form which saw them absolutely devastate teams in the early part of the season.

This weekend's match against a talented yet underdone Olympic side, is just the sort of match where Micky Maticic's young charges could play themselves back into a bit of form.

The tough thing for the league leaders will be motivating themselves for Sunday's match. With the knowledge that they are so far ahead on the table, it will be hard to lift for a match which on paper they should win.

However the side must also be aware that if they drop any matches, Capalaba and Souths United will move a step closer to the top spot and indeed this year's premiership.

Add to the mix Olympic's faint hope of reaching the play-offs and you have the makings of a crackerjack game this Sunday.

Although lying third last on the table, Olympic does have the slightest of chances of reaching the play-off stage but they must win virtually all of their remaining matches.

Currently they are five points out of the four and have played one more match than most teams above them.

But with fourth placed Inala now seven points shy of the top three sides, things are hotting up as four sides battle for the last spot.

An Olympic victory this weekend would certainly put a scare through those other three teams and give Olympic a much needed boost for their remaining matches.

XXXX LEAGUE - FAIR PLAY TABLES

The tables are as at 25th June 1999, two weeks' ago, so they quite naturally will have changed since then.

Gold Coast City still lead but their margin is decreasing as the season progresses. They are only 13 points ahead of Taringa. Having said that Gold Coast City field two teams to Taringa Rovers' three and the tables, if this current trend continues, will be recalibrated on a "two-team preferred" system across the league.

As the winner at the conclusion of the Premiership season will receive a cheque for $1,500 courtesy of Lowe Lippmann & Bott, it is certainly a feature that requires good internal discipline to be spread across to the players.

Our congratulations on this good internal discipline go to Bundaberg Waves - Gold Coast City - Ipswich Knights and Rochedale Rovers as they are still yet to receive a send-off in the Premier League, with all send-offs coming in their Reserve and-or Youth divisions.

We will publish one further Fair Play points table in a few weeks, then keep the remainder under the hat for acknowledgement and presentation to the winning club at the Clem Jones Gold Medal night on September 13.

Club	Yellows	Reds	Points
Gold Coast City	48	-	163
Taringa Rovers	47	2	176

READ' between the LINES

I caught up with one of the game's bright young stars at the weekend when former Brisbane City midfielder Barry Wilkinson dropped into town after a season in Scotland.

Bazza was hardly recognisable with his blonde-streaked hair and the extra 10kg of muscle he's packed on to his solid frame.

Seems Bazza has been working out in bonny Scotland and is back for a short stint at home before he resumes his career overseas.

One thing Bazza hasn't lost is his moves on the dance floor and he and friend and former teammate Scott 'Giggles' Higgins have been putting in a fair bit of work since he's got back into town.

Giggles should make the most of his dancing time with the lanky redhead to undergo a second knee reconstruction this week.

The big fella was destined to miss only this season but looks certain to miss part of next season after the first knee reconstruction on his dodgy knee went astray.

I'm sure the best wishes of the Queensland soccer fraternity go out to the Big Giggs, who is one of the game's most promising young players.

Premier League Rnd 21

The Queensland Cup produced predictable results at the weekend, with all the fancied sides coming up trumps and moving into the next round.

The most important result at the weekend wasn't in the Queensland Cup but in the league.

The Gold Coast's win over Wynnum moved them within shooting distance of Rochedale.

Striker Peter Dwyer was again on target with a hat-trick and there have been whispers around the soccer traps that he could be in line for a national league spot.

That may be a bit far-fetched with his age likely to stop the Strikers looking in his direction.

But there's no doubt he has fast become the competition's most valuable player. I saw him last month in the Coast's win over Taringa and his composure in front of goal was stunning.

He, more than any other player on the field, was responsible for the Coast's win. The former state player has rapidly moved into the league's leading scorers chart and is threatening to march away with the prestigious honour.

The Coast were missing a piece of the puzzle earlier in the year and paid the penalty for too many draws.

With seven draws and only three losses compared with Rochedale's six losses and no draws, it's easy to see the difference between the competition's leading sides.

Since Dwyer has joined the club, the draws have been few and far between. One can only imagine what would have happened if he had joined the club from the start of the season.

The premiership table could have a starkly different appearance.
