MAX. 130 X 100 YDS

YOU'D CALL IT A LUXURY CAR
IF IT WEREN'T SO ECONOMICAL

Fully imported, undeniably economical. Even for a 1200cc car. In the 1980 Total Oil Economy Run, a Sunny driven under test conditions, recorded 6.5 litres / 100 km (43.4 mpg). But the Sunny is much more than just an economy car. It has fully reclining front seats, head restraints, a quartz digital clock, push button radio, band tinted, laminated windscreen. We could go on.

A better idea is to test drive the new Sunny.

It's all in the mind, you know.

THOSE grey dots that flicker in the corners of the grid above are fugitive will o' the wisps in the eye of the beholder.

They depend on how you look at it and the amount of light that is thrown on the subject.

It's usually the way when you put down something in black and white

To the writer it seems simple enough but to the reader other fascinating points of interest are stimulated.

Sometimes, they are grey areas for conjecture. More often, they are coloured by emotions.

It depends upon points of view

Brought up on novels and plays in which the author usually takes care to identify the good guys and heavies, readers sometimes long for an expression of opinion when reading a news report.

If purley objective writing is said by some to be impossible, so is the art of objective reading

How often has the irritable though intruded that the newspaper should come straight out and say the Establishment is wrong or the Opposition spocksman is talking through his hat.

Irritation is the most intense when an antagonist makes a good point that is reported faithfully or the foolishness of a friend is exposed.

But, after all, it is your opinion that counts. It is for you to make up your mind after you have compared and assessed all sources of information.

We are only grateful that the old-time practice of killing the messengers who brought bad news does not have to grey our thinking, too, when deadlines leave no time for deferred decisions and judgments involving tast, responsibility and legal implications have to be made.

Some words of advice for weekend sportsmen: Take up drinking.

You'd be surprised how many sportsmen and women take better care of their equipment than their bodies.

They either eat a big meal before playing — which can weigh them down, make them feel uncomfortable. Or they eat nothing at all — which means reserves of energy are soon exhausted.

There's a better way, with Sustagen!

Sustagen is a correctly balanced, scientifically proven meal supplement you use in liquid form.

It takes only seconds to prepare — simply add it to water.

Sustagen solves the energy crisis.

Sustagen is a nutritious high energy source which provides all the vital ingredients your body needs for peak performance. And it tastes good, too.

It gives you more energy than a steak meal. But without the bulk. And Sustagen is digested in literally half the time. Which means you can drink it before or between events without fear of discomfort.

You may not be going for a world record this weekend, but if sport is something you enjoy doing well, Sustagen can help you do it better.

Don't play on a full stomach, or on an empty stomach. Play on Sustagen.

THE SGIO 'HIS &

The low rate SGIO His & Hers Life Policy has proved very popular with married and engaged couples, and people in other family situations.

It's kept pace with changing times giving you what you need in Life Assurance. Briefly, this is one way the policy operates. A permanent policy is taken out on the life of the husband. This is then extended to provide LOW COST protection for both him and his wife. Of course, we're happy to allow the reverse situation as well.
